ARMIES SMASH TO SUBURBS OF CRIMEAN PORT

Open South Drive Into Rumania.

LONDON, April 17 [Monday]—(AP).—Russian forces, capturing axis troops at the rate of 3,000 a day, toppled the south Crimean stronghold of Yalta and 40 other villages yesterday as they closed in from the southeast on Sevastopol, where thousands of Germans and Rumanians trying to escape to sea were being blasted by soviet bombers, Moscow announced early today.

Sevastopol's fall was expected shortly. Russian artillery north of the city pumped shells into the scarred city. Front dispatches said Marshal Feodor I. Tolbukhin's 4th Ukraine army troops were fighting in the suburbs within two miles of the citadel.

A midnight bulletin also announced that Russian troops in a new strike on the mainland had forced the lower Dniester river in the Tiraspol sector, outflanking the rail junctions of Tighina and Kishinev in Bessarabia. One captured village was 13 miles beyond the Dniester's west bank, seven miles south of Tighina.

Aim at Galati Gap.

This new operation was carried out by Gen. Rodion Y. Malinovsky's 3d Ukraine army which liberated Odessa. The Russians were aiming at the collapse of the east-west Kishinev-Jassy defense line guarding the approaches to the Galati gap in southern Rumania.

A special announcement also said that Marshal Ivan S. Konev's 2d Ukraine army had killed or captured 145,793 enemy troops between March 6 and April 15 in the offensive which carried it from the Bug river sector of the Ukraine to a point 50 miles inside Rumania and 20 miles from Kishinev on the north.

This raised the toll of axis troops to approximately 450,000 since March 4 on the basis of Moscow announcements. The total was expected to exceed a half million when the Crimean tallies are completed.

Seize 3,000 Nazis.

Gen. Andrei I. Yeremenko's independent maritime army pushing along the southern coastal road in the Crimea seized Yalta, 30 miles southeast of Sevastopol, Saturday night, Moscow said. Gurzuk, seven miles east, and Kuchukkoi, 14 miles west, also were captured, the bulletin said, as the troops cleared a 34 mile stretch of the coast. They also plunged inland where fierce fighting was flaring in the mountains 14 miles east of Sevastopol.

Altogether 3,000 prisoners were taken during the day, boosting the Crimean total to 40,000 in eight days of rapid conquest which has left the Germans cornered in a 150 square mile area on the southwestern tip of the huge peninsula.

Swarms of soviet planes were attacking the jammed evacuation docks at Sevastopol, sinking a 3,000 ton Nazi supply ship, damaging several others, and starting fires in the railroad station, Moscow said. Ships of the Red fleet sank four more barges seeking to remove infantry men across the Black sea to Rumania.

Open Drive on Lwow.

In former Poland, the 1st Ukraine army of Marshal Gregory K. Zhukov, having captured Tarnopol, commenced a drive on Lwow, only 70 miles away.

[The German high command refused today to admit the fall of Tarnopol and declared the garrison "was putting up heroic resistance on the western edge of the town."]

Soviet correspondents reviewing the bitter three weeks' battle for Tarnopol said after the city was encircled the situation changed radically, with the Germans, Hungarians, and Rumanians who had sought to keep the Russians out of the city now trying to keep them in.

The Nazis moved up large forces to relieve the garrison and battles were fought west of the city where German tanks at first made advances, then were blasted apart by Russian artillery. When the stone jail, the last strong point of the Germans, fell, the city was liberated.

Aussie Dailies Defy Censors; Papers Seized

MELBOURNE, Australia, April 16 (AP).—Monday morning editions of the Sydney Herald and the Daily Telegraph were seized by peace officers this afternoon for defying censorship orders not to publish a news story.

The newspapers jointly defied the censor after peace officers had confiscated most copies of the Sydney Sunday Telegraph for refusing to treat a certain story in a certain way. Both newspapers then published accounts in their Monday morning editions detailing the dispute.

Information Minister Arthur Calwell asserted the newspapers had defied a censorship order to treat a certain matter in a certain way. He did not mention what it was. This general regulation was also defied by the Monday morning papers.

These editions included a statement by R. G. Henderson, chairman of the Australian Newspaper Proprietors association, also managing editor of the Herald, outlining the history of the dispute. The Telegraph also published pictures which had been banned.

BURMA WRITERS 'STRIKE'

LONDON, April 16 (AP).—Five war correspondents representing a large block of the British press in Burma and India announced today they will file no more news from that theater until censorship restrictions are relaxed.

The correspondents' protest against excessive censorship came as the British press, for the first time since Japanese forces began their invasion of India, expressed grave concern over the conduct of the Burma campaign.

[British clear Japs from plain of Imphal, says Mountbatten, from new headquarters in Ceylon. Details on page 2.]

Indian Press Resentful.

In addition to the protest by the five British correspondents, the tone of numerous dispatches from both American and British correspondents has implied that the news corps is decidedly dissatisfied with the censorship setup. Dispatches have referred to the resentment of the Indian press at what was termed sugarcoating of news from Imphal.

Announcement of the British writers' action was contained in a message from Correspondent Stanford to the editor of the London Daily Mail.

"A story on which we spent five days was killed today for no apparent security reasons. This is happening constantly and conditions are impossible. Correspondents of the Express, Telegraph, Kemsley, Australian Consolidated, and myself have jointly agreed to ask our editors to demand the fullest inquiry into all aspects of public relations, delays, and censorship. We have all agreed not to file from this theater until assurance is given from London of an overhaul. Repeated representations here had no effect."

Reminds of Singapore.

The Kemsley papers include the London Daily Sketch and Sunday Chronicle, and a number of provincial newspapers.

In an article in the London Reynolds News, Reginald Fletcher, a baronet, warned the British public today against forgetting "the foolish and optimistic statements which preceded the fall of Singapore and the inadequate generalship which lost us Burma."

The Japanese drive into Imphal, he said, "seems to have been underrated in Delhi when it began to develop."

The London Daily Observer said, "We know virtually nothing of what is going on inside India, thanks to the effective clamp exercised by the New Delhi censors. Soothing messages which bear all the marks of censorious emasculation are causing more disquiet than news from the front."

NOMINATION IS UP TO PEOPLE, SAYS GENERAL

Repudiates Intent to Criticize.

Gen. MacArthur.

In the statement MacArthur pointed out positively, but politely, that his remarks had been forced upon him by the release by Rep. Miller [R., Neb.] of their correspondence, which MacArthur said was "never intended for publication."

MacArthur repudiated charges in some American newspapers that his letters to Miller show disloyalty to his commander in chief. The general repeated assertions made during the last two years that he is devoting his energies exclusively to the job of soldiering.

Open to Three Meanings.

Despite his restrained and carefully chosen language, MacArthur's statement still could be interpreted as falling in any one of three famous categories:

[1] "I do not choose to run." [2] "Barkis is willin'." [3] "It's a wonderful chance for somebody, but somebody else, not me."

The text of the general's statement follows:

"My attention has been called to publication by Congressman Miller of a personal correspondence with him. Insofar as my own letters are concerned, they were never intended for publication. Their perusal will show any fair minded person that they were neither politically inspired nor intended to convey blanket approval of the congressman's views.

Repudiates Interpretation.

"I entirely repudiate the sinister interpretation that they were intended as criticism of any political philosophy or of any personages in high office. They were written merely as amiable acknowledgments to a member of our highest law-making body of letters containing flattering and friendly remarks to me personally.

"To construe them otherwise is to misrepresent my intent. I have not received Congressman Miller's third letter, in which he is reported to have advised me to announce my candidacy for the office of President of the United States.

"Beyond a Man's Decision."

"The high constitutional processes of our representative and republican form of government in which there resides with the people the sacred duty of choosing and electing their chief executive are of so imposing a nature as to be beyond the sphere of any individual's coercion or decision.

"I can only say, as I have said before, I have not sought the office nor do I seek it. I have devoted myself exclusively to the conduct of the war. My sole ambition is to assist our country to win this vital struggle by the fulfilment of such duty as has been, or may be, assigned to me."

Miller Is Critical.

Miller's letters, published last week when the congressman also released the text of MacArthur's letters, were sharply critical of the administration.

The congressman told MacArthur that should the general permit himself to be drafted for the nomination he was convinced "you will carry every state in the union and this includes the solid south."

MacArthur replied, "I do not anticipate in any way your flattering predictions, but I do unreservedly agree with the complete wisdom and statesmanship of your comments."

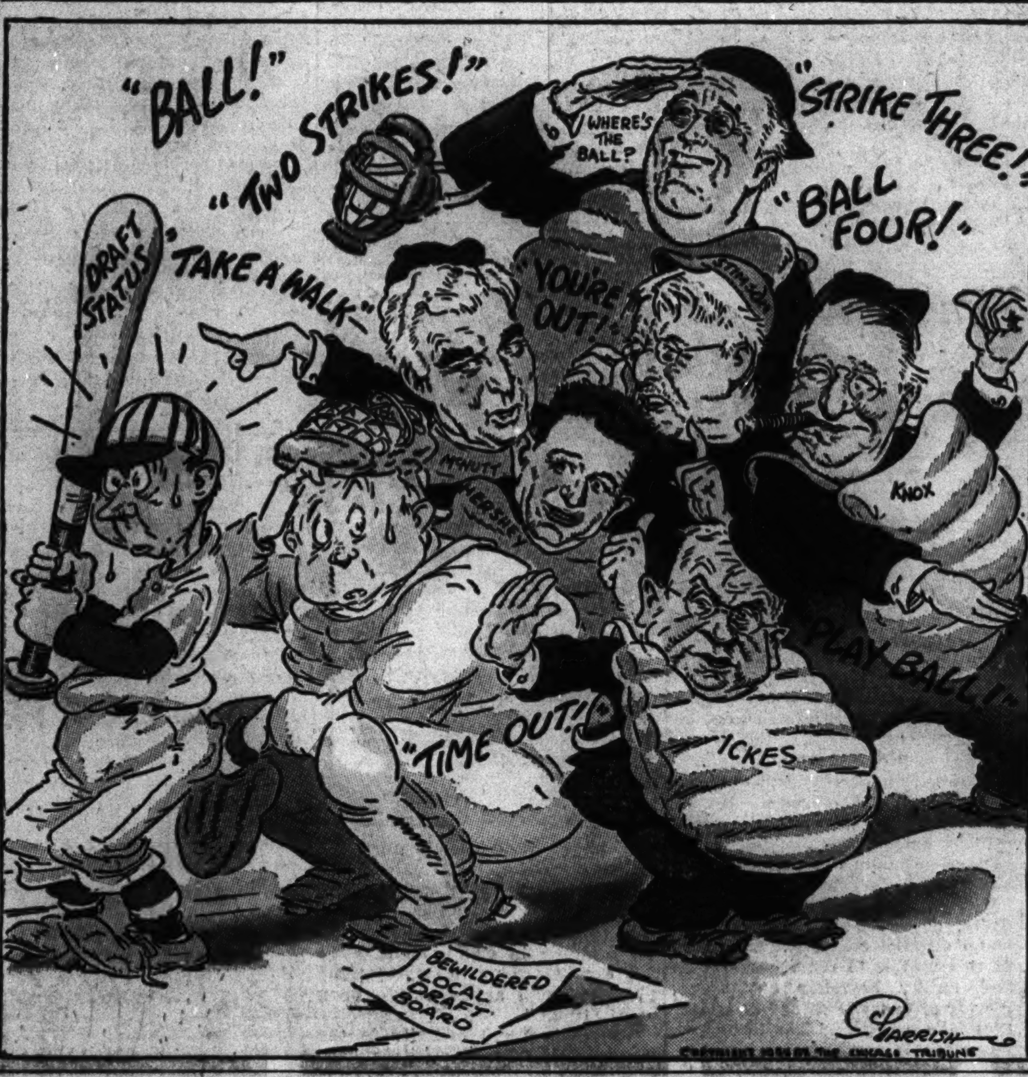
DRAFTEE AT THE BAT.



Tornado Kills 38 in South; 500 Injured

Atlanta, Ga., April 16 (AP).—At least 38 persons were killed today and more than 500 injured by a tornado that cut a 100-mile path of destruction across northeastern Georgia and western South Carolina.

Georgia was hit hardest. The Associated Press and the Red Cross tabulated 21 deaths there—12 in the Royston area and nine in Hart county, where eight of them died in the Nuburg community. Seventeen persons were killed in South Carolina.

Moves Ahead of Squalls.

The twister, moving erratically in advance of rain squalls and electrical disturbances, apparently struck first near Gainesville, Ga., scene of a tornado in 1936 that killed 183 persons.

Two homes were demolished near Gainesville, and four persons were hurt.

About 100 injuries were reported in the vicinity of Royston. More than a score of houses were destroyed, one killing a family of five.

Hospitals Demolished.

Eight died and 150 were injured at Greenwood, S. C., and its vicinity. Greenwood's two-story city hospital was virtually demolished.

Four were killed and a score more injured at Abbeville, S. C. Two died at Iva, S. C. The Red Cross reported three deaths at Prosperity, S. C., and Slighs, in Newberry county, S. C.

In Royston, the Methodist church was taken over by the Red Cross as an emergency hospital ward for 10 injured, while 25 others were treated at two private hospitals.

Loss Is Severe.

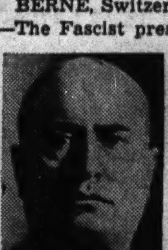
Newly plowed fields in the vicinity of Royston were strewn with bits of lumber, shreds of tin roofs, and shattered tree trunks. Along the Athens-Royston highway, where the vortex crossed and recrossed the road, century old trees had been tossed like kindling.

Edward Hill, Franklin county farmer whose house was stripped of its roof and siding, said he held onto the living room door with one arm while the other gripped his wife, who in turn held their small daughter. The wind, he related, dragged them into a straight line. The top hinge of the door broke, but the bottom hinge held, and they escaped with minor injuries. The family car, parked alongside the house, prevented it from being blown down a hill.

Fifteen homes adjoining the Connie Maxwell orphanage were damaged and eight destroyed. Altho the orphanage was damaged no children were seriously hurt.

MUSSOLINI GRAVELY ILL; AWAITS DEATH, ITALIAN PAPER SAYS

BERNE, Switzerland, April 16 (AP).—The Fascist press said today that Benito Mussolini was gravely ill, providing the first confirmation of long-current reports.



Benito Mussolini.

The Corriere della Sera [Milan] said the former Duce of the Italian empire, "devoting himself to reflection in solitude, is already detached from the world, waiting for death to strike."

The Geneva Tribune, which picked up the Milan item, said it was further reported that Mussolini was in need of a duodenal operation but that doctors felt his condition made it too risky. Ever since Mussolini's ouster as Italian premier last July and his subsequent sensational rescue from the Badoglio regime by German parachutists, there have been recurrent reports that he was critically ill, or even that he had died.

YANKS SQUANDER LESS CASH THAN BRITISH SUSPECT

U. S. STRATEGIC AIR FORCE HDQ. IN ENGLAND, April 16 (AP).—G. I. Joe is not such a spend-thrift as the British Tommy sometimes believes. Col. William Peyton Campbell, Little Rock, Ark., fiscal officer, said today his records showed less than 35 per cent of the pay of American airmen is spent in Britain.

In January, 53 per cent was retained in the United States in allotments, war bonds, and insurance, he said. In February, 56 per cent was held back.

An additional 15 per cent goes home thru army post exchanges, the Red Cross, the postoffice, and British commercial banks.

Tragedy Hits 2 Families; 3 Die, Girl Hurt

Philomena Raimondi

James J. Murphy, 50, of 6106 Green st., who ended his life with a rifle after slaying his wife, Beatrice, 42, with the same weapon.

Fred Caizzio, 56, of 2119 Kendall st., whose body was fished from the Chicago river at Kinzie st. a few hours after his stepdaughter, Philomena Raimondi, 15, was found beaten in her bed. Police believe he ended his own life.

Ends Life as Police Enter.

Mrs. Murphy's body was found in the kitchen doorway of her home by Englewood police, summoned by neighbors. As police entered the home, Murphy shot and killed himself in the dining room.

The couple's daughter, Beatrice, 12, who fled from the home after the first shooting, told police her parents had been quarreling. Police learned that Mrs. Murphy last Friday consulted a physician about her husband and had been advised to have him placed in a sanitarium for mental treatment. Murphy was unemployed.

Philomena Raimondi, unconscious from a beating administered with a baseball bat, was found by her mother, Mrs. Rose Caizzio, upon her return from church. The girl is in critical condition in Walther Memorial hospital.

Returns; Husband Gone.

Mrs. Caizzio told police that when she left for mass the girl was asleep in her room and that Caizzio was awake in a rear bedroom. When she returned, Caizzio, a veteran employe of the city water pipe extension department, had disappeared.

Neighbors told police that earlier they saw Caizzio attempt to throw himself in front of a street car at Taylor st. and Hoyne av. A baseball bat, matted with blood and hair, was found concealed in a closet in the Caizzio home.

Girl High School Student.

Police said Philomena and her stepfather were not on friendly terms, but this was disputed by members of the family.

Philomena is a sophomore in the Cregier branch of McKinley High school. A brother, Anthony, is with the marines in the South Pacific. Another brother, Michael, is in the army.

Adolph Gartz, Former Crane Official, Slain

Adolph Frederick Gartz, 50, a director and former vice president of the Crane company, was found slain yesterday on his estate in Lake Geneva, Wis.

Coroner Robert S. Betzer of Walworth county pronounced the death a suicide. He said Gartz, who was retired as an army major six months ago, apparently stood in an open doorway in the second floor of his garage and shot himself thru the heart with a .45 caliber automatic pistol. The body fell to the ground. The gun was found near-by.

Body Found by Friend.

The body was discovered by a friend of the family, Victor Salo, when he drove into the Gartz estate at 4:40 p. m. yesterday.

In the house at the time were Gartz' wife, Jeanette, his son, Fred, a student at the university of Wisconsin, and Fred's wife, Mrs. Claire Gartz, and Mr. and Mrs. Jack Vilas Jr. of Evanston, a son-in-law and daughter. None of those in the house, however, heard the shot.

Gartz was the grandson of Richard T. Crane, founder of the Crane company. Altho he had been inactive in the company's affairs recently, he maintained an office at 22 W. Monroe st.

Recently on West Coast.

In addition to his wife, his son and his daughter, Mrs. Vilas, he is survived by another daughter, Mrs. Clayton Gaylord, wife of an army lieutenant, now in California.

An inquest into Gartz' death will be held at 11 a. m. today in Lake Geneva.

REDS SUGGEST REVISION OF ITALIAN REGIME

MOSCOW, April 16 (AP).—The soviet government, in an "exchange of views" with the United States and Britain, has suggested immediate formation of an Italian government representing all elements of the country, Andrei J. Vishinsky, assistant commissar of foreign affairs, said tonight.

Vishinsky, former representative of Russia on the allied advisory council for Italy, said the matter had been put up to Italian Premier Badoglio. The advisory council favors a formal statement from Badoglio, he said.

Asked if his statement was made with the knowledge of Britain and the United States, Vishinsky said, "It was made at the initiative of the soviet government." Asked what would follow if the plan should fail, he said, "At present we have no reasons to believe it will fail." Replying to an inquiry whether the advisory council was prepared to exert pressure on the Italian government if necessary to bring about inclusion of all elements, Vishinsky said "the function of the council is to give advice, not to exert pressure."

SEDITION TRIAL OF 30 OPENS IN CAPITAL TODAY

Face Their Accusers Far from Homes.

BY ARTHUR SEARS HENNING
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., April 16.—Most of the 30 defendants in the sedition conspiracy case had arrived in Washington tonight and were conferring with their lawyers in preparation for the opening of the trial tomorrow.

Elizabeth Dilling.

Among them was Mrs. Elizabeth Dilling of Chicago, who came breathing fire and brimstone against the Roosevelt administration for hailing her into its stronghold in the capital to be tried on what she called trumped-up charges of conspiring with the Nazis to overthrow the American form of government and set up a Nazi regime in its place.

She challenged comparison of her own record with that of her detractors, who she said belatedly discovered the Nazi plot while aiding and abetting the Communist objective defined by Atty. Gen. Biddle as the "overthrow of the American form of government by force and violence." In contrast, she said, she had fought not only the Communists but the Nazis and other enemies of American democracy.

Calls Charge an Insult.

Told of the announcement that the American Civil Liberties union would hold aloof from the case because the government will charge some defendants with receiving money from the German government before the war and coöperating with enemies of the United States since Dec. 7, 1941, Mrs. Dilling said:

"Among the defendants are certain German agents who were in the pay of the German government. To suggest that I would take pay from any foreign government is an insult which will be sufficiently avenged if justice is permitted to prevail in this prosecution.

Got $40 for Her Books.

"The only money I ever received from the German government was $40 and it took me four years to collect that. Back in 1934 World Service, a Nazi agency, was among numerous foreign buyers of my book 'The Red Network.' I billed them for $40 for their order. They explained they could not remit because marks were blocked.

"When I visited Germany in 1938 for six days I notified World Service that I would accept pay in marks. It took me three days to tcollect and then I spent the marks on a coat.

"Of course the Civil Liberties union is hard up for an alibi for not coming to the defense of us defendants who are being persecuted for freedom of speech. The union is in effect an agency of the New Deal and Communists and is interested only in defending New Dealers and Communists."

Denies Circulating Propaganda.

Mrs. Dilling denied she ever had solicited or circulated Nazi propaganda. She said she had received such matter from World Service, but it was wholly unsolicited. She denied she went to Europe in 1938 to attend a Nazi party convention.

"I had been investigating conditions in Spain and had gone to Naples to sail home," she said. "There I met friends who were touring Europe in a station wagon. They persuaded me to postpone my sailing two weeks for a tour with them. In Germany we were told that the big show was to be the Nazi celebration at Nuremberg. I got in as correspondent for some small American papers. Like thousands of others in the bleachers I saw Hitler about 250 feet distant.

"They say I gave the heil Hitler salute. I'll tell you how that was. To avoid giving the salute I pretended to need both hands to hold up my umbrella. A big German near me demanded that I salute. I pantomimed that I could not and hold up my umbrella. He bounded to my side, seized my umbrella and lowered it and as he glowered over me I put up my arm in salute—and got a soaking. I well remember how my son had been arrested for failing to heil Hitler in 1934."

Union Criticizes U. S. Action.

While standing aside, the Civil Liberties union criticized the government for instituting the action under the 1940 sedition act and for using the conspiracy statute to hale the defendants to Washington instead of trying them in their home communities.

"The union," its statement said, "is particularly concerned to see that the government's case conforms to the 'clear and present danger' test laid down by the Supreme court, which in this case means a clear and present danger that disaffection in the armed forces would result from the propaganda conspiracy charged.

"In the recent language of the Supreme court, what finally emerges from the 'clear and present danger' cases is a working principle that the substantive evil must be extremely serious and the degree of imminence extremely high before utterances can be punished.

Opposed to 1940 Act.

"Despite the union's nonparticipation, we express regret at the government's resort to the 1940 peace time sedition act which we opposed in congress and have challenged in the courts as a violation of the first amendment in the one major case brought under it against members of the Socialist Workers party, convicted in Minneapolis in the fall of 1941.

"The use of the conspiracy statute against persons not closely associated and gathered together from all over the country is also to be deplored because of the ease with which the guilt of one is attached to others. Where substantive offenses can be shown to have been committed, it is sounder public policy to try each person in his own district rather than to attempt to spell out a conspiracy especially by general expressions of opinion of a similar character.

"Obviously Debatable."

"The union is not concerned with the wisdom of this or any other sedition prosecution instituted by the government in this war, some of which are obviously debatable on grounds of their utility to the prosecution of the war. But the union is properly concerned with the question whether the trial may have an unfavorable effect upon freedom of debate and dissent. The government has shown commendable restraint in bringing only a few cases seriously challenging freedom of speech or of the press on any essential issue.

"Whether this major war time case will have an adverse effect will obviously depend on the way in which it is tried and on its outcome."

A maximum penalty of 10 years imprisonment and $10,000 fine is possible for each defendant in the mass trial.

Chief Justice Edward C. Eicher of the District of Columbia federal court will preside. Eicher is a former Iowa congressman and former chairman of the securities and exchange commission.

CHUNGKING, China, April 16 (AP).—American Mitchell bombers destroyed one span of the Vietry railroad bridge northwest of Hanoi, Indo-China, in a railroad sweep yesterday, and damaged another bridge and considerable trackage nearby, a United States bulletin said today.

BRITISH THROW JAPS BACK FROM IMPHAL PLAIN

Blast Foe from Position Near Kohima.

SOUTHEAST ASIA HDQ., Kandy, Ceylon, April 16 (AP).—Adm. Louis Mountbatten announced today that the plain of Imphal in northeastern India is firmly in allied hands.

The first bulletin issued from the new Ceylon headquarters said allied forces, on the offensive now in India, have made "satisfactory progress" in clearing Japanese from the 35 mile road from Kohima to Dimapur, which leads to the invaluable Bengal-Assam railroad.

Heavy casualties were inflicted on the Japanese and much equipment was captured Friday, the bulletin revealed, when the enemy was blasted from positions northwest of Kohima.

The fighting around Imphal, main allied stronghold in Manipur 60 miles south of Kohima, was confined to sharp skirmishing in the surrounding hills. An important hill northeast of Imphal finally was wrested from the enemy who strongly fought for its possession several days.

Japs Driven Back.

The bulletin belatedly disclosed that Thursday night the Japanese struck at Kohima from the east and west simultaneously, but were driven back.

[For the first time in four weeks German and Japanese broadcasts turned from claims of a demoralizing penetration of India's Manipur state to stories of allied countermeasures. A Rangoon dispatch said Mountbatten was directing a huge troop movement to the Imphal area by air, and that the entire 5th division was being transferred from the Arakan sector by transport plane and the 4th brigade of the 6th division was being flown from Calcutta.]

[The Tokio radio said Japanese tank forces now are in action in the Imphal area and predicted the fall of Dimapur and imminent Japanese control of the Bengal-Assam railway.]

Closer to Fleet Command.

Adm. Mountbatten moved his headquarters from New Delhi to Ceylon to be in close contact with Adm. James Somerville, commander of the British eastern fleet, which is expected to play a big part in the reconquest of the British possessions in Asia.

Kandy, administrative center of Ceylon, is 60 miles northeast of Colombo and 100 miles southwest of Trincomalee. Ceylon is only 1,600 miles from Singapore, 1,400 miles from Padang, Sumatra; 1,375 from Bangkok, 1,175 from Rangoon, and 750 from the Andaman Island.

Life is different here from that in New Delhi, where it sometimes was difficult to realize a war was in progress. Here efficiency is the keynote. Things are much more informal here. Mountbatten's visits to the Burma front will take only a couple of hours longer by air from Ceylon than they did from New Delhi.

WACs at Headquarters.

The new headquarters is located high in Ceylon's hills. By rail, air, and sea, the headquarters staff, composed of British, American, and Dutch navy, air, and army officers including many American WACs converged in tropical Ceylon.

Disclosing for the first time the presence of Chindits, the British-Indian glider-borne force, at Yeu and Shwebo, Mountbatten's bulletin said air commando bombers struck those places "in support of ground positions."

Shwebo is 60 miles northwest of Mandalay on the Myitkyina-Mandalay railway, and Yeu is an enemy air base and river port 70 miles northwest of Mandalay. The Chindits already were known to be at Mawlu, 180 miles north of Mandalay on the Myitkyina railway.

ONE MISTAKE ON THIS YANK JOB AND YOU'RE THRU

Men Render Bombs Harmless.

BY SEYMOUR KORMAN.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

ALLIED 5TH ARMY MAIN FRONT, April 16.—"On this job, if you make one mistake you will never be around to talk about it," remarked a young lieutenant casually as he banged a bomb with a hammer and kicked a hand grenade 15 yards.

I was well on my way in the general direction of Naples before he laughingly called me back. He explained rather belatedly that those missiles he had been playing around with so intimately had been defused and their lethal charges removed.

The lieutenant was Emmett T. Craig, of Baton Rouge, La., of a bomb disposal company. The chore of this unit is to remove the fuses and render harmless any bomb, mortar or grenade—allied or enemy that fails to explode. The technique, of course, is a secret.

Volunteer for Service.

Capt. Francis T. Geisler of Laramie, Wyo., company commander, said that many of the methods were developed by the British in disposing of unexploded bombs and land mines during the German blitzes of London. How hazardous this pioneering work was can be realized from the fact that 57 British officers were killed in London before a way was discovered to defuse one particular type of bomb.

The members of Geisler's unit are classified as combat soldiers and frequently have to work in the front lines under shellfire. They wear a breast patch insignia depicting a falling bomb. All officers and men are volunteers. The men do the work of excavating the unexploded missiles and the officers do the actual defusing.

Chicagoans in Outfit.

"Each bomb presents a different problem," Craig said, "and it is always split-second work. We can't use short cuts and we can't get careless."

Among the Chicagoans in the unit are Tech. Sgt. George Repta, 817 N. Washtenaw av., Corp. James Josh, 810 N. Monticello av., and Pvt. Harry T. Casey, 4636 Drexel bl.

"This is the best job in the army," Repta said, "with never a dull moment. I was in the electrical business in Chicago and after this war it is going to be very tame to hunt down a blown fuse or a short circuit."

The only recent casualty in the company was Lt. Howard Johnson of Freehold, N. J. I noticed a bandage on his finger and remarked that he was lucky to get off so easily on such a dangerous assignment.

"Lucky, nothing," Johnson grinned. "I broke this finger playing touch football."

YANKS HAMMER JAP BASES FROM TRUK TO KURILES

ALLIED HDQ., SOUTHWEST PACIFIC, April 17 [Monday]—(AP).—Allied bombers again have hit Truk despite interception, Gen. MacArthur said today. In a raid on Puluwat atoll, 200 miles to the west, the bombers damaged a Japanese vessel.

A record bomb load of 284 tons was unloaded on the Japanese base of Aitape on the north coast of New Guinea. Aitape is midway between Wewak and Hollandia, both of which have caught a terrific pounding during April. Aitape has one airdrome. Rabaul was also bombed again.

American airmen have dumped a mighty aggregate of bombs along this sector of the New Guinea coast the past two weeks, hitting Hollandia with 1,334 tons, Wewak with 873 tons and Hansa bay with 771 tons.

Gen. MacArthur's bulletin today said bombing operations ranged more than 2,000 miles from the Carolines west to Timor, north of western Australia.

Kuriles Also Bombed.

U. S. PACIFIC FLEET HDQ., Pearl Harbor, April 16 (AP).—Ponape Islands and land pin points around it in the central Pacific took the brunt of American plane attacks Friday, Adm. Chester W. Nimitz announced today.

He also reported attacks on other Japanese Pacific positions from Nauru on the equator to Matsuwa in the Kurile Islands, north of Japan.

Tanker Is Sunk.

Mitchell bombers pressed their attack on Ponape's air fields despite heavy anti-aircraft fire. A small tanker was sunk and two escort vessels forced onto the beach.

Navy search planes bombed Pakin Island, 25 nautical miles northwest of Ponape, Oroluk, halfway between Ponape and the Truk Islands, and Ulul, 150 nautical miles northwest of Truk.

Matsuwa Island was bombed by Liberators of the Aleutian based 11th air force at night in continuation of the current strikes of the Kurile Islands into the fifth consecutive day. Paramushiro has been the principal target.

MARINES CAN DO ANYTHING: EVEN WASH JAP DIDIES

AN ADVANCED U. S. BASE IN THE MARSHALL ISLANDS, April 12 [Delayed]—(AP).—Tough, bearded American marines played nursemaid to two Japanese children who were removed from Ebon atoll following the recent United States occupation.

The Leathernecks fed condensed milk in slow spoon process to one of the children, a 10 months old girl, and washed diapers in the only place available, the ship's officers' wardroom.

The baby girl and her 3 year old brother received tender care from the marines after their parents probably were killed during Japanese resistance to the American occupation. Two marines were killed and eight wounded in this action.

NAZIS' RETREAT IN SOUTH POLAND AT LIMIT: LANZA

Doubts 15 Full Divisions in Skala Trap.

[This is the second of two articles analyzing new developments in the war.]

BY COL. CONRAD H. LANZA.

In southern Poland north of the small state of Bukovina the axis has held the Russians who had reached nearly to the passes of the Carpathians. North of the Dniester river, German forces coming from the west have rescued whatever was left of the large German group which the Russians had encircled near Skala between March 26 and April 10.

Russian accounts said these Germans were "remnants" of 15 divisions. Of these the Russians said 26,000 were killed, 7,000 taken prisoner, and 10,000 escaped. This makes a total of 43,000. If this is correct, only detachments of the German divisions were present.

Believed to Be Raiders.

It would appear that this German force was made up of raiders who attacked and disrupted the Russian rear areas. They may well have been detachments from many divisions.

A little farther north the German garrison at Tarnopol [old Poland] has been routed, the Russians say. The Russians first attacked this place on March 6 and had it encircled for some time. Its possession by the Germans blocked roads and railroads thru the town.

At the north end of the main fighting front is Kowel. This was surrounded by the Russians last month, but was disengaged about two weeks ago. There has been fighting in this area, which seems to have left the front line without much change.

Main Attack in South.

Taking the active front as a whole, the Russians are making their main attack on the south, and are advancing. North of Bukovina, the axis gains have been in the nature of rectification of the front and minor thrusts to interfere with Russian plans.

No major offensive has developed and none is likely. There is indication that in this sector the German withdrawal is at its contemplated limit. They will fight to hold it.

In south Rumania the axis withdrawal is not at its limit. If the Russians continue to attack hard this end of the line may go back farther.

32 French Reported Shot in Paris for Sabotage

BERNE, Switzerland, April 16 (AP).—Up to 32 Frenchmen were reported shot in Paris today following a German announcement that a vast sabotage organization had been uncovered there. The German DNB agency said 20 Frenchmen, whom it identified as "communists," had been shot. Dispatches to the Geneva paper La Suisse said 32 partisans had been executed.

Developments reported yesterday in Russian war area.

JAM CHURCHES FOR MOSCOW'S GAYEST EASTER

Well Stocked Food Stores Filled, Too.

MOSCOW, April 16 (AP).—Great crowds crammed Moscow's churches today for the Russian Orthodox Easter services in one of the gayest and happiest week-ends for the Russian people since the beginning of the war.

While the rich, throbbing music from the choirs swept out from the churches and cathedrals, loud speakers in the city's squares blared reports of Red army victories in the Crimea and at Tarnopol.

There was another kind of crowd in Moscow, too—those who packed stores selling all kinds of food. New stores, stocked with bread, wine, fish, meat, butter, vegetables, and various kinds of little sausages, so well liked by the Russians, were open all over the city.

Jam Church Yards, Too.

Thousands of persons unable to get into the churches jammed the yards and squares near them and listened to the broadcasts.

Throngs appeared at the churches early yesterday afternoon for the colorful midnight services which appeared the most elaborate in three years.

It was a clear, cool night and at the request of the city's believers the commandant of Moscow lifted the 1 o'clock curfew and allowed the people to remain out as long as they liked.

This year the old holy city of Kiev is in Russian hands again and great religious ceremonies were held there. It was at Kiev in the 10th century that the rulers of the grand princedom of Kiev adopted the Greek Orthodox faith at what now is the battered and pillaged monastery of Rechersk, once the religious center of all Russia.

Special Services in Leningrad.

In the years before the Russian revolution the Russians made Easter pilgrimages to Kiev, hundreds walking many miles. This year hundreds again were walking to Kiev—people coming back to resettle, rebuild and return Ukrainian life to its place in the Russian scheme.

Special services also were held at Isaak cathedral in Leningrad where normal daily life again is reviving.

93D NEGRO DIVISION FIGHTS JAPS BEYOND BOUGAINVILLE LINES

BOUGAINVILLE, April 15 [Delayed]—(AP).—Elements of the 93d Negro division are still in contact with the enemy several miles east of the American beachhead perimeter at Empress Augusta bay on Bougainville, Lt. Gen. Millard F. Harmon's headquarters reported today.

Twelve torpedo planes and 10 dive bombers raided Japanese supply caves near the Saua river and Japanese artillery continued the early morning shelling of the Torokina fighter strip and the Piva bomber strip. Minor damage was reported before the enemy guns came under the fire of a counter battery.

MOSCOW, April 16 (AP).—Thousands of factory workers, teachers, and Red army soldiers filed today past the open coffin of Gen. Nikolai F. Vatutin, at Kiev, the capital of his native Ukraine.

The body of Vatutin, one of Russia's outstanding army leaders, who died Friday after an operation, was viewed by 10,000 persons in the palace of the pioneers. His decorations were on a red plush pillow beside him.

First to pay him last homage were Nitka Khruschev, chairman of the council of the people's commissars, and Alexander Korneichuk, foreign affairs commissar of the Ukraine republic. School children placed flowers beside the general.

GEN. M'ARTHUR BANS LIQUOR AS BONG'S REWARD

ALLIED HDQ., Southwest Pacific, April 17 [Monday]—(AP).—Gen. MacArthur decided today that Maj. Richard I. Bong should not receive a case of Scotch or champagne as a "reward" for knocking down 27 Japanese planes. He said he does not consider "liquor or spiritous wines as appropriate recognition of Bong's deeds."

A headquarters release said that altho Gen. MacArthur had "the highest admiration for Maj. Bong's aerial skill and gallantry," he felt the flyer's recent promotion from captain to major was the proper reward.

The Poplar, Wis., flyer has been promised a case of Scotch by Capt. Eddie Rickenbacker, whose record he surpassed. Since Bong is not a drinking man, Gen. H. H. Arnold, chief of the air force, announced in Washington he was sending Bong a carton of soft drinks, but Bong asked that the liquor be sent for his crew.

ADVERTISE IN THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE

WIN NO MEDALS, BUT GROUND G.I.'S KEEP 'EM FLYING

Thousands Working on Planes in Britain.

BY ROBERT CROMIE.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

SOMEWHERE IN ENGLAND, April 16. — "Remember that for every 'hot' pilot with a distinguished flying cross there are 21 unsung soldiers on the ground working frantically to keep him 'hot'."

Whatever army press agent wrote the above, he has epitomized neatly the work of the air force service command group whose unspectacular task is so vital that it is doubtful that our air force could live more than a few combat days without their incredible skill.

They overhaul engines. They repair damages to planes. They deliver bombs and ammunition. They make the various modifications in engines, guns, and fuselages which combat experience indicates are necessary until the factories in the United States can include these improvements.

Personnel All American.

They control distribution of newly arrived planes. They train ground crews for assignment to combat units. They do thousands of other things ranging from parachute repair to the delivery of food. But it all adds up to a single desire: to keep the American air force the most efficient flying outfit in the whole world.

The air service command in this theater is directed by Maj. Gen. Hugh J. Knerr, who has thousands of officers and enlisted men under him at different bases. The parent base, built by Britain before the United States entered the war, now is run almost 100 per cent by American military personnel. The work there is headed by Brig. Gen. Isaac W. Ott, who reorganized the set-up along mass production methods with the result that the base is known as the "Willow Run of the Eastern Theater of Operations."

The base has 400,000 square feet of storage space which soon will be more than doubled, and keeps more than 190,000 items catalogued, of which 90,000 are on hand. Which is one of the excellent reasons why less than one per cent of the aircraft in this theater is grounded because of a lack of parts.

1,200 Engines a Month

Last month this station overhauled more than 1,200 airplane engines, and it is estimated that several hundred million dollars worth of machinery and plane parts are housed within its many square miles. A large share of the credit for the fact that more than 100,000 American airmen are enabled to fly over the continent each month rests on bases like this.

Air service command bases, which include statistical offices whose duty it is to foresee demands for engines and other items before they occur, and keep track of the engines on hand and of the serviceable planes available, will play a big part in the invasion. One base, for example, already has nearly 3,000 serviceable propeller blades stored in packing cases in readiness for shipment anywhere including North Africa, India or Europe.

One of the most amazing things about the whole setup is the willingness of the men to put in long hours without complaint, a willingness which pays dividends in the shape of more bombs on Germany than otherwise would be possible.

Work Long Hours.

Lt. Douglas Soper of Lawton, Okla., assistant maintenance chief of the American service command, says:

"We never shut down for anything or anybody. Our men work nine or 10 hours daily, and if men would work that hard in the States our production output would be greatly increased. Working under the gun, we are called on continually for some special or 'hot' items, and we don't argue about who's going to do it or whether he is supposed to do it or not. We just go ahead and do it."

The air service command does not include military personnel only but is aided by civilian technical workers such as are found at a nearby station where fighter planes arriving from the United States are assembled. The average assembly time for each plane is very low.

The Inquiring Camera Girl

BY MARYON ZYLSTRA

[The Tribune will pay $5 for each interesting question submitted by a reader and used by The Tribune. Today's question was submitted by R. Hilberg, 265 Kenilworth av., Elmhurst.]

THE QUESTION.

What habit do you have that is annoying even to yourself?

WHERE ASKED.

Kimball building, 306 S. Wabash.

THE ANSWERS.

Joan Bishop, graduate quiz kid, 4549 N. Christiana av.—Altho I have all the time in the world to do a task that has to be done, I can't seem to slow myself down to a normal pace. I dress in a hurry, eat in a hurry, and do everything in a hurry. Mother sometimes asks me if I'm trying to catch a train.

H. D. Caine Jr., Ponca City, Okla. —It must be as annoying to other people as it is to myself when I bite my finger nails. While I'm in the actual process of trimming them off it's quite soothing to my nerves. After I calm down and look at what a bad job I've done on them I swear I'll never do it again.

Olive May McLaughlin, school teacher, 12738 Greenwood st., Blue Island—When I leave home in the morning it's no telling when I'll be home at night, so I carry a large bag and everything goes in it. Stuff keeps accumulating in it and when I want to find something I have to dig and dig.

Arthur Saunders, professional golfer, Long Beach, Miss.—Many times when I travel I become provoked because my wife doesn't write to me, despite the fact that I've written her telling her every place I'll be while I'm gone. Then I find the letter I had written tucked away in my coat pocket, signed and sealed.

Ruth Paquin, telephone operator, 5549½ Magnolia av.—If I'm concentrating on something and chewing gum at the same time the usual result is that no one else gets any thinking done. I have the annoying habit of cracking gum and I'm never aware of it until some one asks me if my gum is good.

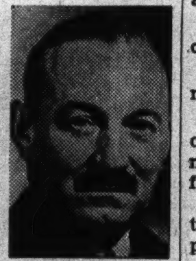
Mrs. John Bishop, housewife, 4549 N. Christiana av.—Every time I go out I vow I won't say a word, and the first thing you know I'm all wound up. I get so wrapped up in what I'm saying that I don't realize I'm the only one who's talking. I don't like to monopolize the conversation but I'm just plain gabby. I always was.

Urge Transfer of Refugees from North Italy to South

BARI, Italy, April 15 [Delayed]— (AP).—Newspaper editors in Bari province have asked Pope Pius XII. and the British, United States and Italian governments to undertake the repatriation of civilians in German occupied northern Italy desiring to return to their homes in the south. They suggested that arrangements be made thru diplomatic channels for collecting women, old men, children, and invalids at points on the Adriatic and Tyrrhenian coasts and transporting them by ships marked with a red cross.

8 POINT PEACE OFFER REPORTED MADE BY NAZIS

LONDON, April 17 [Monday] (AP). —The Daily Mail said today Baron Manfred von Killinger, German minister to Rumania, had presented an eight point peace offer to a neutral diplomat in Bucharest on Dec. 17, with a request that it be forwarded to Washington, D. C., and London, but not to Moscow.



Baron Manfred von Killinger.

The newspaper said its story came first hand from the neutral diplomat, who was interviewed by Noel Monks, Daily Mail correspondent in Istanbul.

"Since I forwarded the proposals, I have heard no word about them beyond the fact that they reached my government," the diplomat was quoted as saying. He added that Von Killinger professed to be acting on instructions from Adolf Hitler.

The eight points of the reported offer were listed as follows:

1. Eventual evacuation by Germany of all occupied and conquered territory, including Czecho-Slovakia.
2. Abandonment of all German claims to colonies.
3. Ultimate disestablishment of the German navy.
4. Germany to retain no merchant navy as such but to reach an agreement with Britain regarding German overseas shipments.
5. Abolition of Nazi propaganda abroad.
6. An agreement with the allies on civil aviation.
7. Germany ultimately to cease maintenance of an air force.
8. Germany to remain always in close consultation with Britain on matters concerning common defense interests.

The British foreign office declined to confirm or deny that such a proposal had reached London.

The Mail said the neutral diplomat told its correspondent, "Von Killinger asked me several times what had happened."

The paper added that it "appears probable" a distorted version of Von Killinger's activities was deliberately fed by the Germans to Pravda, official Russian organ of the Communist party, and that this explained the "Cairo rumor" which Pravda carried on Jan. 17 that the British were discussing a separate peace with Germany. Britain officially denied the report at that time.

BLASTS ACROSS CHANNEL HELD TUNNEL DIGGING

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, April 17 [Monday].— The strange explanation given by the Daily Express this morning of the mysterious explosions across the channel which have been shaking the English coast from Dover to East Anglia is that the Germans are busy blasting tunnels for defense. No allied aircraft were over the enemy coast at the times of the explosions.

These bangs on the French coast have been reported at persistent intervals since last fall, but the latest ones have caused a crop of speculation.

It was recalled that the 5th army came up against similar tunnels at Cassino.

Other Balkan Centers Hit in 2 Days of Attacks.

LONDON, April 16 (AP).—American bombers from the Mediterranean area heavily raided Belgrade, capital of Jugo-Slavia, for the first time today, the German DNB agency reported. They also hit several other southeastern European cities, including Brasov, Rumania.

Brasov, is an industrial center of the Transylvania area 90 miles northwest of Bucharest. The German account said the American raiders were fiercely opposed by German and Rumanian fighter planes.

[Axis radio broadcasts recorded in New York said an allied "nuisance raid" was made in the night against Budapest, the Hungarian capital, and that other planes approached the Breslau area in Silesia.]

The reported raid on Belgrade was the first of any sort since the Germans laid waste the city with heavy raids on April 6, 1941, when they invaded Jugo-Slavia. The German bombers were reported at that time to have killed 12,000 persons.

An Important Crossroads.

Belgrade, now capital of the German puppet state of Serbia, is one of the most important crossroads from central Europe to the middle east. As such, it has been German headquarters for all the Balkans since last October.

The city, situated at the confluence of the Sava and Danube rivers, had a peace time population of about 150,000.

Brasov is 50 miles north of the Rumanian oil center of Ploesti and only 100 miles from the Red army front in Rumania—the nearest the American bombers have yet come to the Russian lines. It is the center of a road and rail network thru the Transylvanian and Carpathian passes and has a peace time population of 56,000.

Bomb "Iron Gate" City.

ALLIED HDQ., Naples, April 16 (AP).—R. A. F. Wellington bombers, smashing in a continued offensive against Germany's communications in southeastern Europe, attacked the important Rumanian railroad town of Turnu-Severin last night a few hours after United States Fortresses and Liberators "in great strength" had attacked Bucharest and Ploesti. Liberators also hit railroad yards at Nish in Jugo-Slavia.

Turnu-Severin lies in the foothills of the Transylvanian Alps on the old Jugo-Slav-Rumanian frontier on the east side of the "Iron Gate" where the Danube emerges thru the mountains from the Hungarian plain. The town is 170 miles west of Bucharest.

Down 13 Enemy Planes.

Headquarters announced that 10 Fortresses and Liberators were lost over Bucharest and the oil center of Ploesti. Four escorting fighter planes also failed to return. Allied flyers shot down 13 enemy planes.

[The Germans claimed that 20 planes, "most of them four engine bombers," were downed over Rumania on Saturday.]

Rail yards at Leghorn, Italy, were attacked for the second consecutive day by Mitchells which also hit the tunnel and bridge between Castiglioncello and Vincenzo. Other medium and light bombers hit rail targets at San Benedetto, Fano, and Civitanova.

YANKS SEIZE 61 NAZI PRISONERS IN ANZIO THRUST

ALLIED HDQ., Naples, April 16 (AP).—Delayed dispatches disclosed today that an American patrol thrust yesterday ripped two and a half miles thru German positions in the eastern sector of the Anzio beachhead front and took 61 prisoners. This was accomplished by American tanks and infantry, which struck suddenly forward thru German coastal positions east of the Mussolini canal, about three miles southwest of Littoria. There were no allied casualties from the raid.

[The Germans said the strong points attacked were "recaptured after having been lost."

In Cassino, where neither the Germans nor allies move much except at night, the Germans continued to rake the dead streets of the battered town with mortar fire and allied held Castle hill was subjected to new shelling.

On the Adriatic coastal sector considerable new enemy movement was noted in the vicinity of Ortona and there was a patrol clash west of the town.

A new official demarcation of the front by allied headquarters showed that the crossroads village of Alfedena is behind the German lines. The allied line also was shown to have moved back slightly north and east of the village in the vicinity of Montenerodono.

YANKS AIM NEW BLOWS AT NAZI FIGHTER POWER

LONDON, April 16 (AP).—The German air force faced a new extermination drive today from unprecedented fleets of long-range American fighters. These fighters, 500 to 750 strong, launched the campaign from Britain yesterday, fanning out over Germany almost to Berlin and shooting down 18 German planes and destroying about 40 others on the ground to the loss of 30 fighters.

[The Germans said 31 fighters were downed.]

The low level strafing attacks were directed at 10 German air fields and at barges, locomotives and a factory.

Yesterday's fighter plane attacks approximated in size the fleets of R. A. F. and American heavy bombers that have been softening up Hitler's fortress in pre-invasion blows.

One 1,200 Mile Round Trip.

The operation was made possible by the steady extension of American fighter range—one Mustang force yesterday flew a 1,200 mile round trip course to the vicinity of Berlin—and the remarkable growth of American fighter strength in Britain. A year ago there were hardly any American fighters operating here.

Fighter sweeps at enemy plane nests carry the advantage of a great saving in man and plane power. Yesterday's loss of 30 fighter planes was equal to the loss of three heavy bombers both in personnel and in equipment, and there have been many operations in which more than three heavy bombers were lost when the destruction of enemy planes fell far short of yesterday's mark.

Shooting up planes on the ground is not as dramatic as aerial combat kills but it is much more difficult than the "sitting duck" pastime it is often pictured to be. It is almost impossible for fighters to approach German air fields in daylight without detection and without having to hurtle thru an almost solid wall of anti-aircraft fire.

Two Methods of Attack.

The pilots have only two general methods of attack. One is to approach the air field at a high altitude, plainly exposing themselves in order to pick their targets, and then power dive. The other is to sweep in at low level, counting on lightning vision to spot planes and shoot them up.

The United States air forces' loss in fighters has increased since the ground attacks began. That is why the 8th air force gives pilots credit for destroying planes on the ground just as it does for aerial kills. Credits are not given unless photographs and the testimony of other flyers indicate conclusively that grounded craft have been damaged beyond repair.

Ground destruction is not as effective as combat destruction, however, because one of the primary aims is the elimination of German fighters and ground strafing pilots are forced to hit what they find—bombers, transports, or trainers.

Portuguese Nazi Leader Killed Fighting Russians

Lisbon, April 16 (AP).—The head of the Nazi party in Portugal, Dr. Lueble, who volunteered last year to fight with the German army in Russia, has been killed in action on the Russian front.

Curiosity Kills the Cat and Blacks Out 5 Towns

Indianola, Miss., April 16 (AP).—An unscheduled one hour's blackout of five towns was traced today to a black cat, now minus all his nine lives. Officials reasoned curiosity took the cat to the top of a 20 foot power tower in Indianola and that it stepped between a switch on a high voltage line. Indianola, Moorhead, Sunflower, Inverness, and Isola were darkened.

TOKIO RAIDERS' PARENTS PRAY: HIT JAPAN AGAIN

Tell Sons' Deeds on Eve of 2d Anniversary.

Tomorrow is the second anniversary of the bombing of Tokio, on April 18, 1942. The eve of the event finds the parents of the three Chicago men who took part in the Doolittle raid praying for future raids on Japan and for an early victory but demanding retribution for the execution of the American raiders taken prisoners at the time.

Lt. Charles C. Ozuk Jr.

Chicago flyers who were on the Tokio mission were Capt. Charles C. Ozuk Jr., who was reported seriously injured in action over Italy on March 22; Capt. Thomas C. Griffin, now a prisoner of war in Germany, and Maj. Richard A. Knobloch, who has been stationed at Elgin field, Fla., since last September.

Still fingering the telegram she received Saturday from the war department informing her that her son was seriously injured, Mrs. Charles C. Ozuk, 4257 N. Albany av., said: "I pray constantly for an early victory so that other boys will not be killed or seriously wounded as my son was."

Balls Out Over China.

Mrs. Ozuk recalled that her son, who was a navigator on one of the bombers over Tokio, bailed out when his plane was caught in a storm and landed in China. He was injured in landing and dragged himself to a Chinese village, where peasants took him to a hospital.

From his hospital bed, John E. Griffin, 5417 Maryland av., echoed his wife's statement that she would like to see Japan bombed "off the map" and the war won as soon as possible.

The parents recalled that their son, Capt. Griffin, described flying "so low over the emperor's palace on the Tokio raid that we could have heard Hirohito howl if he had been outside."

"It's too bad they were under orders not to bomb it," Mrs. Griffin said.

Glad Japs Don't Hold Him.

The Griffins are grateful that their son is a prisoner of war in Germany and not in Japan. "Altho we have had no real news from him since he was taken prisoner last July, it's a comfort to know he is alive," his mother said.

Capt. Griffin's plane made a forced landing in China after the Tokio raid and before he could identify himself a Chinese mistook him for a Nazi and stabbed him in the leg. While in a Chinese hospital he was visited by Mme. Chiang Kai-shek.

"A Big Score to Settle."

Mr. and Mrs. William F. Knobloch of Fort Sheridan said that Americans should not forget the death of the American raiders taken prisoner in Japan or the men who gave their lives at Bataan and Corregidor.

"We have a big score to settle with Japan and the sooner we get it on an all-out scale the better it will be," they said.

Their son, Maj. Knobloch, who was assigned to duty in Florida after 51 missions and 255 hours of combat flying over Burma, bailed out of his plane after the Tokio raid and landed three miles from the Japanese lines in China. Three of his fellow crew members jumped before him and were among those taken prisoner.

CHICAGO FLYER LOST IN ITALY, PARENTS LEARN

Lt. William Staugas, 19, is missing in action in Italy, it was learned by his parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Staugas, 3327 Fillmore st. A graduate of Crane Technical High school, Lt. Staugas was graduated as a navigator and commissioned a second lieutenant in the army air forces on Sept. 24, 1943, his parents said.

Lt. William Staugas.

Stricken in East

MISS GRAZIELLA POLACCO.

Miss Graziella Polacco, 18, daughter of Mrs. William Ragland, the former Edith Mason of opera fame, has been stricken by illness in the east, where she is a freshman student at Wellesley college, and will be brought to Chicago for consultation with her mother's personal physician, Dr. Clifford J. Barboka.

Mrs. Ragland hurried to her daughter's bedside after receiving news of her illness. She now is attempting to arrange plane passage for her to Chicago.

PT BOATS AIDING TITO SINK ELEVEN ENEMY VESSELS

New York, April 16 (AP).—Headquarters of Marshal Tito reported today that allied motor torpedo boats had sunk 11 enemy ships in the last eight days.

Nazis Move on Montenegro.

LONDON, April 16 (AP).—Fighting in Jugo-Slavia reached new intensity today with the forces of Marshal Tito battling a powerful advance of German and satellite troops toward Montenegro, a bulletin broadcast by the Free Jugo-Slav radio said tonight. Montenegro borders Albania on the Adriatic sea. "The Germans are endeavoring, at all costs, to occupy Montenegro before the allied invasion," the bulletin said.

Fighting was reported thruout eastern Bosnia. In Macedonia Patriots reported they had killed 170 Germans and routed two Bulgarian columns. The bulletin also said a theater was mined in Opstina, near Trieste and 80 German soldiers and officers were killed in the explosion. In retaliation, it was said the Nazis shot 605 hostages.

HIGH EXPLOSIVE USED BY ARMY FOUND IN ALLEY

Bernard Arandi, barber at 6142 S. Ashland av., yesterday saw a small cardboard carton in the alley in the rear of his shop, and was tempted for a moment to give it a kick.

Instead, he opened it, and got a shock when he found its contents labeled: "Nitro Starch — high explosive. Property of the Corps of Engineers, United States Army."

Sgt. Marshall Pidgeon of the police department bomb squad said the explosive was sufficient to have wrecked the entire block.

REPORT ALLIES DRAW UP TERMS FOR RUMANIA

[By Wireless to the New York Times and The Chicago Tribune.]

LONDON, April 16.—The allied terms for Rumania's withdrawal from the war were reported to have been completed as Undersecretary of State Stettinius continued his conversations in London with Foreign Secretary Eden today after seeing Prime Minister Churchill for the second time over the week-end.

The eventual proffer of the terms is foreshadowed in Foreign Commissar Molotov's renunciation of any soviet imperialistic designs on Rumania. Despite rumors in London that the Rumanian government has been definitely angling for peace, Marshall Antonescu has not yet given any public sign of surrender.

It was emphasized here that efforts to enveigle satellites such as Rumania from their unprofitable partnership with Germany were being conducted on a tripower basis among Moscow, London, and Washington. Britain and the United States were informed in advance of Molotov's appeal to Rumania and were kept posted on the soviet dealings with Finland.

Destroy Airdromes

ISTANBUL, Turkey, April 16 (AP).—German troops were reliably reported today to be destroying airdromes, military installations, and munitions dumps across parts of the Peloponnesus, apparently preparing for withdrawal into northern Greece in case of an allied invasion. Installations wrecked so far are in the less defensible areas. Information in Istanbul is that the Germans still have approximately 10 divisions in Greece, tho they are of indifferent quality.

BY SAM BREWER.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

ISTANBUL, Turkey, April 15 [Delayed].—Report of the formation of a new Greek cabinet in Cairo, Egypt, ends one more phase in the long saga of internal political strife, which periodically has interrupted the guerrila fighting against the Germans in Greece.

The allies are reported to have resumed sending arms and supplies to Greece after the most recent interruption because the Greeks had stopped using the arms against the Germans.

After the first fine display against enemy forces Greek guerrillas began to lose their effectiveness last spring because of internal quarrels. German troop trains could move freely again, and Greeks were killing Greeks.

Agreement in February.

That situation was temporarily remedied, but last fall there were clashes between moderate republican forces under Col. Napoleon Zervas and the leftists under Col. Bakirdzis. In October a Communist band in the Pindus mountains was reported to have captured and executed members of the British military mission working with the Zervas forces.

On Feb. 11 this year an agreemen finally was made in Cairo among all factions not to fight each other.

The resignation of the Emmanuel J. Tsouderos government which was disliked by all factions inside Greece, was the first big step toward settlement of the political crisis. Greek circles are hopeful now that the formation of a war time coalition representing all parties and interested only in winning the war against the Germans will provide the solution of their troubles.

Strongest Man a Communist.

The king has promised that at the end of the war he will accept the decision of a plebiscite on the question of whether he will remain on the Greek throne.

At present the strongest man inside Greece probably is Bakirdzis, who heads the Communist elements. Alexander Svolos, former professor of law at Athens university, formed a so-called government Dec. 11, which really is a sort of committee of all the left and liberal elements, for internal affairs during the war. Almost nothing has been heard of it since its formation.

George Papandreou, Greek Socialist leader who escaped from Greece by way of Turkey, was reported to have arrived today in Cairo. Papandreou was known as a radical long before the war. He was opposed to Former Premier Gen. John Metaxas and has registed the Germans ever since the invasion of Greece.

Friends here credit him with having played an important role in unifying Greek resistance and while in Istanbul Papandreou said that he thought most of the internal political differences had been settled.

CHICAGO WINNER OF AIR MEDAL LOST IN ACTION

Sgt. Charles L. Saul.

Staff Sgt. Charles L. Saul, son of Mr. and Mrs. C. Lester Saul, 524 Belden av., has been missing in action over Germany since March 23, it was learned by his parents. The sergeant had been awarded the air medal and had been recommended for an oak leaf cluster. A brother, Capt. Edwin S. Saul, stationed 40 miles from the sergeant's home base in England, had visited with Charles the day before the action in which he was reported missing.

Prisoner of Axis

LT. MARY CHAPMAN.

Washington, D. C., April 16 [Special].—Lt. [j. g.] Mary F. Chapman, a navy nurse from Chicago, was disclosed by the navy department today to be a prisoner of war of the axis. Her mother is Mrs. W. J. Chapman, 4108 N. Central av., Chicago.

Miss Chapman was among 11 navy nurses listed as missing in the seventh navy casualty list of the war, which was issued on July 13, 1942. The nurses had last been heard from in the Manila bay area of the Philippines and it was stated that they might be prisoners of the Japanese. She was listed as the first Chicago nurse lost in action.

TIN CAN SALVAGE DECLINES TO 281 TONS IN MARCH

Chicago contributed 12 tons fewer tin cans in March than in February, W. L. McFetridge, OCD salvage director in the Chicago metropolitan area, reported yesterday. The March tin can collection amounted to 281 tons, compared with 293 tons collected in February.

The war production board said Chicago would have to step up tin can salvage if it hoped to maintain its average with some other cities.

This week school children are enlisting in the drive to pick up wooden strawberry crates, bushel and half bushel baskets, hampers, lugs, and 100 pound burlap and cotton bags so that shipment of fruit and vegetable products from the midwest this spring will not be restricted by a threatened shortage of containers.

Pupils will take their collections of containers to school on Thursday, designated Food Container Salvage day in Chicago by Mayor Kelly. A. O. Wilmot, Chicago area supervisor of the war food administration, has charge of the campaign.

"Five cents will be paid for each serviceable container and 3 cents for cotton and burlap 50 pound bags," Wilmot said.

2 Children Play with Gun; Boy, 12, Is Fatally Shot

Lee Warning, 12, of Mokena [Will county], died yesterday in Silver Cross hospital at Joliet of a bullet wound in his temple, accidentally inflicted Saturday night when he and a cousin, Norma Embling, also 12, were playing with a .25 caliber automatic in the Warning home. The boy's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Warning, were attending a party at the village school. Police said the pistol was in Lee's hand when it was discharged.

JAPS LEFT LOOP FOR ATTACK ON U.S. 15 YRS. AGO

Washington, D. C., April 16 (AP).—While in the act of signing a treaty outlawing war, the Japanese government took care 15 years ago to leave a diplomatic door open for its attack on Pearl Harbor.

Japanese hedging on the Kellogg renunciation of war pact was revealed today in two volumes of 1929 diplomatic documents published by the state department.

The papers reveal to the public for the first time the diplomatic contortions the Japanese went thru to keep American warships out of mandated Marshall Island ports, including Kwajalein and Maloelap, atolls now figuring in the American offensive across the Central Pacific.

While professing devotion to the principles of the treaty against war, negotiated by Frank Kellogg, then secretary of state, the Japanese claimed that a clause committing signatory nations "in the names of their respective peoples" was against the constitution of Japan.

"Not Applicable to Japan."

"It is only in a democratic or republican country that such rights rest with the people," one Japanese said, declaring that Japan could sign only in the name of the emperor. When Japan finally ratified the treaty, it was accompanied by a declaration that this provision "is understood to be inapplicable so far as Japan is concerned."

The hitherto secret papers also disclosed that in October of 1929 the United States and Britain agreed to pare down their naval forces as a step to promote peace. A tentative proposal under which neither nation would build bases in the hemisphere in which the other is situated also was considered at a Rapidan, Va., conference between President Hoover and British Prime Minister Ramsay MacDonald.

Britain Changed Mind.

MacDonald, in an exchange of memoranda, apparently agreed to the proposal at that time, but later his secretary advised the secretary of state that the plan was not considered workable. There were no further papers relating to the subject.

[Former President Hoover said in a statement issued last night in New York that his proposal that the United States stop building bases in the Pacific in return for a pledge by Great Britain to refrain from similar activity in the western hemisphere was a side issue of his Rapidan conference with MacDonald. He said the purpose of the conference was settlement of the principal terms of the naval limitations conference to take place in London later, and added that the purpose was accomplished. He said there was "no secret in the discussions" and "in a conference of that type you traverse all the possibilities."]

The two volumes complete the release of papers for 1929, the first of three books having appeared last December. The state department regularly releases its documents after 15 years. They cover dealing with Canada on prevention of liquor smuggling, with China on disputes over American interests, a revolution with Mexico, and the meeting between Hoover and MacDonald.

UNION OFFICIALS DEFEND POLICE WHO JOINED AFL

Call Action Legal; City Investigation Goes On.

H. E. O'Reilly.

While Commissioner Allman and other city officials yesterday investigated the legality and other phases of the recent organization of a union among Chicago policemen, union officials disclosed that more than 40 other cities have similar unions and asserted that they are backed by decisions of the United States Supreme court.

Commissioner Allman opposed the union as a violation of public policy after its secret organization was disclosed Friday. He asked Corporation Counsel Hodes for an opinion on whether policemen had a right to organize. Hodes is expected to give his opinion this week.

820 Reported to Be Members.

The union is known as the American Federation of Labor's Chicago and Cook County Law Enforcement Officers' union, local 785, and claims 820 members. It is affiliated with the American Federation of State, County, and Municipal Employes' union, which has international headquarters in Madison, Wis.

Harry E. O'Reilly, midwest director of the AFL, asserted that the charter of the police local contains a "no strike" provision which is specified in the international's constitution.

Because their employer is a municipality, unions of this kind deal chiefly with the city council, Daniel D. Carmell, attorney for the Illinois State and the Chicago Federations of Labor, asserted: Individual grievances are submitted directly to the police commissioner, he said.

Tells of Rulings by Court.

Lt. Charles A. Anderson of the Irving Park station, who is president of the new local, said that cases involving police unions have gone to the United States Supreme court, which upheld their right to organize. Anderson is a lawyer, having passed the bar examination last September after receiving bachelor of laws and doctor of jurisprudence degrees at Loyola university.

In defending the action of policemen who have joined the union, he asserted that the city's firemen, who he said organized an AFL union several years ago, have received vacation and other benefits ahead of policemen.

Friend of the Yanks

[The Friend of the Yanks department will answer questions about the draft and military service, both in the daily columns and by mail, if stamped, self-addressed envelopes are sent with the queries.]

H. F. K. writes: "I have an appeal pending from my 1-A status and had already passed my preinduction physical. The clerk at the draft board told me I should wind up my affairs because if the appeal board holds me in 1-A I could be inducted within 10 days. I had understood one had three weeks for this purpose. Who is right?"

ANSWER: You can be ordered to report for induction as soon as the decision of the appeal board is known.

E. L. writes: "I am a local postmaster with quite a problem. Out of seven employes, six are in 1-A and all are to be inducted soon. The one remaining man is a rural mail carrier. This office serves a community of about 4,500 homes in this town and 1,650 homes within a radius of the rural routes. Who is going to deliver the mail? The first assistant postmaster general wrote that "in cases where the drafting of an employe would affect the service to a community to any great extent, it could be taken before the local board." This has been done and to no avail. What now?"

ANSWER: If the various cases have been taken up with the local board and without any results that is the end of the story because the local board can not defer a federal employe whose deferment is not requested by an agency committee. If the draft board did defer these men without the request of an agency committee, the state director would have to appeal the classification.

V. C. C. asks: "How long after being declared missing is it before a service man is declared dead? If he is declared dead and payments of gratuity and allotments, etc., have been made, and he turns up alive, what happens? Does the government collect from the beneficiaries?"

ANSWER: "The unexplained absence of any individual for seven years shall be deemed sufficient evidence of death for the purposes of laws administered by the Veterans' administration." . . . "In the event of the later return of such missing person to the controlable jurisdiction of the head of the department concerned [secretary of war or navy], the pay account of such person shall be reopened and charged with the amount of the six months' death gratuity which may have been paid . . . on a monthly basis." The gratuity payment, however, is made at the expiration of 12 months from date of official notice of the death of the missing person. Allotments paid to dependents would be charged against the account of the service man.

J. R. K. asks: "Am I eligible for $200 mustering out pay? I was inducted into the army May 7, 1941, transferred in December, 1941, into the air corps as a cadet, and discharged in May, 1942, because of defective color perception. In January, 1943, I enlisted in the Seabees and I am now overseas."

ANSWER: You are eligible but unless you need the money right now it might be advisable to wait until you complete your present service and be paid perhaps for the maximum.

SEE 42 DEWEY VOTES FROM 3 PACIFIC STATES

Spokane, Wash., April 16 (AP).—Dewey supporters gathered at a tri-state meeting to speed up their campaign to draft the New York governor for the Republican Presidential nomination predicted tonight the three Pacific northwest states would send a solid delegation to the national convention in favor of their candidate.

Washington state will have 16 delegates to the convention, Oregon, 15, and Idaho, 11. All will go to their candidate, the Dewey men asserted.

James Bailey of Seattle, who was named permanent chairman of the tri-state "draft Dewey" cause, predicted the state convention at Wenatchee May 6 would accept the Dewey recommendations without change.

P. J. Gallagher of Ontario, Ore., heading a group from his state, said "It appears the entire Oregon delegation will be pledged to Dewey."

Harvey Shadduck of Coeur d'Alene, Idaho, said of 11 delegates named to the national convention at Moscow, Idaho, Saturday, nine were for Dewey.

Lt. Col. L. M. G. Dangremond, an engineer with the army air forces in Italy, writes a long letter nightly to his wife, LeNore, and a weekly letter to his children, James, 17, William 15, and Patricia, 8. The family address is 11136 Hoyne av.

Since October, 1942, when he went to North Africa, Col. Dangremond has sent 631 letters to his family. Six were lost when three ships were sunk in Casablanca harbor in November, 1942, but the others, all numbered in order, have been received. On Monday morning, April 10, Mrs. Dangremond found 12 air mail letters in the mailbox. On May 3, 1943, 23 letters arrived.

"They come in bunches at times or one arrives every day for a while," Mrs. Dangremond explained. "My husband writes to us late at night and I write to him every day, too," she said.

A few short months ago a revolutionary new product appeared in New York and swept the city. That product is air-wick . . . a sensational scientific discovery that makes indoor air country-fresh at a cost of only a cent or so a day.

In the kitchen air-wick kills cooking odors quickly, surely—cabbage, cauliflower, onions, turnips, fish, fried food of all kinds. Stuffy closets become fresh. Stale tobacco odors disappear like magic. The whole house becomes as fresh as a spring garden.

The secret of air-wick is activated Chlorophyll—the substance nature stores up in growing plants—the miracle substance that makes every green leaf a miniature "purifying laboratory".

This makes air-wick almost unbelievably easy to use. There is nothing to light, nothing to burn, nothing to spray. You simply uncap the bottle, pull up the wick, and that's all.

Get your first bottle today. It's non-rationed . . . at groceries, drug, variety, hardware, chain and department stores.

If air-wick is not yet available at your favorite store, please be patient. The demand has been so great that it may be several weeks before we can supply everybody.

FORECASTING BALDNESS

This young man has a good head of hair and doesn't feel that he will ever be bald. Yet his scalp is laden with dandruff, itches constantly, and he loses a great deal of hair each day.

In a few years it will be too late and his appearance will be permanently marred, a serious handicap to anyone. Don't let baldness come to you since scientific Warner treatment and proper care afterward can prevent it in most cases.

There is no charge or obligation for a private scalp examination and consultation.

Fees for treatment are very moderate and are payable as the treatments are taken—not in advance. There is a separate department for women.

BRITISH PAPERS REVEAL FEAR OF M'ARTHUR BOOM

Vote in Illinois Is Called 'Sensational.'

BY LARRY RUE.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, April 16.—Alarm and fear at the United States political trend over the ousting of Wendell Willkie as a Republican candidate, the "sensational" revelation of Gen. MacArthur's strength as revealed in the Illinois primary election, and MacArthur's denunciation of the New Deal, were expressd in the British press today.

William Brown, United States correspondent of Reynolds News, describing the "American scene," warns readers to "watch these latest sinister moves." Frank McDermott, special New York correspondent of the Sunday Times, asserts that "with all the will in the world to show respect for the gallant and distinguished soldier, it is difficult to deal kindly with the letters" exchanged between MacArthur and Rep. Miller [R., Neb.].

J. Hugh Edwards, special political commentator in the Empire News bemoans the rejection of Willkie as a trend toward "sheer isolation" in the United States.

Willkie Aided F. D. R.

In an article on "What Willkie's Rejection Means to Us," Edwards reviews Woodrow Wilson's fight for the league of nations and the bequeathal of his "unfinished task" to President Roosevelt. Willkie, he said, had "greatly facilitated" Mr. Roosevelt's policy of "giving the fullest measure of aid to our own country when we stood alone in resistance to dictator countries."

"For his full measure of support to the cause of the united nations," he says, "Willkie now is being ostracized by leaders of the American Republican party. That is why he failed to obtain a single supporter at the recent party gathering in Wisconsin. No less ominous is the fact that one of the most prominent members of the American senate did not hesitate to declare only a few days ago that the Republican party would have a good chance of winning the next Presidential election if it went in for a purely American instead of an international plank.

"If this self-centered, shortsighted policy is permitted to rear its head again on American soil, the hope of resurrection of one league of nations and a permanent peace are not helped. Let us hope the Republican party will think again."

Claims Negotiated Peace Sought.

Brown says that "another recurrent wave of anti-British and anti-Russian propaganda is sweeping the United States, but this time it is more serious than usual; there is a sinister purpose behind it. This purpose is a negotiated peace."

The American Federation of Labor, which boycotted the international trade union meeting in London, "because the Russians will be there, lends itself to this campaign," he says.

Brown also censures former President Herbert Hoover, seeing in his demands that Europe should be fed an effort to break down the blockade, which he interprets as an "attempt to create at least one tiny crack in the totality of the war against fascism."

McDermott says the publication of the MacArthur-Miller correspondence "created a first class political sensation," and that MacArthur is favored by the "Chicago set" more than Dewey.

MacArthur's ascendancy is regarded as disturbing for "he has a special war time glamor to offset Roosevelt's, he is not committed to post-war international collaboration, and embodies for many the claims of the war in the far east as against that in Europe."

McDermott says, that altho there is no proof that MacArthur is an isolationist, it must be hoped "by the Chicago set that because of his unfamiliarity with both domestic and foreign affairs he would be as clay in the hands of those to whom he owes his nomination, and that as President he would lack the clearness of purpose and patience in negotiation, and persuasiveness and instinct for compromise on nonessentials, without which the plans for a peace organization might be founded."

DRAFT PRELIMINARY TAX PROGRAM FOR G. O. P. CONVENTION

Washington, D. C., April 16 (AP).—A program of "realistically high" taxes designed to balance the postwar budget as quickly as possible will be proposed to the Republican national convention by its advisory committee on finance, taxation and money, Chairman Taft [R., O.] predicted today.

Senator Taft said, experts employed by the committee have completed the preliminary draft. He said, however, extensive revisions may be made when the full committee meets soon at his call. Taft said the committee's research staff had been asked to determine, among other things, how heavy a burden of taxation the people can carry "without socialization."

While Taft said his group would hold a meeting before the party's June 26 convention, Sen. Vandenberg [R., Mich.] told reporters the foreign policy advisory group which he heads will work informally on revisions of the preliminary report it made last September at an advisory council meeting at Mackinac Island, Mich.

BRICKER CITES '10 ARTICLES OF FAITH' FOR U. S.

San Jose, Cal., April 17 (AP).—Gov. Bricker of Ohio, a candidate for the Republican Presidential nomination, in a speech tonight, cited 10 "articles of faith on which we can base the course of our country's future."

Addressing a California Republican assemblage, Bricker said that in the remaining days of the war and the peace he foresaw much hard work and sacrifice "but back of all our endeavors there must be a mighty faith."

"After 28 long, tedious, and dark months of war," he said, "we know that the forces of evil and destruction have been driven to the wall and that the forces of righteousness and freedom are on the conquering march.

Urges Stock Taking.

"As we look ahead to the days of peace, we ought to take stock of ourselves and our country for the grave problems that will confront us. If we are to rehabilitate ourselves and help do the same for the rest of the world, we want to know that we are equal to that task here at home."

He then enumerated the 10 articles of faith "in which we believe.":

1. The strength of our returning soldiers as one of the greatest assets this country will have after the war.

2. The dignity of the average man; his good common sense as the balance wheel of democracy.

Stresses Right to Work.

3. The principles of our republican form of government.

4. The right of every man to earn his own living as he sees fit and to improve his lot.

5. Divine Providence and the right of each to worship as he chooses.

6. The economic strength and natural resources of our country and the system by which they were developed.

7. The honesty and loyalty of labor; the ingenuity and capability of management and the unselfish and tireless effort of agriculture.

Wants Unshackled Press.

8. The Bill of Rights, free speech, and free communications; the great service rendered by an unshackled press.

9. The traditions of the past and the hope to find in them the inspiration to deal effectively with the problems of the future.

10. And finally, in America.

"Our country, I am convinced," Bricker said, "is at the threshold of its greatest era. I reject the theory that ours is a decadent society, that opportunity no longer exists, that as a free country we are thru, and that our lives must be regimented from cradle to grave and that a sparse existence based on scarcity of production be doled out to each of us. I denounce that defeatist line. . . . I say America is just beginning to grow."

Army Engineers Protect Levees Below Omaha

Omaha, Neb., April 16 (AP).—A seven mile line of levees protecting the Hamburg, Ia., area was being strengthened by army engineers tonight as the crest of Missouri river flood waters passed Omaha and bore down on communities downstream. Behind the dikes engineers, with the aid of railroad crews and volunteers, were preparing an old railroad fill as a secondary line should the levees fail.

URGES FREEDOM FOR WORLD NEWS IN PEACE PLANS

Ackerman Recalls Move at Versailles.

New York, April 16 [Special].—A plea for freedom of international communications after the war was made today by Dean Carl W. Ackerman of Columbia university in his annual report as head of the institution's graduate school of journalism.

Ackerman disclosed that recommendations for putting international communications on an equitable basis went unheeded at the Versailles peace conference after the World war, including in his report four hitherto unpublished documents sent to various government officials in 1918 and 1919 by Walter S. Rogers, director of the division of foreign press-cable of the committee of public information in the World war.

Tells of Note to Wilson.

The documents were memoranda sent to President Wilson, Secretary of the Navy Daniels, and the chairman of the committee on public information. In them, Rogers suggested that communications be arranged on "a fair and equitable basis," possibly including an international commission to supervise world cables.

"If heeded now, these beacons will light the course for the press and radio at the next peace conference," Ackerman said with reference to Rogers' suggestions. He urged that they be considered by the American Newspaper Publishers' association, the National Association of Broadcasters, the American Society of Newspaper Editors, and other interested groups.

"Freedom of international communications is an international issue which should be considered publicly at the next peace conference," he said. "The sponsor this time should not be one individual as in 1918-1919 but the whole press and radio industries of the United States.

Sees Limitless Opportunity.

"After this war, the opportunities of the press and radio to serve mankind will be limitless. Science, human abilities, and resourcefulness will combine to provide the people with access to powerhouses of knowledge unknown in the history of civilization."

He asserted the future of journalism is literally "in the air," adding that "scientific developments in aviation and electronics, via the air waves and the airways will have such a profound influence upon the press, radio, television, facsimilie and other instrumentalities of communication after this war that they will determine the extent and content of public education in politics, social and economic relationships and foreign affairs."

He commented that altho most of the developments in the electrical research laboratories are military secrets, members of the faculty and others who have seen television demonstrations and other radio appliances in the field of frequency-modulation are aware of developments which will "change again the changing newspaper of today."

"We have also participated in a survey of the airplane in relation to journalism," he said, "and noted the republication in distant cities of New York, Chicago and London newspapers, made possible by fast delivery of plastic mats or microfilms.

"We have watched experiments in the Caribbean, where airplanes, by island hopping, have delivered daily newspapers from one capital city to scores of other cities and communities heretofore without a full daily news coverage of world events."

CCC IS ACCUSED OF PROFITEERING ON BIG SCALE

Atlanta, Ga., April 16 [Special].—Tom Linder, Georgia state commissioner of agriculture, charges in the current state market bulletin that the Commodity Credit corporation is profiteering on American farmers by selling at inflated prices cotton and other crops taken over on government loans as far back as seven years ago.

Linder estimated the CCC has profited by 1 billion dollars in this way and said "the CCC has prevented the purpose for which it was created and has become a leech on the backs of the very people that congress intended to help.

"He asserted there would be no need of subsidizing farmers if the CCC would return money made on their crops.

Illustrating his point, Linder described the history of 252 bales of cotton, ownership of which was taken over by the government under CCC credit loans in 1937. The CCC loaned $11,048.89 on this cotton and sold the same cotton in 1943 for $25,961, he said. Deducting carrying charges and allowances for shrinkage, the CCC made a profit on this transaction of $11,549 he calculated.

"It was not intended that the CCC should speculate on farm crops," Linder said. "It was not intended that the CCC should pile up untold profits out of the crops which farmers produce. It was not intended for the CCC to be a pawnshop to take advantage of the farmer's necessity to rob him of his crops."

Linder closed his article with a recommendation that congress should take action to force the CCC to return to farmers any profits made on the sale of crops taken over on loans.

BIG SHOT WAR DODGERS

Said an Alabam customer the other night . . . "These folks who stay away from cabarets to escape the new 30% tax, give me a pain. Don't they realize that Congress wrote this tax bill to help pay for the war . . . not to discourage entertainment and encourage tax-dodging. Any one who can't or won't pay the 50 cents extra for your dinner . . . or the dime extra for a drink doesn't belong here in the first place . . . he should stay home, open a can of beans and turn on the radio." The "pup" that meets all trains

HIS home is in a little town—and the railroad station is a long trot away. But rain or shine, snow or sleet, this wistful dog is down there on the platform twice a day—waiting for a pal he's always sure the next train will bring back.

Again war has made the railroad station the focal point of life in America's cities, towns, and villages.

Brave good-byes are said there—excited greetings shouted. And over the glistening rails, by day—into the signal-lit, shadowy vastness of the far beyond by night—click the freights, the troop trains, the crowded limiteds, the fast mails of a nation speeding up its date with Victory.

Such are the trains that serve the towns and cities on The Milwaukee Road's 11,000-mile system. Between the Great Lakes and the Pacific north coast, in big city terminals and unpretentious depots, the story of America at war unfolds, in all its drama, day after day.

The Milwaukee Road is ever mindful of its duty to the men and women in the armed services. Their needs must and will be met. At the same time, The Milwaukee Road is making every endeavor to maintain adequate and dependable service for all the people in all its territory—and this goes for the "Way Station," where the pup meets all trains, as well as for "Big Town."

DRAFT MUDDLE IS CREATED BY U. S. OFFICIALS

Survey Discloses Many Conflicting Stands.

Recent charges that the draft situation is ruled by national confusion based on conflicting orders was confirmed yesterday by a survey of selective service pronouncements during the last year.

It showed that on April 2, 1943, Maj. Gen. Lewis B. Hershey, head of selective service, said the ban on drafting fathers would be lifted about July 1. Subsequent statements follow in chronological order:

April 12, 1943—Selective service in Washington, D. C., announced that men who became fathers before Sept. 15, 1943, were deferred until further notice.

June 1, 1943—Paul V. McNutt, chairman of the war man power commission, reports the United States has 8,300,000 in military service and 2,700,000 will be inducted by end of year to meet the goal of 11 million men.

McNutt Admits Violations.

June 8, 1943—McNutt admitted some local boards were inducting fathers in violation of draft regulations. He said this was the result of a misunderstanding of a "work or fight" order by WMC. This order directed fathers and others with dependents be drafted if employed in one of 70 nondeferrable occupations. McNutt said the only recourse of fathers was appeal.

June 15, 1943—McNutt moved to cancel occupational deferments for men between 18 and 25 and authorized employers to schedule release of fathers for military service by Oct. 1.

Aug. 3, 1943—Local draft boards were authorized in order by McNutt to begin drafting fathers by Oct. 1.

Fathers Granted Respite.

Aug. 7, 1943—WMC officials notified state boards that fathers would not be drafted until all other men subject to draft had been called. Announcement said that all states, as far as possible, would begin to draft fathers at the same time. In Sacramento, Cal., Hershey said that calling of fathers might vary as much as three months in different states.

Aug. 10, 1943—Hershey said the need for men was leveling off. He said monthly requirements would be 175,000 for the army and 100,000 for the navy compared with 600,000 to 700,000 men the year before.

New Policy Announced.

Aug. 15, 1943—New work or fight policy announced by WMC for all able-bodied fathers of draft age.

Aug. 24, 1943—Hershey announced probably 446,000 pre-Pearl Harbor fathers would be drafted between Oct. 1 and Dec. 31. He said the shortage of men to fill army and navy calls must be made up from then deferrable classifications.

Aug. 26, 1943—McNutt said fathers must go to war and hinted national service legislation might be necessary to offset a labor shortage.

Sept. 9, 1943—Hershey announced that it may not be necessary to mobilize as many men for the remainder of war. Said it was remarkable that the United States had obtained so many men for services and still had the number to carry on production.

Army Warns Senate Body.

Sept. 16, 1943—Army officials told the senate military affairs committee that any tampering with draft quotas thru deferment of fathers would require changes in war strategy planned for next year.

Oct. 31, 1943—Local draft boards expect to begin calling fathers to fill calls.

Nov. 19, 1943—Announcement in congress that army will require 548,000 fewer men and is turning back to federal treasury more than 13 billion dollars.

Nov. 29, 1943—WMC announced that army draft call for January would be twice figure expected, or 300,000.

Dec. 9, 1943—Hershey reported draft would continue six months more before estimated total in service reached 11 million 300 thousand.

President Signs Bill.

Dec. 11, 1943—President signed bill putting the pre-Pearl Harbor fathers at bottom of draft rolls.

Dec. 12, 1943—Local boards ordered to postpone induction of pre-Pearl Harbor fathers as long as possible by calling all eligible men in sequence of order numbers.

Dec. 19, 1943—Selective service announced two million more men must be drafted by July, 1944. Officials disclosed one million would have to be fathers.

Official Acts Confusing.

Jan. 28, 1944—Comdr. Patrick H. Winston, assistant executive to Hershey, announced that every physically fit pre-Pearl Harbor father not deferred because of holding a job in war production would be in uniform by July 1.

April 9, 1944—Selective service officials halt induction of all men over 26 in essential jobs.

April 10, 1944—Inquiry of Illinois draft officials concerning meaning of new order brought response they were waiting for clarification from Washington.

April 11, 1944—Hershey announced list of those under 26 to be deferred.

PICKET LINE CUT TO 12 AT WARD'S; POLICE ON SCENE

Picketing of the Montgomery Ward & Co. mail order plant at 619 Chicago av. by members of the United Mail Order, Warehouse, and Retail Employes' union, local 20 [CIO] was maintained yesterday, altho the number of pickets was reduced to a dozen. No nonstriking employers appeared for work, but several departmental supervisors passed thru the picket lines and into the buildings.

Lt. George Barnes, head of the police department's labor detail, patroled the strike scene early in the day and reported that the picketing was orderly. Union officials said that full picketing will be resumed today. The picket line of the strikers is limited to 42 persons by Superior court orders.

More than a thousand of the company's mail order and catalog department employes struck early Wednesday after refusal of the company to comply with a war labor board order to extend a contract with the union.

AMERICA AND THE NEXT WAR.

Americans who have sons in uniform want some assurance that war abroad will not come to them soon again. It would be strange if they did not ask for some better guaranty than they have had. Twenty-three years after their men had begun to take off uniforms tailored for Europe their sons were again drafted to fight on the soil of the incorrigible continent which has never learned how to preserve the peace beyond the adolescence of a single generation. This time Japan decided to reap a harvest which did not follow the plowshare, taking advantage of occidental homicide.

There has been no assurance given which could satisfy the demand for security. The American government continues to exploit unreal and delusive plans which have been repudiated in Europe by act and by declaration. The new world order has no dupes except in the United States. In the Atlantic Charter Mr. Roosevelt and Mr. Churchill put out a false prospectus. If as a business firm they had sold stock on such representations they could have been arrested for fraud under the laws of their respective countries.

Mr. Churchill must have been aware of his role in the transaction. Mr. Roosevelt with his eyes on his fame in history was romancing at sea. Mr. Churchill, playing for the high stakes of America's entry into the war, put his name to a promissory note he knew would never be honored. In his memoirs he may plead that inasmuch as Americans were to pay the fiddlers Mr. Roosevelt must be allowed to call the tune and presumably the American chief executive knew best what would charm his fellow countrymen.

In expiation the British prime minister and his associates in government have tried to cut the illusions short. Recently Mr. Eden explained that in future arrangements small nations may have a voice and will be heard, but that decisions must be made by powers able to enforce them. In this category he put Russia, Great Britain, the United States, and China. The voice China will have in European affairs could not be heard as a whisper by the most powerful imagination. It will probably be enough if the United States shoves its money under the door.

It is plain that decisions in Europe are to be made by Great Britain and Russia if they can agree. They have a 20 year treaty for such cooperation. Decorations added to this power house will not change it. If France again emerges as a considerable nation it, no doubt, will be welcomed into the arrangement and may be courted by both powers to obtain an advantage or dress a balance. It is already disclosed that the charter does not apply to any peoples, who, now subjects, want their freedom. It does not apply to any country whose territory is wanted for security or other reasons by one of the master powers. It does not apply whenever and wherever its effect would be to accomplish what it purports to accomplish.

It may be, altho this is not clear, that the new masters of Europe will be willing to set up some face hiding forms, councils, congresses, and courts which will give, as Mr. Eden observed, a voice to the small nations. It will be the form and not the substance. People in this country who still believe that out of the present sacrifices a new order will emerge to guarantee peace are wasting their hopes and their time. The new order will be the old order. The men who manage it will want peace, but they want it on terms advantageous to them. Experience would not allow them to think of peace beyond their times. They would not be justified, in their own judgment, if they tried to bind persons now unknown in circumstances which cannot be foreseen.

In making their peace they will almost certainly include causes of future wars. Frontier shifts and the taking of territory must always leave resentments and animosities. If America concedes in advance that it necessarily is involved in conflict when Europe finds new reasons for one the chances that the next generation of American boys will escape what their fathers and grandfathers did not escape are not good. Americans who want safeguards for the future can have them if they will bring about a change in the purposes of the American government. To do that they will have to change the government. Twice in 25 years they have been drawn within the orbit of Europe. It has been very costly business.

IMMUNITY OF OFFICIAL SCOUNDRELS.

A charge of criminal libel against Rives Matthews, editor of a country weekly in Princess Anne, Md., has been dropped. Matthews discovered and published the fact that J. Millard Tawes, a Democratic state official, had used "C" ration gasoline allotted him for his official duties to take a pleasure trip across several states. Tawes admitted the offense and his ration was revoked, but he then persuaded the state's attorney of Somerset county to procure the indictment of Matthews.

The case obviously was political persecution. It attracted national attention, and Elisha Hanson, counsel for the American Newspaper Publishers' association, joined the defense. As New Dealers invariably do when the light of publicity is thrown on one of their persecutions and they find that their intended victim is not as weak and friendless as they thought, Tawes backed down.

Meanwhile, a new state's attorney, Harry Dashiell, had taken office. He said that he dropped the case on the recommendation of Tawes. Even if Matthews had committed an offense, it was against the people of the state of Maryland, not against Tawes. If Tawes was injured personally, the remedy assigned him by law was a suit for civil damages. Tawes had no more right to recommend the dropping of a criminal prosecution in which he was only the complaining witness than did any other citizen of Maryland. By accepting his recommendation Dashiell openly confessed that the case from the beginning was an abuse of authority.

Matthews obviously has been injured. He has been put to expense to defend himself. He has been subjected to an unjustified charge of crime and now is denied the opportunity to disprove the charge in court. In simple justice, Tawes and every one else concerned should be punished for what they have done to him.

A grand jury voted the indictment. In most jurisdictions this would prevent Matthews recovering damages for false arrest. If Tawes lied to the grand jury, a charge of perjury could be considered. Our system of law gives wide immunity to public officials for their official acts because we want them to be free to go after wrongdoers without fear of reprisals. When we put rascals in office, we find that the same laws frequently protect them from being questioned for their abuse of power.

By filing his candidacy for the United States senate, Matthews has suggested a direct and simple remedy for official oppression. It is the political remedy. Its slogan is, "Turn the rascals out."

NO RIGHT TO RIOT.

An injunction to restrain the CIO strikers at the Montgomery Ward plants in Chicago from indulging in violence was issued on Friday by Judge Lupe in the Superior court. He ordered the number of pickets reduced to reasonable proportions after evidence was presented showing that citizens had been assaulted and abused when they attempted to enter the company's buildings. A police officer testified that the pickets were "an unruly mob."

The right to picket peacefully has been pretty generally recognized by the courts. Picketing, tho obviously intended to injure the picketed, is permitted under the constitutional guarantees of freedom of speech and assembly. There is no right to riot. The primary purpose of government and of law is to safeguard public order and permit citizens to go about their lawful business unmolested. A trade union has no more right to riot in furtherance of a strike than a band of hoodlums would have to prevent people from walking along Michigan avenue.

The CIO leaders are making great efforts to build a political machine which will attract support from voters who are not themselves union members. Sidney Hillman has been given the job of organizing for political action and more than half a million dollars of union funds has already been turned over to him for this work. It is curious that the leaders of the CIO have not realized that such riotous demonstrations as occurred last week will lose more votes than Hillman can corral even if his fund is increased ten-fold.

The ordinary citizen is inclined to be intolerant of strikes in war time. He thinks they make it harder to win the war, and more than that, he wonders why any one who is dissatisfied with his boss these days bothers to go on strike when a hundred other employers are taking on all applicants, and wages are the highest on record. Whether these popular attitudes toward strikes in war time are sound or not may be debated, but it cannot be doubted that they are widely held and that anybody who is looking for political advancement cannot safely ignore them. That, nevertheless, is what the CIO has done and, as if further to destroy confidence in its leadership, it has organized its riots. The record doesn't suggest that the labor leaders are oversupplied with political savvy.

WE LIVE AND LEARN.

In boyhood, the school geography that was an excellent concealment for first editions of Nick Carter and Old Sleuth taught us that the name of a certain Balkan state was Roumania. World War I. gave us to understand that it should be spelled Rumania. Now, in World War II., we are instructed that its mixed lot of citizens call it Romania. When in Moldavia and Walachia, it is wise to imitate the Romanians.

Reference to ancient and modern Rou-Ru-Romanian literature, such as it is, finds sanction for both the Ruman and the Roman forms. The latter seems to be the elder usage. See the land's earliest history, written in the 16th century: "Istoria tierei Romanesci de candu au descalicata Romanii." The language comes from Latin.

As descendants of the hybrid population of a remote colony of the Roman empire, blended thru the centuries with Dacians, Sarmatians, Scythians, Tartars, Huns, Turks, Armenians, and several varieties of Slavs, the Rou-Ru-Romanians, in recent years, have been swelling up their chests and thinking of themselves in terms of Julius Caesar. Hence the official adoption of the spelling that is now creeping into American newspapers. It appears on many recently printed maps.

A few years ago a small country in Asia, famed for white elephants and inseparable twins, served notice on every foreign office in the world: "Henceforth we will be known as Thailand." This was a serious blow to the circus industry. A showman who was the proud possessor of Siamese twins is alleged to have remarked: "Well, anyway, they're Thai-ed together."

* * *

Weep for Lemberg; that fine Polish city, famous in World War I., is no more. But it did not die under the bombers. It is now known, in its native tongue, as Lwow. To be pronounced the half-stifled bark of a Scotch terrier.

* * *

Bruenn, the Austrian name for the capital city of Moravia, must be self-determined in the public prints as Brno. Take it away, radio voices; we're not going to try to pronounce it. . . . And so the civilian front re-learns its geography.

It was not yesterday, but in the days when girls wore woolen skirts even in summer, had wasp waists, and wrapped themselves in the most amazing shirtwaists. They wore their hair in pompadours or dips over the eyes.

Little boys then were no different than now, except that they wore Buster Brown collars, coats cut away in front, and one boy had long auburn curls. He had a 25 cent ring which sparkled a lot when it was clean, but left a black mark on his finger. He longed for a ring that would not leave a black mark, an expensive one, like his mother's wedding ring. He kept asking our teacher if she thought his ring would show. After the 20th query she replied, "Young man, I shall be most surprised if anything but your ring shows in the picture." He helped her along, by holding his hand and the ring out in front of the camera.

Well, the ring is gone but not the memory, and the boy of the auburn curls and the Buster Brown collar is gone, too, on the poppy-strewn battlefields of France in the war of 1917-'18, tho his memory will live forever.

There was a ring, a little boy with auburn curls, and a battlefield, and now there are memories.

LI'L SISTER SAYS:

They said they bought him (maybe)?
They musta spoke in fun,
For who'd ever have a baby
If they had to pay for one.

It's Baby this an' Baby that,
They seldom think o' me;
I bet I'll pinch that little brat.
I'll do it, too, you'll see!

Now I'd advise them to get rid
Of him, and like as not,
Instead of havin' one more kid
They'd care for what they've got.

But if the little joker stays
There's one good thing, I bet,
He can't eat candy anyways;
At least—that is—not yet.

Footnote to an Epitaph.

Robert Louis Stevenson's poem, "Requiem," quoted [inaccurately] in Irvin S. Cobb's letter to be opened after his death, had a forerunner which may be considered as the author's first draft. It ran:

Now when the number of my years
Is still fulfilled and I
From sedentary life
Shall rouse me up to die,
Bury me low and let me lie
Under the wide and starry sky.
Joying to live, I joyed to die;
Bury me low and let me lie.

A WARM CLIMATE IN MULTIPLE SCLEROSIS.

MULTIPLE sclerosis remains one of the mysteries of medicine. The malady involves the central nervous system and its manifestations vary widely. In some cases, symptoms are transient—they come and go. In others, the disorder may progress rapidly. Not infrequently the condition will remain in status quo for years, only to blaze forth later in violent fashion.

Typical signs include fatigue, peculiar movements of the eyeball, tremors of the upper extremities and head, disordered gait, disturbances of speech, and marked emotionalism. One or more of these indications may be absent. Others, however, may advance steadily to the point of helplessness.

As we would expect, a large number of remedies have been employed and cures have been broadcast thru this or that drug or procedure. For the most part hope has been vain. The period of well being which is observed in various stages of the ailment merely occurred at that time. Nevertheless, whatever treatment was in vogue received the credit. I recall a case which improved so decidedly following drainage of the spinal canal that the same measure was tried on other patients with anything but happy results. A few years ago fever therapy was employed but this plan likewise has fallen by the wayside.

What are we dealing with? A destructive disease which requires for relief a rebuilding program. But here again we encounter a stumbling block. Those who are well nourished, in addition to those who are poorly fed, may be attacked. Hence diets high in fat and protein—and doubling the number of calories—all have been without avail.

The fact, however, that remissions are common leads us to believe that success lies in obliging the vital organs to function more efficiently. A victim may be going along comfortably and without undue hazard when suddenly an abrupt relapse will present itself. Recently Walter Freeman of Washington has reported on a series of cases in which the duration varied from a few months to several years. He concludes that prolonged rest is the most important factor in early treatment and that a warm locality and freedom from respiratory infections, is the best insurance against the onward march of the disorder. He believes that afflicted individuals can build their own immunity by sparing their nervous energy. This means giving up a competitive life in the business world.

One of his patients, a man of 30, was seen nearly 15 years ago. The illness had begun with headache, sore throat, sleeplessness, and fever. Seven years later symptoms included mumbling of words and an unsteady gait. The to-and-fro movements of the eyeballs were characteristic. When first studied [1930] the victim was thought to be in an advanced stage as he could not balance himself even with the eyes open. Vaccines were administered and he was advised to become as active physically as possible, walking as much as six miles per day.

Five years later he was definitely worse. He took little interest in life and was obliged to use a cane in order to get about. Early in 1938 he went to Florida. In 1939, to the amazement of every one, he was able to propel a tricycle. Shortly thereafter, when Freeman examined him, he found the patient well nourished and far steadier than he had been, for a decade. Speech was definitely better.

Apparently more can be done for these unfortunates if they can adopt an open air existence in a climate where seasonable changes are not abrupt and where the beneficial effects of sunlight may be obtained.

PIGEON-BREAST.

G. B. writes: I am 15 and when I was a baby I had rickets, which left my chest deformed. Is there any way these bones can be restored?

REPLY.

No. The best procedure is to develop your thorax with appropriate exercises. Adopt a comfortable but erect posture.

DEFORMED SPINE.

M. M. writes: What causes hunchback?

REPLY.

The term "humpback" means an abnormal curvature of the spine [kyphosis] below the region of the neck. Tuberculosis of the bone [Pott's disease] may be the cause.

NEEDS OXYGEN.

M. R. writes: What causes continuous yawning? I get enough rest.

REPLY.

Ennui, coupled with lack of oxygen. Vitiated or stale, overheated air is responsible frequently.

The Woman with a Book.

She's everywhere you look . . .
The woman with a book.

On Pullman diners at the table
With a piece of matted sable
Laid across a fleshy shoulder
Reading while the soup gets colder.
She doesn't lift her marcelled head,
Her hand gropes for a spoon instead,
And so she doesn't see the line
Waiting angrily to dine.

On hotel porches by the sea
Lean fingers grasp a history.
As stern a face as ever you'll meet,
This admiral of the rocker fleet.
She doesn't read, but thinks instead
Of how she tossed about in bed
From three a. m. till half past four,
That noisy party right next door!

Sprawled across a rumpled bed,
A forty-watter overhead,
A lonely girl reads pulps at night
[Where every romance ends just right].
She wishes that she had a lover
Like the young man on the cover;
Some one in the bucks, she asks,
So she can give up slinging hash.

A she-wolf in a hotel lobby
Indulges in her favorite hobby.
She simply holds a book in place,
Meanwhile scanning each new face.
When at last her prey is caught,
And dinner's just as good as bought,
She takes his arm, and looking coy,
Leaves behind her book decoy.

She's everywhere you look . . .
The woman with a book.

Happy Thought.

It was while carpenters were working on a new inclosure at the Travelers Aid desk in the Illinois Central station that the little boy came up. "You gonna have glass in this place?" he asked with considerable interest. "Yes," he was told. "Gee," he cried enthusiastically, "you can fill it up with water then and swim around like goldfish."

War Time Secretary.

A Los Angeles business man, who, having once been a newspaper man, still knows the secret of hacking out a letter on a typewriter with two fingers, accomplished this feat one Sunday recently and left a carbon of the letter on his secretary's desk for filing.

"I did," he responded.

"Gee," she exclaimed. "That's good enough for you to sit on my lap."

Easter Vignette in Retrospect.

[Seen by L. W.]

It was Easter morning, and against the backdrop of steamed windows on the street car the little couple hung tightly to the unsteady iron bar of the front platform. He was a Lilliputian soldier, the size of three tin soldiers, but it was obvious from the rakish tilt of his officer's cap, the eyelids weighted down over fierce brown eyes, the mouth branded with lipstick imprints, the wrinkled coat, the girl's red babushka hanging limply from his hip pocket, that he had had a large night. Droopy as his eyes were, they were only for the girl. She was more steady on her feet than he, and shyly returned his smiles with her smeared lips at the same time that she snapped black eyes at the ogling civilian close to her who leered her way with blue eyes inset in fat. The gaunt woman with the feather corsage and purple gloves set her orange lips in an ever straighter line, grasped her Bible more firmly under her arm, and stared with a look that seemed to say: "There ought to be a law." Then there was the man whose indifferent gaze was only for the street car tracks ahead . . . and the man, dressed for work and remote from all around him who read the newspaper estimate of casualties predicted for spring, 1944 . . . and then, like the blush of dawn of a new day, the promise of better tomorrows, the pink blanketed baby held tightly, serenely, in its mother's arms as she stood ready to alight from the car.

THE FLAG IN A PICKET LINE.

Chicago, April 12.—As a loyal and true American, an overseas veteran of the last war, I suggest that a bill be passed in congress prohibiting the use of the American flag in any union picket line.

The flag was never intended to be used by a gang of Communists to wave as protection for those who are bound and determined to destroy the principles and the country which the American flag represents.

I can look out of the window where I work and see the Communist CIO picket line in front of Montgomery Ward & Co., parading around waving the American flag. I believe it is one of the most disgraceful acts that can be aimed at the flag and believe it should be stopped at once.

WILLIAM H. MORROW.

HE'S FOR TAFT.

Seaman, O., April 13.—It is cause for rejoicing that the people of Wisconsin and Illinois have spoken so decisively on the question of America's meddling in international politics, and THE TRIBUNE is to be complimented on the heroic and efficient way in which you helped to guide the people back to true Americanism. It seemed a foregone conclusion that Willkie would be repudiated in Wisconsin, and now that Illinois has spoken there is reason to hope that the republic will be saved from those who would drag us into a super-world government. Thank you for your part in the rescue.

If we cherish America and desire to hold to our traditional Americanism, let the voters turn from the men and women of foreign sympathies and elect our Sen. Robert A. Taft to the Presidency next November. We Ohioans are proud of Gov. Bricker and will stand by him to the end, but it is my belief that we need Taft now above all others.

THE REV. J. C. STITZEL.

BOOBY TRAPS FOR TIRES.

Chicago, April 10.—Let me congratulate you for printing a letter written by Fred G. Koehler, president of the Ravenswood Improvement association, regarding the condition of our streets and alleys. This letter certainly touched a responsible chord in me, since my position requires me to cover a good many miles of Chicago's streets and alleys every day. I have never seen so many jagged holes and broken glass which are murderous booby traps for tires, which we are supposed to conserve as much as possible.

EDWARD V. WALSH.

POLITE RATION BOARD.

Chicago, April 8.—I wish to put in a good word for the much criticized OPA, especially the office in ward 31, located on Division st. near California av. They were most helpful and polite and, altho I came in on a Saturday morning to apply for three special shoe stamps, they did everything to put the application thru instead of telling me to come back next week, as they had every right to do.

MRS. B. D.

AN AMERICAN NEWSPAPER NEEDED.

Fontana, Wis., April 12.—The best news of the day is the announcement that THE TRIBUNE plans to start a newspaper in Milwaukee. Wisconsin, the most truly American state in the union, has long needed a real American newspaper. Congratulations on your victory in the recent primary here.

B. S. BIRDSALL.

DRAFT CONFUSION.

Chicago, April 7.—According to local draft board memo No. 115, issued from Washington as of April 7, "For registrants aged 30 and over, the requirements that a registrant must be a necessary man in war production or in support of the war effort will be applied less strictly with the increased age of the registrant."

Let's see now—wasn't it around about April 1 that something was said about using the threat of forced labor battalions to drive even those up to 45 years of age into war production, as well as the 4-F's? If war production does not need these "oldsters" of 30 and over and the burocrats are willing to excuse them from forced war labor, why does war production need the 4-F's and those up to the age of 45? Not that the burocrats need April Fools day to spring one of their well known cries of "wolf" and hopelessly confuse patriotic people who are intent on finding out just what is really needed to win this war. Surely, a lot of radio commentators and newspaper editors who sprang eagerly to assist the administration in this latest flimflamming of the public must have exceedingly red faces by now.

AN UNASHAMED 4-F.

ANOTHER ONE FOR LOUISVILLE?

Louisville, Ky., April 12. — Some months ago I wrote and suggested that your paper consider printing a Louisville edition, or opening up a plant here and printing a Republican paper which is sorely needed. In this morning's local Courier-Journal I notice that you have applied to the war production board for newsprint to start a new morning paper in Milwaukee. I feel quite sure that Louisville could support a good newspaper, particularly a Republican one, because the population is thoroly disgusted with our local Courier-Journal and Times and their general political policy.

E. P. WHITE JR.

SHEBOYGAN, TOO.

Sheboygan, Wis., April 13.—According to the news broadcasts you are trying to get a newspaper in Milwaukee which is a very good idea. However, my suggestion is this: Why not buy the Sheboygan Press so we, too, in Sheboygan, could have a good newspaper, and you could fire the pip-squeak who runs but who does not own the paper. We in Sheboygan can use a good American newspaper.

WALTER A. ELLINGER.

WANTS AN EVENING PAPER.

Milwaukee, Wis., April 13. — What Milwaukee needs most is another evening paper. Our morning Sentinel is ample and sufficient as a morning paper. However, we do need, and need badly, a good evening edition, and you could give us that I'm sure.

Joliet, Ill., March 10.—I am divorced from my husband, but we both hold a piece of land in joint tenancy. I should like to will my share of this property to my daughter. Will she receive it, or will my husband become sole owner upon my death?

FLYING AN ARMY MADE A SPEEDY, EXACT SCIENCE

arrier Command Shows Skill with Gliders.

BY FRANK STURDY.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Laurinburg-Maxton Army Air Base, N. C., April 16.—Airborne troops of the 1st troop carrier command, most modern of the striking forces in America's new army, have registered startling advances since the war began.

The extent of their training and the great strides made in transporting paratroopers and infantry by plane and glider was proved today in a three hour demonstration for newspaper men and radio commentators, arranged by the war department.

Despite the difficulties of communications and organization characteristic in liaison between airplanes and coöperating ground troops, no phase of the program was more than a few minutes off schedule, and the entire operation was concluded within 5 minutes of the appointed time.

Troops Delivered Quickly.

Every one of the operations was expressive of the ability of the air force to deliver shock troops to critical points quickly and accurately. The standard glider, the CG-4, carrying 15 men or a variety of equipment including the jeep or anything of similar weight, is towed by Douglas C-47 transport planes in combat tactics.

Twenty-two gliders, towed in pairs by 11 C-47s, were hooked up and gotten off the ground fully loaded in seven minutes. Troops used in this operation were the type that recently moved into Burma behind the Japanese lines.

An hour and 10 minutes later, exactly on schedule, the tows returned and were cast loose for a precision landing in an area 800 by 600 feet, simulating the small landing places likely to be found in combat. The gliders maneuvered in what would be considered suicidally small air space in civilian flying, gliding almost wing tip to wing tip and landing at intervals of five seconds.

Great Skill Shown.

All except five landed in the marked space. When they came to rest, wings overlapped and glider noses rested within inches of the tails of the ones landing first. The show was a proof of great skill. Pilots of the gliders are second lieutenants and flight officers in the main. They are rated to fly powered planes up to 200 horsepower besides the gliders.

In another demonstration of the work of the airborne forces in creating confusion behind enemy installations, paratroopers jumped from an altitude of 700 feet from C-47 planes. They floated down in beautiful formation, and with them came parachuted 75 mm. howizers.

For the first time a triple pickup of the CG-4 gliders was made on the fly by C-47s. The equipment used was evolved from that developed in making nonstop airmail pickups.

Three gliders were placed side by side, about 200 feet apart. Their nylon tow ropes were pulled out in front of them and stretched across upright poles resembling football goal posts. The transport planes raced in at 120 miles an hour, 20 feet off the ground, hooked the ropes with trailing grab irons, and had the gliders in the air with ground runs of little more than 100 feet.

Use Bigger Glider.

The air borne command has a larger and newer glider, the CG-13, carrying 28 men. The same pickup stunt succeeded with it, but caused a casualty when applied to a British glider of somewhat greater weight. Tow ropes used in picking up these heavy gliders are supplied with an emergency weak point, deliberately designed to break when the pick-up is too great. The first British Horsa test failed. The parted cable snaked thru the air, and struck a soldier cameraman several hundred yards ahead. Both his legs were broken. Half a dozen other cameramen in the path of the deadly cable flung themselves to the ground quickly enough to escape.

Many hundreds of wounded soldiers owe their lives to the troop carrier command's system of evacuation of wounded by air. The standard hospital plane is again the C-47, put to more varied uses than any other craft in the air forces. A trained crew loaded a dozen stretcher bearing men on an air ambulance in four minutes. Each ship is equipped with supplies, tended by a nurse whose training is probably more rigorous than that of any other army nurse, and fitted for the securing of 18 stretchers.

The air borne performance was convincing proof that the mechanics of transporting fighting men by air and supplying them with weapons and sustenance, has reached a high point of perfection. The limitation of these troops, however, is recognized. They are quick acting shock forces, lacking the heavy weapons without which no permanent occupation can be made in modern war. They are not expected to hold any position beyond five days, except under special circumstances. The jungle, where ordinary ground troops are often similarly handicapped, is a case in point.

GUZIK PROWLS AS DETECTIVES TAKE HIS TRAIL

Storms Wants His Story of 'Kidnaping.'

Whatever happened to Jack Guzik, Chicago's gambling and racket boss, in the two days between his reported kidnaping in Berwyn and his sudden reappearance late Friday night, Guzik's story of the incident will remain unchanged.

He made that clear yesterday as he drove about Chicago unarmed, in company with his son-in-law, Frank Garnett.

Meanwhile, Chief of Detectives Storms instructed his men that he wanted Guzik brought in for questioning about his experiences. The gambling boss was seen several times in his big sedan, but the detectives failed to find him. He made no effort to convince friends of the truth of his story that "I ran into a couple of fellows who wanted to talk to me and we went somewhere and talked awhile," but he indicated that he was under obligations not to change it.

Three Theories Considered.

He even took off his hat to show friends there was no truth in a report he had been beaten. He expressed annoyance at stories that he was disheveled and unshaven when he appeared in a drug store on Roosevelt rd. Friday night to telephone his lawyer that he was safe.

In the absence of additional information from Guzik, speculation surrounding his two day disappearance centered in three possible theories.

One, and the most popular theory is that it was a kidnaping for ransom, and that Guzik was released when the ransom was paid.

Another is that a one time New York racketeer used the kidnaping method to send word to Guzik that the ex-New Yorker intended to move into the Chicago gambling field.

The third theory is that Guzik, who is known to be wealthy, had announced his intention of quitting the rackets, and that the kidnaping was executed by his own men to demonstrate to him the impossibility of such a step.

Guzik Says Syndicate Is Dead.

Guzik, for his part, declined to add a single word to his story; but his friends said he called stories about a Chicago gambling syndicate a "pipe dream."

"There used to be a slot machine syndicate," they quoted him as saying, "but not any more. It's broken up into a lot of small operators. They telephone around and exchange information, but there's no syndicate any more. I got money invested in gambling houses, sure, and a lot of times when somebody wants to start a place, I'll put up some money and take a piece of it, but I never muscled into a handbook in my life. Ask any bookmaker and he'll tell you that's true."

Guzik Reputed Boss.

However, it is a matter of tradition among Chicago gamblers that the first step in opening a gambling establishment of any sort is to see Guzik and get the "go" signal.

Guzik again scoffed at reports that his wife and daughter-in-law were hurrying back from Florida. He said he talked with them by telephone yesterday and that they were remaining in the south.

As to reports of guards about his home, Guzik dismissed that with a wave of his hand. "What for?" he asked. "I ain't going home."

He said he was staying with friends. As to his being hard to find, he had a ready explanation for that.

Objects to "Pushing Around."

"Everytime I show up," he explained, "some cop starts pushing me around. Maybe they arrest me, and then I got to go to the trouble to get my lawyer out, just like last time out at Willow Springs. I just don't like to be pushed around, that's all."

Guzik was immaculately attired in a smartly cut blue pin stripe suit, an expensive hat, a handkerchief peeping from the breast pocket of his overcoat. He had one major complaint:

"Pictures," he said, "make me look fat. I'm not fat—just in good condition."

The FARM by Ben Markland

April 16, 1944.

THE usual spring nesting mixups are plaguing the farm flockmaster, who takes care of the chickens, ducks, and turkeys. About this time each spring the farm people put away their crossword puzzle books and detective novels and start trying to solve the mysteries of the barn yard.

Right now, for example, we have 66 turkey eggs in a near-by hatchery, 36 mallard duck eggs under two chicken hens; turkeys have hidden nests all over the yard; a chicken hen is trying to chase a turkey off her nest, and mallard and Muscovy ducks are sneaking around looking for nests of their own far away from Barnyard Town.

Hen Provokes Laughs.

The brash White Rock hen which is arguing with the massive White Holland turkey is giving the farm people the most laughs. The turkey, for some strange reason of her own, built a nest in a wooden crate in the garage. Now she has started incubating her nestful of eggs, and almost every day the chicken hen waits until the turkey leaves the nest for feed or water, then flutters up to the box and leaves an egg of her own.

This one comical chicken is the only White Rock which flies over the high wire fence to invade the duck and turkey area, and the flockmaster's wife is getting so tired of removing the chicken's eggs from the turkey nest that she is threatening to clip her wings to force her to stay at home.

Terriers Hard on Rodents.

Meanwhile the men on the Yorkville farm have been enjoying a circus of a different sort. The fox terrier dogs, Binks and Bubbles, were the star performers in this act. One day last week the men decided to clean the hog yard and in moving the metal feeder noticed a mouse. Before proceeding further they called Binks, who is 10 years old, and his son, Bubbles. The two terriers knew this was a call to action, since they've been the farm rodent killers on many similar occasions.

As the yard cleaning proceeded the men flushed eight mice and rats, and the active Bubbles caught and killed them all. Binks, whose age has slowed his speed and dulled his senses of sight and hearing, was only a foreman on the job, because the younger and more active Binks beat him to every kill.

A good pair of active terriers save many dollars for farmers every year, because they can pretty well control destructive rodents of all kinds. The men were saying the other day that they wish they had kept a record of all the grain destroying rats which these two dogs have accounted for in the last 10 years.

★ The GARDEN ★

GARDENERS who are planning to plant cabbage sets should consider methods of controlling cutworms during the early stages of growth. This is especially necessary if cutworms caused trouble last season in the garden or if the garden was not carefully weeded during the latter part of the season.

Cutworms cause the most damage when the plants are young and tender, therefore it's important that cabbage and tomato plants be protected when transplanted into the garden. An easy way to do this is to cut light cardboard into strips about two inches wide and long enough to circle the plant stems. When the plants are set out the strips of cardboard should be used as collars around the stems. The paper should be pressed down about an inch into the ground, providing a barrier to the cutworms.

HEADLESS BODY OF WOMAN FOUND IN OZARKS LAKE

Camdenton, Mo., April 16 (AP).—The hacked and headless body of an unidentified woman was found today in the Lake of the Ozarks, northeast of here.

Sheriff Jack Stotler said the head appeared to have been severed just above the mouth. The left leg was off between the hip and knee.

Nude, except for one stocking and a fragment of an undergarment, the body bore no clew to identification. Stotler described the woman as stockily built, black haired, about 5 feet 6 inches tall, and weighing about 150 pounds. The body had been in the water about a week. It was found by three fishermen.

3,000 CHICKS DIE AS $15,000 BLAZE DESTROYS HOME

The home of Paul B. Malebranche at 4700 N. Oak Park av., Norwood Park township, was destroyed early yesterday by fire that caused damage estimated at $15,000. Three thousand baby chicks in an adjoining hatchery at the rear were rescued from the flames, but died later of exposure.

Walter E. Schoenfeld, chief of the Norwook Park volunteer fire department, said Malebranche was awakened by dense smoke. When firemen arrived the house was a mass of flames.

The firemen ran their hose line 2,200 feet to the nearest fire plug. Chicago firemen, summoned by Cook county highway police radio, used two pumpers to draw water from a hydrant 4,000 feet away. The fire started in a chimney, firemen said.

Dress Simply Is Consensus Among Opera's First Nighters

BY JUDITH CASS.

CROWDS hurrying thru the bittersweet and gold lobby of the Civic Opera house; muted chimes recalling guests to their seats after intermission; and box parties in festive evening dress, seen infrequently these days—these familiar trademarks of opera in Chicago will come back to the opera house tonight when the Metropolitan opens its two week engagement.

How to dress for an opera opening in a season characterized by informality has been a subject for contention among those who will see tonight's performance of "Tristan and Isolde." "Dress but dress simply," seems to be the consensus among such seasoned operagoers as Mrs. Charles B. Goodspeed, Mrs. Richard T. Crane, and Mrs. Charles H. Swift. This would seem to indicate dinner dresses, altho Mrs. James G. McMillan has chosen a more formal gown of gold satin embossed in black, and Mrs. Edward A. Leight, full skirted pale pink lace.

The McMillans and their guests will dine at the Casino before the opera. Mr. and Mrs. George Channer Jr. will entertain at dinner for one of the Met's tenors, Armand Tokatyan. After the opera Miss Anna Fitzu, Mrs. Ernest Graham, and Mrs. Edna Kellogg are taking their box guests back to Miss Fitzu's studio for a Chinese dinner, at which the leading players of the "Oklahoma" company will be the special guests. Another midnight supper will be Mr. and Mrs. Fredrik A. Chramer's at the Kungsholm, for their house guests, Mr. and Mrs. Lauritz Melchior, and other Met stars.

Among the many others who will be in tonight's audience are Mrs. Henry Bartholomay, Fred A. Poor, the Abner Stilwells, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Hall McCormick, the James C. Thompsons and Mayor and Mrs. Edward J. Kelly, who will entertain in two adjoining boxes; the Arnold Kirkebys and Mrs. Freeman Hinckley.

The Illinois Opera Guild juniors have taken over the bar on the box floor of the opera house for a tea and reception next Sunday for Patrice Munsel, youngest member of the visiting company. The party will follow a concert which Metropolitan and Chicago opera stars will give at 3:30 p. m. to raise money for the Chicago company's season next winter. The following day Les Rosettes et Rubans will entertain at 3:30 p. m. at the Casino for three of the Met's French stars, Lily Djanel, Raoul Jobin, and Martial Singher.

Engagements Announced.

At a family buffet supper party last night in their home in Evanston, Mr. and Mrs. Walter J. Johnson announced the engagement of their daughter, Martha Estelle, to Charles B. Goes III., of the army. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Goes Jr. of Delavan, Wis. Miss Johnson was graduated from Roycemore and Bradford Junior college and received her degree last year from the University of Chicago. Her fiancé was graduated from Culver and attended Lawrence college.

Mr. Goes is leaving today for his post at Drew field, Fla., after spending his furlough at home. His sister, Dorothy, who will be graduated next month from Smith college, missed last night's party, but she and her brother had a reunion when she was home on vacation for Easter.

At an Easter breakfast party at the Edgewater Beach hotel Mr. and Mrs. William L. Ayers of Winnetka announced the engagement of their daughter, Helen Adele, to Petty Officer S. Braddock Quincy of the naval reserve, son of Mr. and Mrs. William S. Quincy of Mount Vernon, N. Y. Mr. Quincy visited here last month while on leave from active sea duty. Miss Ayers was graduated from Monticello college. Mr. and Mrs. Ayers recently sold their home in Winnetka, and some time in June they will be moving to Mexico with Miss Ayers and their son, William Ross Ayers.

Henry Michael O'Hare of Evanston has announced the engagement of his daughter, Lorraine, to Paul Hazlitt Davis Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Davis of Kenilworth. The wedding is planned for June 14 in Evanston, and Mr. Davis and his bride will live on the north shore. Miss O'Hare attended St. Scholastica and Northwestern university. She is a daughter of the late Mrs. Nellie Cunningham O'Hare. Young Mr. Davis attended Culver Military academy and was graduated from the University of Chicago.

Today's Calendar.

The annual meeting and election of the American Opera Society of Chicago will be a tea at 2:30 p. m. today in the home of Mrs. Ralph Cornelisen. At 3 p. m. Mrs. Virginia Nahigian, harpist, will give a program.

The Wilmette center of the Infant Welfare society will observe its 30th anniversary with a luncheon at 1:30 p. m. today at the Georgian hotel, Evanston, to pay tribute to the center's founders and members of the senior auxiliary. One of the original members, Mrs. C. P. Evans, will be present, as will Miss Sarah B. Place, superintendent of infant welfare, and Mrs. Pope Dodge, new president of the woman's auxiliary.

During the next two weeks friends of Clarence B. Mitchell will be dropping into the Ackermann galleries at 408 S. Michigan av. to see an exhibition of his natural color prints that opens there today.

Nearly 1,400 Chicagoans have taken tickets for the annual luncheon, card party, and book review of the Mary Crane league at 12:30 p. m. today at the Edgewater Beach hotel. Sarah Weidner Youngren will give the book review.

Another large benefit today is the annual bridge party at 1:30 p. m. in the Gold Coast room of the Drake hotel to raise money for St. Mary's Home for Children, Episcopal institution which cares for girls between 6 and 16. Mrs. George W. Traver, chairman of the board, is in charge of arrangements.

Births Announced.

Mr. and Mrs. Edward C. Walter of Wilmette are being congratulated on the birth of a son, David Charles, on April 10 in the Evanston hospital. The baby and his little sister, Joanne, are grandchildren of Thomas H. Holton of Winnetka and of the E. G. A. Walters of Wilmette, who will not meet young David until their return from Florida in June.

Lt. and Mrs. James J. McNulty Jr. [Marguerite Cleary] have named their first child, born on April 11 in the Evanston hospital, Patrick Sheridan. While Lt. McNulty is on active duty with the naval air force, his wife and baby will be staying with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. James M. Cleary, in Kenilworth.

Mrs. Reuben Thorsen and Morris Frank, vice president of the Seeing Eye school at Morristown, N. J., with Buddy II., Mr. Frank's Seeing Eye guide dog. A campaign to raise money for the school thru enrollment of 1,000 members will open tomorrow. Mrs. Michael Cudahy and Mrs. Albert F. Madlener Jr. are co-chairmen of the drive. Huntington B. Henry heads the Chicago Seeing Eye committee.

Thru the Looking Glass

Sweet-smelling and heady as a spring day, a white hyacinth fragrance series is the perfect answer for the woman who is looking for something light and gay to go with her spring and summer clothes. It's time, you know, to put away your heavier, winter perfumes and colognes and get something more in tune with the present season.

Floral scents are always appropriate to wear with light clothing and there is no prettier fragrance than hyacinth when it is translated in all its gentle sweetness, as it is in the series we have in mind. A too saccharine scent is naturally tiring, and because they avoid this pitfall so artfully and at the same time retain the true perfume of the flowers, we think these hyacinth items are noteworthy. It's a clean and fresh sort of fragrance with a flavor of romance, somewhat shy and a mite sentimental. These overtones are not so pronounced, however, that the perfume or cologne are not perfectly appropriate for daytime wear.

The series is well rounded, including perfume, cologne, and dusting powder, and the hyacinth perfume even distinguishes a face powder, dry rouge, and lipstick. They form a delightful unit and will satisfy any woman who likes to have all her beautifiers bear the same perfume. The perfume, cologne, and dusting powder hold the scent beautifully, and used separately or together, they weave a web of loveliness about the person. The cosmetics in the family are of excellent quality and established character.

If you've a spring bride on your list you might keep this white hyacinth group in mind as a present for her—she'll love getting one or all of the items.

D. A. R. Honors 2,510 Dead at N. Y. Services

New York, April 16 [Special].—An impressive religious prelude to the 53d continental congress of the Daughters of the American Revolution was participated in today by hundreds of delegates and guests who have arrived early for the meeting. Dressed in white, a vanguard of young women, who are to serve during the four day congress as pages, filed into the grand ballroom of the Commodore hotel and formed a living cross during a service in memory of the 2,510 members of the society who died within the year.

The traditional memorial was marked with particular significance, for this year the society lost Mrs. Annie Knight Gregory, who was the last "real" daughter, being of the first generation of sons and daughters whose fathers fought in the American revolution. Mrs. William H. Pouch, president general, was present for the service, which was conducted by Mrs. William Henry Belk of Charlotte, N. C., the chaplain general.

Another ceremony held in the hotel today was the formal presentation to Mayor Fiorella La Guardia of a sapling elm, a "great grandchild" of the historic elm under which Washington took command of the colonial army. The tree, a gift to the city for its hospitality to the society, is planted in Fort Tryon park, old revolutionary fort at the north end of Manhattan.

One of the larger state dinners in the hotel tonight was that of 230 Illinois delegates and guests. Mrs. J. DeForest Richards, Illinois state regent, introduced Mrs. Samuel James Campbell, Illinois candidate for the office of president general, at the dinner.

Preliminary to the formal opening of the congress tomorrow night, in the Waldorf-Astoria, 800 delegates will visit the marine hospital at Ellis Island in the morning to observe the occupational therapy work financed by the D. A. R., which is being carried on there for disabled members of the merchant marine and coast guardsmen. A large national defense forum at the Commodore in the afternoon will set the stage for the congress.

Two Recitals Keep Devotees of Dance Busy

BY CLAUDIA CASSIDY.

Rival dance recitals increased crosstown traffic Sunday as some of the more insatiable fans divided their time between Sybil Shearer's performance at the Goodman and Ruth Page's and Walter Camryn's at the Civic, which had an extra added attraction in Staff Sgt. Bentley Stone, here on leave from the army air corps. The military life has damaged neither Mr. Stone's dancing nor his sense of humor. In fact, "Zephyr and Flora," the familiar Page-Stone parody on the hearts and flowers school of ballet, was funnier than ever, because it let you do the laughing.

On the whole, comedy got the best of things in the second half of the Civic program. Mr. Camryn and little Billy Reilly danced a hilarious buck and wing medicine show, called "Dr. Eli Duffy's Snakeroot," which could be wisely trimmed into a triumph. Mr. Camryn exhausted his invention before his energy ran out, but his early pantomime of a panacea was brillant comic dancing, far more consistently secure in style than his classic work in the Haydn ballet designed as an exercise for some of the talented girls of the ensemble.

I'm still not convinced that Miss Page's venture of combining diseuse and dancer is anything more than a whim. Her performance of Langston Hughes' "Death in Harlem" to Lehman Engel's score was oddly incongruous, like a saucy soubrette dressed as Lulu Belle, playing Carmen. The surrealist jibe "Delirious Delusions," slipped quickly into burlesque, but the Page-Stone "Liebestod" was so richly costumed and so effective in the plastic opening and closing moods I would like to see it all done in that sculptured style withou the distracting acrobatics.

More than any other dancer I know, Sybil Shearer works with and from her ankles. Her strength seems to be focused in them, pouring the ease of power into every movement. She is a distinguished dancer, with a superb technique of her own, and able to work in abstractions or illustrations almost at will.

Her opening dances to music of Bach, beautifully played by a piano and strings, had a flowing sense of free movement that refused to traffic with posturing. The Corelli Pastoral was almost a ritual, luminous and lyrical in the soft brown and green of the quiet earth. Two of the episodes to Dane Rudhyar's music were intensely, illuminatingly graphic.

"You Can't Eat Your Cake" was an etching in indecision, a tentative edging to the precipice, the vertigo of doubt, the indecisive withdrawal, the slump into indifference. It was magnificent mime, concentrated in those amazing ankles, but rivaled by the sketch called "As a Twig Is Bent." Nothing more than a beaten child of the tenements, a victim of cruelty who goes from fear to sullenness, defiance, belligerence, and cruelty on her own account, with scarcely more than the twitching of a body grown suddenly slight.

Hilda Banks' Piano Debut Wins Praise

BY ALBERT GOLDBERG.

One of the peculiarities of the present musical season has been the number of pianistic prodigies who have felt the urge—or have been urged, which is something else—to display their talents in public. If not the natively most gifted of the lot, Hilda Banks, who played at Kimball hall yesterday afternoon, may claim a degree of maturity well in advance of her 16 years.

Miss Bank's accomplishments are of a sort to inspire respect. Her command of the keyboard tends to fluency, clarity, and tonal suavity rather than to extreme brilliance. She has already learned, and learned well, that best of all lessons for a young musician—to respect the composer. Only once, in a portion of Chopin's C sharp minor Scherzo, did she wander dangerously far from her text. For the rest, she was content to play the music as it was written, which resulted in a particularly faithful reading of Beethoven's Sonata in D minor after a sturdy beginning with Bach's Fantasie in C minor.

Her way with Chopin discovered much of the essential poetry of the music, profiting by frequent tonal effects of real beauty. It is, in fact, this command of a varied tonal palette that is at present her most distinguished asset. Sometimes enthusiasm and perhaps carelessness distract her from this obvious intention to produce a beautiful tone, but once she has mastered the more strenuous inflections as well as the gentler ones, this quality in her playing will make it outstanding.

The program proceeded on a mounting curve of excellence thru six "Visions Fugitives" of Prokofieff and two excerpts from Schumann's Fantasy Pieces until it came smack against an insurmountable obstacle in the young woman's own composition, "Adventures of a Melody." Starting nowhere in particular, this set of so-called variations circled aimlessly in dissonance so dreary that a simple tonic chord would have been a real adventure.

Orthodox Churches Keep Easter with Colorful Services

Probably no more colorful observance of Easter has been held in Chicago during the last fortnight than that of the city's Greek Orthodox or Eastern rite churches yesterday. It is estimated that more than 150,000 adherents of these churches, Russian, Greek, Yugo Slav, Sherbian, Ukranian, and others observed the sacred feast.

Worshippers gathered at their darkened edifices late Saturday night to await entrance of the priest or bishop at midnight, carrying the only light, a taper, signifying the light of the resurrection. As the ancient Byzantine "Hymn of the Resurrection" was sung phrase by phrase, first by the celebrant and then assisting clergy and finally by the choir, an assisting priest lighted a candle from the celebrant's taper which he carried on to other priests and then the congregation.

700 Breakfast at Madonna Center Benefit

BY KATHRYN LORING.

The 21st Madonna center benefit, a breakfast given yesterday in the grand ballroom of the Stevens hotel, brought an approximate 700 guests—proof that there must be a bit of truth to the old belief that seven and its multiples are indeed lucky numbers! But, of course, the luckiest number will be known when the 700 is multiplied by the profit from each ticket—giving the total sum realized to carry on the work at the settlement house at 712 S. Loomis st.

Belated arrivals and last minute reservations created an unexpected flurry in table rearrangements, and even under the direction of Miss Mary Agnes Amberg, who has been resident at the center for almost thirty years, and her energetic assistant, Miss Marie Plamondon, a full hour elapsed before the ballroom finally was made ready.

This is the second year that a breakfast has been given instead of the traditional dinner-dance, but the change has seemed to make no difference in the liveliness of the affair. There were strolling musicians to serenade the tables, and Miss Mary Jane Brummell, in a sailor of white taffeta with tiny pin stripes of red, blue, and green, and taffeta gloves to match, directed the 50 young cigaret sellers of her junior committee.

Among those at the tables were Thomas Condon, president of the center, and Mrs. Condon, the latter with a striking red cabbage rose on her hat that matched the red figure in her dark crepe dress; Judge and Mrs. Michael Igoe; Mrs. Paul Poole, who wore brown orchids on her silver fox jacket, and Mrs. George F. Douaire, in a black and white print dress with a black round velvet collar. Mr. and Mrs. Thomas J. Fleming, Mr. and Mrs. James Coston and Mr. and Mrs. Walter Roney were in a party together, as were Mrs. Leo P. Cummings, her three daughters—the Misses Mary and Frances Cummings and Mrs. Edward Fitzgerald—and Lt. John Begley. Miss Lindy Lou Canepa came with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. John V. Canepa. Mrs. John McGuire, the youthful chairman of the benefit; Miss Jeannette Hurley, Miss Marianna Bolognesi, Miss Beth Coleman, Lt. [j. g.] Spencer Roberts, Laurence Heffrey of the navy, Ensign Anna Lavin of the WAVES, and Mr. and Mrs. George Trevor, were others at the breakfast.

Four Urgent Needy Cases Told by Sally

BY SALLY JOY BROWN.

[Activities of the Sally Joy Brown department are sponsored by Chicago Tribune Charities, Inc.]

We hope that readers who have unused baby furniture will not store it away and forget about it, because requests for such items are numerous.

A typical case is that referred to us by Miss B., a social worker. She is eager to obtain a baby buggy for a 6 months old child. The baby's father contracted tuberculosis and is now in a sanitarium. Physicians consider it important that both the mother and child be outdoors as much as possible, but without a buggy this would be extremely difficult for the young mother. The address is on the near north side, and the agency will arrange transportation.

Mrs. M., on the near southwest side, is in need of a baby buggy, a training chair, and several large size baby beds. Her husband was discharged from service because of a nervous disorder and is unable to do strenuous work of any kind. Their four small children are badly in need of the above mentioned items, which their parents cannot provide.

Miss X. has been caring for an invalid sister for many years and all of her money has been used for necessary medical expenses. She is now in straitened circumstances and unable to purchase anything but actual necessities. Because her sister has been sick for a long period, their bedding supply has been depleted and she would be very grateful for fresh bedding of any kind.

If any reader has a truss, size 37, Mr. H. would be grateful for it. He is 70 years of age and is receiving an old age pension. On his income he is unable to purchase a new truss, and the one he is now using is beyond repair. His left side is ruptured.

Looking at Hollywood

—By Hedda Hopper—

HOLLYWOOD, Cal., April 16.—Maj. William Wyler got the Academy award for "Mrs. Miniver," but his greatest honor comes thru the United States army. His "Memphis Belle" is playing nine houses in our town at the same time. It's superb! . . . Veronica Lake won't do another picture until November—maybe not then. Little "Shut Eye Goldilocks," by her shenanigans, added $200,000 to the cost of "Bring On the Girls." The day is past when even big stars can get away with that. . . . Congratulations to Greer Garson! She had a dinner date with a widely known producer. When she arrived he was there, and sitting with him was Charlie Chaplin. She greeted her host, said how sorry she was she couldn't stay, and left. Remember Greer is a British subject, too. Speaking of Chaplin, I'm told Oona's blessed event won't and that all is not well inside the Chaplin household. In fact, there are days when they don't speak as they pass by.

He Works for it.

Darryl Zanuck's eastern trip next week, among other things, is to get government consent to interview Nazi prisoners of war. He believes a mighty good picture could be done about our treatment of war prisoners and the contrast with how ours are treated over there. You wouldn't think he'd have any difficulty getting permission to do a story of this sort. But you'd be wrong. . . . The Hays office won't pass the title "The Affairs of George Sand" instead of "Chopin." Why not "The Loves of George Sand?" . . . Claudette Colbert left for Salem, Ore., to spend a month with Comdr. Joel Pressman. When he was certain she would be coming he went looking for a larger apartment and found one with a regular bedroom. Then the manager said, "I'm sorry, sir, but where will Miss Colbert sleep her maid and press agent?"

He Picks the Winners.

Michael Arlen can't get anybody to bet with him. He's too lucky. In January he made a bet with Edgar Selwyn, $500 against $1,000, that the war would be over March 1. Edgar died two weeks before time limit. . . . It's nice to hear Betty Blythe has made a personal hit in "Public Relations" in New York. Betty was one of our most seductive silent sirens. While this play won't last, it undoubtedly will lead to bigger things for Betty. . . . Abbott and Costello went to see what was cooking on "A WAVE, a WAC, and a Marine" set on their day off. And they're proud of their pal, comic Red Marshall, who also hails from burlesque. They predict an overnight success for him. There on the set, too, was Elyse Knox sporting new silver wings from Lt. Tommy Harmon.

Metro's Elephant Boy.

Most folks believe the voice advertising "See Here, Private Hargrove" belongs to Wallace Beery. Tain't so. It's the voice of Frank Whitbeck of Metro, whose pets always were elephants. He called his favorite "Queenie." She died in a fire. His assistant, who is rather rotund and on the plump side, also goes by the name of "Queenie." Whitbeck, in days gone by, thought a bale of hay was the finest present in the world. . . . Ann Lehr, "mom" of the Hollywood guild canteen, is sponsoring a group of her boys formerly connected with the theater. They will put on stage shows here. . . . The Chinese actor, H. T. Tsiang, likes using big words, but doesn't always get the right meaning. In discussing various actors, Paul Muni's name came up, and he said, "Ah, he great actor. Play parts fine. Unnaturally." . . . Sgt. Tom Loew of Scranton, Pa., tells me the best trip he ever had was with Hedy Lamarr. He and five buddies were visiting her in her portable dressing room when Hedy was wanted on another stage. They all stayed on in the dressing room and went for a ride together. . . . Dorothy Shay hasn't reached pictures yet, but she's doing a bangup job with Alec Templeton on the radio.

'Good Night, Sweet Prince'

. . . By Gene Fowler

(Copyright: 1943-'44; By Gene Fowler; Published by Arrangement with Viking Press, Inc.)

SYNOPSIS: John Barrymore was born to a great theatrical heritage. His father, Maurice, was one of the finest leading men of the time. His mother, Georgianna Drew Barrymore, was a competent comedienne. John's grandmother, Louisa Lane Drew [Mum Mum to the children], was a distinguished actress, and her sons—Sidney [Uncle Googan] and John—were likewise successful. The young Barrymores followed their family tradition with reluctance, yet John, Lionel, and Ethel all became fixtures of the entertainment world. John married Katherine Corri Harris, a young debutante. Then in swift succession came stardom in roles of increasing importance; his first divorce; a memorable interpretation of "Hamlet"; marriage to the poetess, Michael Strange; a breakup of that marriage, and a golden period of picture production in Hollywood. Barrymore met and married Dolores Costello, a former chorus girl. This partnership, happy at first, soon deteriorated, tho two children were born. There were quarrels over Jack's drinking. His health declined and his memory became impaired.

INSTALMENT XXXVII.

THE FLIGHT.

Dolores now advised her husband to enter the Good Samaritan hospital. Jack received this suggestion almost indifferently, then yielded. He remained at the hospital from May 17 until June 4, 1934, under treatment by Dr. Samuel Hirshfeld, Dolores' own physician at that time.

Laboratory and other tests were made, and it was determined beyond question that Barrymore was not a paretic. We mention this to refute the careless, if not malicious, reports of such persons as have easier access to gossip than to documented facts.

Then, to rule out another potentiality, that of the existence of a brain tumor as a possible cause of Barrymore's memory defect and his occasional uncertainty of gait, the physician in charge called into consultation Dr. Samuel D. Ingham, neurologist, afterward president of the section of neurology of the American Medical association. Dr. Ingham found no organic disease present in Barrymore's central nervous system.

Dr. Hirshfeld said, as others had before him, that drink was the basic cause of Barrymore's trouble and added that the patient had a Korsakow syndrome—a loss of memory of recent events. This condition was first described in 1889 by Dr. S. S. Korsakow, an eminent Russian neurologist. The most recent available opinion on the syndrome is that it is caused by a toxemia, the result of a circulating poison that has a specific affinity for brain tissue. It is not, in a strictly scientific sense, regarded as insanity.

It is the opinion of several experts that as late as 1934 Jack could have been cured of his loss of memory and certain other physical ailments, such as enlargement of the liver. It is believed that his memory would have returned unimpaired, with the possible exceptions of such recollections as he might wish to blot out for neurotic or hysterical reasons.

Drug addiction, it is said, can cause loss of memory. Jack was at no time a user of narcotics. Nor do the authorities whom I have interviewed believe that injuries to Barrymore's head had anything to do with his memory defect.

In later years Jack sometimes, but not always, would forget, when halfway thru a recital, what immediate subject he was discussing. Then he would enlist his great inherent dramatic art to divert the attention of his listeners. His "ad libs," on or off stage, would arrest the interest of an audience until Barrymore regained the traffic lane of his narrative. It was as if he had skidded off the road to a soft shoulder beside it, then struggled back again to the solid pavement. Sometimes he could not get back. Then it would seem that the roadbed of memory itself had been sabotaged.

When acting in pictures following the "Hat" debacle of 1934, it became necessary for him to read his speeches from blackboards held by an athletic fellow, who would dash about the set, out of range of the camera, but always within eye shot of the unretentive Barrymore. Even so he did not always know the story of the play, but by virtue of his immediate art he could give the blackboard line such rich interpretation and inflection as to make up for its dramatic dependency upon what preceded or what followed it.

On June 4 it was agreed that Jack might benefit somewhat by a nonalcoholic cruise on his yacht. Barrymore, his wife, children, their maid, and Jack's special nurse left Glendale by train for Vancouver, there to board the Infanta.

At the railway station Barrymore asked Helios Hotchener, his manager, to be sure to keep in touch with him by telegraph or wireless. Dolores, on the other hand, instructed Hotchener "not to try to keep in touch," adding that from this time on she was taking complete responsibility for her husband's health.

Aboard the Infanta, and with the usual source of alcohol now denied him, Barrymore drank Dolores' perfume, downed all the mouthwash available, and even partook of a bottle of spirits of camphor.

On the evening of July 20 he telegraphed Hotchener from Prince Rupert:

"Let us meet at Georgia hotel, Vancouver, Wednesday, 25th. Important."

On the appointed day Hotchener stood on the wharf at Vancouver as the Infanta anchored and the Barrymores came ashore in the launch. Jack appeared to be relieved at seeing his manager, but Dolores seemed astonished if not annoyed.

Later that day at the hotel Jack complained of "feeling tired and thirsty." He asked for a glass of beer. When he said "beer" Dolores told him, "Not a drop of it!" He remarked that a little beer couldn't possibly harm him. Then Dolores announced that if she ever caught him drinking again she would leave him and take the children with her. Jack winced at this, wiped the perspiration from his forehead, then ordered ginger ale.

After Dolores had left the hotel to do some shopping for the children, Jack told his manager that he felt he was "being kept a prisoner on the boat."

Several weeks after the Vancouver consultation the manager received a telegram from Jack stating that something serious had happened on the boat. The actor wired that he would arrive alone on his yacht at Long Beach on Aug. 24.

There are divergent opinions as to what actually happened on the day of the "trouble" aboard the Infanta. This much is clear: Jack's nurse received a broken nose, threatened suit for damages, and some time afterward was given $3,000 out of court.

Jack's version of the fracas was that he had decided to leave his cabin to go ashore when the Infanta again dropped anchor at Vancouver. He declared that the nurse had barred his way and that Dolores had come to the woman's assistance. In an effort to push the door open, he said, he accidentally put his elbow in the nurse's face; she had reeled against Dolores, who fell to the deck. Then Jack "escaped" and went ashore. Dolores left with the children that evening by train for California.

On the following Sunday, Aug. 26, Barrymore asked that his manager come with all speed to the Barrymore estate. Jack warned him to approach Tower rd. as quietly as possible and slip unseen into the office over the garage.

The manager arrived there to enter upon a five hour secret conference with Barrymore.

"I am not drinking," the actor said at the beginning. "There are times when a man does not dare drink. This is one of them."

Jack alleged that he had overheard on his telephone extension a conversation between Dolores and her physician. He pictured his wife as having been angry and determined. She had said, Jack told his manager, that something must be done to safeguard the children and herself.

Jack added that he had overheard Dolores and her physician arrange for a group of specialists to examine Barrymore. This meant, in Jack's opinion, that he might be judged mentally incompetent.

"This kind of thing," Jack said, "once happened to a close friend of mine in the east. My friend was privately examined by physicians. A few days later a petition was signed by his wife. It was presented to court, then signed by a judge. My friend was put into an institution. Finis! He never came out of it."

"But," said Hotchener, "are there any reasons for your belief?"

"Yes," Jack replied. "Dolores is no longer in love with me." Then he said with slow emphasis, "I deeply loved her, as you know. I love my children and this home. Another domestic smashup is proving too much for me. I think the fateful seven year period that dogs my marriages is ending once again. This is the third bus accident, and it doesn't look as tho I can bounce out of it."

Then he said, "I would be a damned fool not to get out of California and the jurisdiction of its courts as quickly as possible. Let's blow!"

Acting Saves Musical Film; Comedy Mystery Is Routine

"TROCADERO."

A Republic picture, featuring Rosemary Lane, Johnny Downs, Dick Purcell, and Sheldon Lewis, directed by William Nigh, and presented at the Oriental.

By Mae Tinee.

Good Morning!

KIND: "B" musical.

ACTING: Excellent—with the exception of Marjorie Manners' completely bla impersonation of a society girl. One regrets the recent passing of Dick Purcell, always a reliable and engaging actor.

DIRECTION: Satisfactory.

SETS, PHOTOGRAPHY, SOUND: No kicks.

MUSIC: Naught to write home about.

STORY: The manager of the stylish Trocadero night club tells a newspaper man out in search of a "success story" how the club grew to its present status from the little acorn of a one horse place of entertainment which once it had been. . . . Fadeout and back to the days when the Trocadero was the Rocadero—named for its owner, a genial Italian, whose adopted children now manage the place which had been all he'd have to leave them when he died. . . . Rather a dull chronicle.

AUDIENCE APPEAL: You like the cast and so aren't too bored with the vehicle.

"THE GHOST THAT WALKS ALONE."

A Columbia picture, directed by Lew Landers, with Arthur Lake, Janis Carter, and Lynn Roberts, and presented at the Woods.

KIND: Comedy mystery.

ACTING: Average. But, that fearsome threesome, Frank Sully, Warren Ashe, and Arthur Lake, amused audiences by their painful antics and facial expressions upon discovering they have a dead body on their hands.

SETS, PHOTOGRAPHY, SOUND: Okey.

STORY: The case of a fast failing radio program follows honeymooners Arthur Lake and Lynne Roberts to a mountain lodge in order to rehearse the show. During the night the producer is found dead and the discoverers hide the body, hoping to lure out the murderer. However, things go awry when the body disappears and later turns up in the city, locked in a trunk. Incidents happen thick and fast with a jittery eccentric old lady and a zombie-looking houseman helping to keep up the suspense.

AUDIENCE APPEAL: If you thrive on detective thrillers, turn out lights for spooky radio programs, or are shopping about for a breathtaking murder mystery, this isn't it. The ghost just doesn't walk.

Slick Chick Act Goes Too Far, Says Solid Side

[Copyright: 1944: By The Chicago Tribune.]

on the SOLID side

Let's get this straight. High school fellows and girls are handed so much con thru books, movies, and radio that they don't know what is expected of them. So much stress is put on dating, popularity, looking smooth, and being on the ball, that the really important things are lost in the shuffle. Sure, it's fine to have long, shiny hair, six smooth sweaters, a station wagon coat, two class rings, and a date every Friday night. Those things are important.

Boy-girl friendships are necessary to normal, well balanced lives; good grooming is equally essential because it promotes efficiency and self-confidence, and gives a freedom from personal worry that makes concentration on work much easier. Getting in the groove in high school is just part of the preparation for making a success of adult life. But when smooth clothes and super-dating are placed above all else—some one's off the beam somewhere.

Here's a brief note from the mother of a high school gal which may make some of the much-dated, well-dressed honeychiles sit up and think twice. It gives out this way:

"Continue to do all you can to keep down the cost of high school. I wish you'd print this where every high school girl could read it. When, in war time, a mother has to make a choice between the required formal for the high school lass and vitamin tablets for a brood of younger ones, something should be done! The best dressed girl at the school dance may be ashamed to be seen on the street with her mother and little brothers . . . ."

Better make up your mind which is the more important—looking smart on the outside or being an honest, solid character all the way thru. Don't put too much emphasis on the "you" in "youth" because you can't be a good gal and selfish at the same time. Maybe you think so, but you couldn't possibly look smooth in that new pink sweater if it's really your younger sister who should be wearing it! So think it over—this "slick chick" act is all right as long as you don't neglect more important things.

If you are just beginning to cook with wines, my advice is to confine yourself to the white, dry wines. Red wines sometimes do disappointing things to foods, especially if you aren't accustomed to handling them. Often they produce an unattractive color in your gravy or sauce when you wanted it most to be luscious looking. White wines never misbehave in such a manner. Sweet wines have no place in cooking except in desserts.

Some of our more familiar domestic wines and their uses are listed here for the benefit of cooks and hostesses new to the art of cooking and eating with wines.

Popular "White" Wines.

SHERRY: General favorite, sherry may be served thruout a meal, has more cooking uses than any other wine. Pick a dry sherry for use as an appetizer and for cooking. A "dry" wine is the opposite of a sweet one, altho you mustn't call it "sour"—goodness, no! Try a dash of sherry in the soup, gravy, in sauce for the fish [especially shellfish], with broiled grapefruit, in baked beans. Sweet sherry belongs with dessert, and may be used to flavor puddings, sauces, cakes.

SAUTERNE: Here's another fine kitchen and dining room companion. Belongs with fish, chicken, and light meat, such as veal. Sauternes, like sherries, come dry to sweeter. Dry is preferable for most purposes.

RHINE WINE: Rhine wines are pale in color and drier in taste than sauternes, but are used for the same purposes. Hock, moselle, riesling are all rhine wine types. Rhine wine is used in many mixed beverages, especially punches.

CHAMPAGNE: I'm not sure that I should call this a popular wine—it's too expensive for most of us. This aristocrat of wines is known as a sparkling wine because of its natural effervescence. It is too luxurious to be used in cooking very often, but chickens, soft shell crabs, hams, guinea hens, pheasants have been baked in champagne for notable occasions. When it is served at a dinner, it accompanies all courses, including dessert, if the hosts are extravagant, otherwise it belongs after dinner, the perfect finish of a perfect meal.

MUSCATEL: This amber, sweet dessert wine is most often served with fruit cake, or cheese. It may flavor a fruit dessert, too, or follow a dinner.

TOKAY: Tokay is a dessert wine, but less sweet than muscatel. Amber colored, it has a nutty flavor.

Popular Red Wines.

CLARET: Claret belongs traditionally with red meats, especially beef. Good with spaghetti, too, and it makes a wonderful jelly to accompany meats. Use claret as part of the liquid in stews and pot roasts. Cabernet is a claret type; chianti is an Italian red wine resembling both claret and burgundy.

BURGUNDY: Has the same uses as claret, and is especially favored with game. Sparkling burgundy is an aristocrat, like champagne.

PORT: Port is a sweet dessert wine, wonderful in dessert sauces, or on fruit, especially fresh peaches, pears, or pineapple. May be used to color and flavor jellied desserts. There also is a white port, a dessert wine, too.

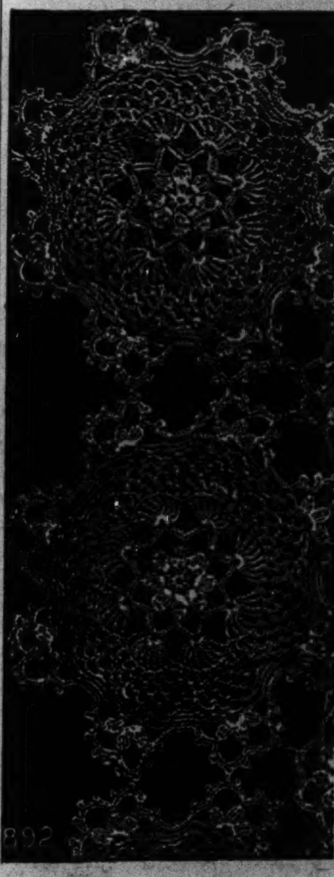
Lace Medallions



BY ELLEN BRUCE.

This crocheted design of a modified Irish lace pattern is by far one of the most attractive motifs to do. It is not difficult to work, and a completed tablecloth worked in this medallion is handsome enough to be a museum piece. The medallions are joined as the work progresses, so that it is easy to visualize the finished product.

For instructions in crocheting the Irish lace tablecloth, No. 892, send 10 cents in stamps or coin, plus 2 cents to cover mailing cost, to the Needlework Bureau, Chicago Tribune, 220 Fifth av., New York City.

Women in War Work

—By Dorothy Johnson—

Recruitment of 250 women as volunteer war time recreation aids will begin tomorrow at the Volunteer bureau, Council of Social Agencies and OCD, 53 W. Jackson blvd. A training course for the aids will begin May 9 and 10.

Plans for the training have been made by the Chicago recreation commission, the child care committee, OCD, and the Council of Social Agencies because of the urgent need for assistance to professional staffs in play centers thruout Chicago. Settlements, schools, the Y. M. C. A., and boys' clubs need help to continue their all-day schedules of caring for children from 6 to 15 whose parents are war workers or whose fathers are in military service.

Miss Dorothy Spiker, chairman of the instruction course, reports that the activities with which volunteers can assist include games of all types, handicraft, story telling, dramatics, group singing, dancing, music and art lessons, and the general recreation schedules of boys' and girls' clubs.

Recreation aids also are needed to help with the outdoor program, which will be expanded during late spring and the summer vacation period. Activities in this category include supervising playgrounds, sandboxes, and wading pools, coaching athletics and umpiring and directing games, planning hikes, excursions, and bird and nature walks.

Courses for housewives and others free during the day will be given Mondays, Wednesdays, and Fridays from 10 a. m. to 1 p. m. at the Y. W. C. A., 59 E. Monroe st., with the first class beginning May 10.

The evening course, designed to suit the convenience of teachers and students who will be free during the summer months, will begin May 9 at the Chicago Woman's Aid, 185 N. Wabash av., and will continue thereafter on Tuesdays, Wednesdays, and Thursdays from 7 p. m. to 10 p. m.

The preliminary course will consist of 30 hours of lectures, followed by 20 hours of practice work. Directors of recreation centers stress that trained volunteers must pledge six hours of service weekly. After 50 hours of duty, volunteers will be eligible for OCD insignia. Purchase of uniforms is optional.

The volunteer bureau asks that applicants telephone Wabash 0528 or 0529 in advance for appointments for interviews.

The Chicago unit of the Women's Overseas Service league, with headquarters at 410 S. Michigan av., will meet at 7:30 o'clock this evening to give final reports on Red Cross contributions and the results of the group's money raising undertaking.

The 100 members are engaged in war work, many of them as volunteers. The funds of the unit go to a variety of war projects. One of the members, Mrs. Mona Inman, is a founder of the Howard st. service men's center.

Miss Celia Howard is president of the Chicago unit, whose members all served overseas during the last war. Any woman who was on duty in Europe during World War I is eligible to join the league.

Mary Crane League's Benefit Will Be Today

Aspects of Private Duty Is Nursing Council Topic

The Central Council for Nursing Education, 8 S. Michigan av., room 1520, will meet at 2:30 p. m. today to hear Dr. Elizabeth K. Straus, Mrs. Philip Peck, and Mrs. Madelene Palmquist discuss "Aspects of Private Duty Nursing."

Summer Bride to Be Wed in Cotton Gown

BY REA SEEGER.

Some of this summer's loveliest brides will float down either a garden lane or the middle aisle of a chapel gowned in cotton.

A veil of palest blue drifts down over a wedding gown of the same blue, blush pink gowns are teamed with faint pink veils, and if you are a coppertop and yellow is your pet color, you can meet your bridegroom completely costumed in the right light yellow tint.

But the traditional all white bridal gowns still are triumphant first choices. These sheer white gowns come in every known white cotton, from the filmiest of net, plain, or minutely pin dotted, to organdies, cotton voile, lace, dotted swiss, and smooth pique. Embroidered organdies and eyelet embroideries make other beautiful gowns in white. Veils still are the very fine tulles and nets, invariably worn with bridal gowns of stiff satin or clinging crepes.

Bridesmaids' dresses also have the eternal lure of cool and flattering cotton. A brand new idea this year is a slim, simple gown of plaster white pique. These gowns are made with wide skirts, fitted bodices, brief sleeves, and a tie belt. The only decorative contrast is an appliqued bit of embroidery in the center of the bodice that accents the deep square cut neckline. Others, just as picturesque and new, are part of this bridal show of cotton, ready for prospective brides shopping early for new and romantic loot.

White Collar GIRL

—BY RUTH MAC KAY—

In Praise of Employers.

O, I could write a song about
Mr. C.
But would it bring a nice big raise
At once, to me?

I e'en could prattle prettily
Of Mr. X.
But would it add another figure
To my checks?

If I should celebrate in rhyme
The praises of each one,
O, would I then be better off
Or just where I'd begun?

And if I said they really are
A virile, handsome bunch,
Then would it pay my income tax
Or merely buy my lunch?

M.

Big Town vs. Little Town.

Answering a Main st. white collar girl who compares the big town with the small town, I am a WCG who works in Chicago and lives in a small town. I have tried both a large town and a small town and I'll take the hustle and bustle of the city. There are new personalities to meet, and more opportunities for advancement in business. We get along, don't we—we big town WCGs? GINI FROM GARY.

The Commonest Fault.

In an effort to discover the commonest fault in dealing with people, Daniel Starch, author of "How to Develop Your Executive Ability," queried several hundred business people. By far the commonest fault was failure to see the other person's point of view. Failure to show appreciation or give credit came second in the list of fault findings. Inability to size up employes correctly, lack of leadership, lack of frankness and sincerity, arbitrariness, arrogance, failure to delegate responsibility, indecision, bias, and personality faults such as jealousy, losing of temper, and lack of courtesy followed along in the list.

When Mr. Starch posed the question to husbands and wives he found 83 per cent of those he questioned considered the most frequent cause of domestic trouble was failure to consider the point of view and interests of the other person.

From this study it might seem that business is a good training school for marriage. Certainly in an office where human equations must be worked out successfully there is good experience for the future wife who, some day, must find the answer to human equations within the four walls of a home.

Inter-Office Communication.

I have been trying to convey to a South American friend in my letters that there are three two's, too's, to's in the English language. I am quite certain as written it will not be comprehended. Perhaps some of the white collar girls, accustomed to turning the boss' dictation into sense, can suggest a way to explain it. H. A. B.

The bidding:

South	West	North	East
1 heart	1 spade	3 diamonds	3 spades
4 hearts	Pass	5 hearts	Pass
6 hearts	Pass	Pass	Pass

West opened the spade king, and when he saw dummy's singleton he shifted to a low club as fast as he could get it out of his hand. This did not greatly disturb the declarer. He won, cashed the trump ace, led a diamond to the ace, ruffed a low diamond with the king, reëntered dummy with a trump, ruffed another low diamond with the queen, then led his last trump. West's trumps were drawn by dummy's, and the rest of the diamond suit was good.

In view of South's opening bid, his voluntary rebid over three spades, and his final slam venture, it was absurd for West to hope that the club ace might be held by East. It was not unlikely, however, that East had the diamond suit well stopped. That being so, West should have concentrated on disrupting communications between declarer and dummy, and the way to do that was to lead the spade ace at the second trick, forcing dummy to ruff. Then West's four trumps would have proved an insuperable barrier to the declarer; he could neither have set up the diamonds nor taken care of his losing clubs via a cross-ruff.

Suit Guidance to Personality of Each Child

[Copyright: 1944: By News Syndicate Co., Inc.]

"Doris and I are going to the first show at the movies, mother, and we'll be home before 10 o'clock," said Jean, shrugging into her coat.

"All right, dear," answered her mother, and then turning to me she said, "I can always depend on them. They keep their word and never worry me if they can avoid it.

"Jack and Debby are quite another story. Jack is always off hunting for something to finish an experiment—it's always a different one—and time doesn't mean anything to him. Debby is moody, inclined to be arrogant and of uncertain temper. If I ask her to do anything I never can be certain she's really listened, so I have to keep after her.

"Strange, isn't it," she continued, "how children differ from one another? It's a puzzle to know how to handle them, but I suppose we must take each one as he comes and do the best we can."

Wise mother!

Most parents, I think, are puzzled, especially where there is more than one child in the family. Each one is so much an individual, and you can't foresee how each will grow, develop, and change. You have to feel your way along and make your guidance fit and follow the growing personality, instead of trying to make the changing personality fit and follow your preconceived idea of what you think it should be and do.

This is particularly true of boys and girls who have gotten into their middle and late teens. Then their personalities often change, and new qualities appear or familiar ones become accentuated. We can't know what to expect, so we can't map out a line of action.

The children mentioned above were born under what would appear to be identical conditions of marital happiness, moderate finances, and a rather uniform social setting, all of which makes us realize that environment is only one factor in molding a personality, and that heredity is the other potent force at work. So let's be flexible and tolerant in our management.

SOX PLAY CUBS IN WAR BOND GAME TODAY

2 RECORDS SET BY ANN CURTIS IN A. A. U. SWIM

Chicago Girl 2d in Breast Stroke.

Oakland, Cal., April 16 (AP).—Ann Curtis, of San Francisco, established two American records tonight in the National Women's Senior A.A.U. swimming and diving championships.

The 18 year old Crystal Palace Plunge star who established an American record of 5 minutes 21.7 seconds in the 440-yard free-style yesterday, established a mark of 2:29.2 in the 220-yard free style tonight and also set up 2:28.3 for the 200 meters.

The old record for both distances was 2:30.3 held by Brenda Helser of the Multnomah club, Portland, Ore., who failed to place today.

Joan Fogle Second.

Second to Miss Curtis and half a lap behind was Joan Fogle, Riviera club, Indianapolis, Ind. Marilyn Sahner, Women's Swimming association, New York, was third and Leola Thomas, Ambassador club, Washington, D. C., fourth.

The 100-yard breast stroke went to Patricia Sinclair, New York, in 1:17.5 in her first participation in a national meet. Jeanne Wilson, Lake Shore Athletic club, Chicago, was second; Nancy Merki, Multnomah club, Portland, third, and Lorraine Fisher, Crystal Palace Plunge, San Francisco, fourth.

Ann Ross Wins Diving.

Ann Ross, St. George Dragon club of Brooklyn, swept the diving events by adding the three-meter diving title to her one-meter crown with 138.6 points. Second was Zoe Ann Olson, Pasadena Athletic club; third, Victoria Taylor Manalo, Crystal Palace Plunge, San Francisco, and fourth, Dorothy Ziegler, Multnomah club.

In the 300 yard medley relay the Multnomah club A team won first place in 3:31.2. The Women's Swimming association of New York took second, the Crystal Palace Plunge, San Francisco, third, and the Women's Swimming association's B team, fourth.

The Multnomah club's winning team was composed of Suzanne Zimmerman, back stroke; Nancy Merki, breast stroke and Brenda Helser, free style. Swimming for the New York club on the A team was Betty Sheilds, Patricia Sinclair and Marie Corridon.

Multnomah Top Team.

The Multnomah club ran away with the team championship with 47 points. The Women's Swimming association placed second with 34, followed by the Crystal Palace Plunge with 24.

Other team scores: Riviera club, Indianapolis, 14; St. George Dragon club, Brooklyn, 10; Pasadena Athlectic club, Pasadena, Cal., 6; Lake Shore club, Chicago, 3; Medinah club, Chicago, 2; and one each for the Ambassador club, Washington, D. C., and the Athens club, Oakland.

Miss Curtis won the high point trophy for scoring 13 points. Miss Merki made 12, Joan Fogle, Indianapolis, 11, and Ann Ross, winner of both diving events, 10.

A. L. Umpires Are Selected for Openers

CLEVELAND AT CHICAGO—William McGowan, George Pipgras, and Ernest Stewart.
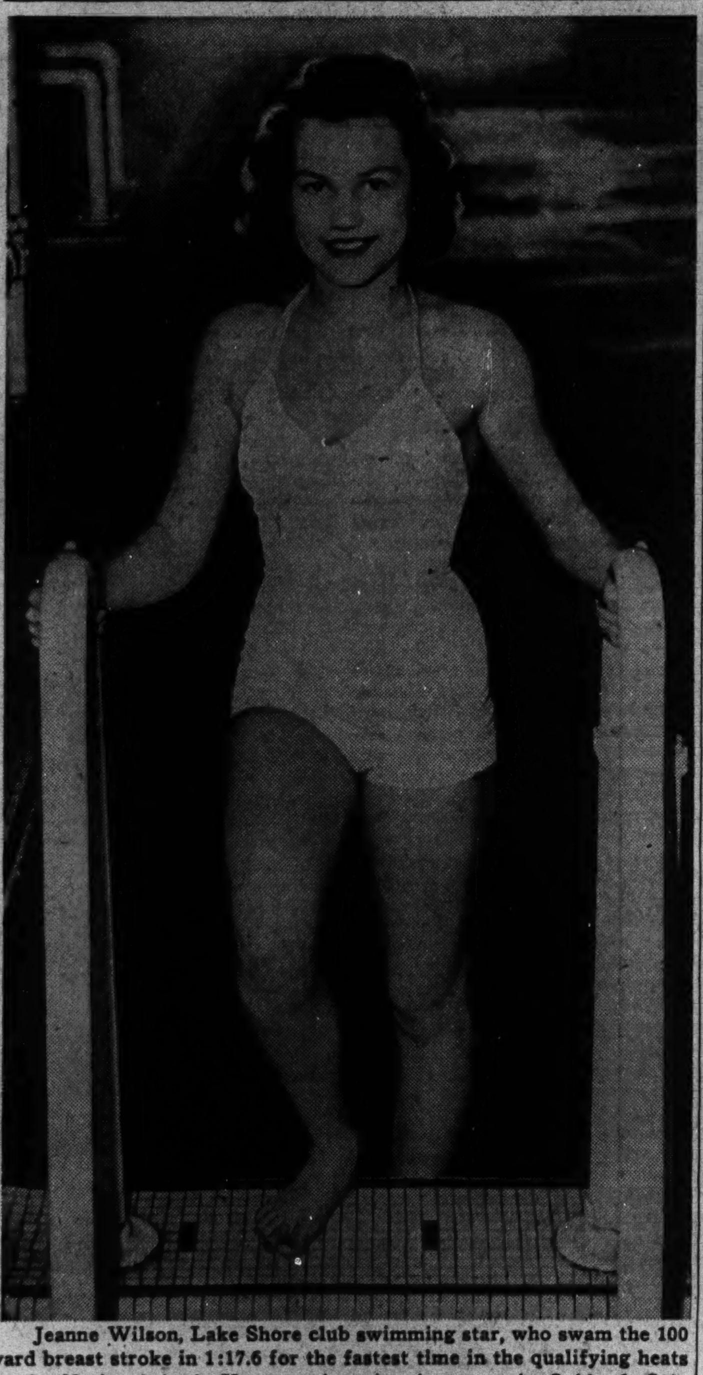
PHILADELPHIA AT WASHINGTON—Cal Hubbard, Charles Berry and Nicholas Jones.
NEW YORK AT BOSTON—William Summers, Joseph Rue and James Boyer.

The addition of Jones from the Southern association and Boyer from the American association gives the American league a full complement of 12 umpires for the season.

Harridge said he will attend the Philadelphia-Washington opener in the capital tomorrow and also would go to New York for the Yank's first home game Friday with the Senators.

BEAUTY PLUS SPEED



Jeanne Wilson, Lake Shore club swimming star, who swam the 100 yard breast stroke in 1:17.6 for the fastest time in the qualifying heats in the National A. A. U. women's swimming meet in Oakland, Cal., finished second to Patricia Sinclair of New York in the finals last night.

LEAHY APPLIES FOR NAVY POST

Notre Dame Will Grant Coach Leave of Absence.

South Bend, Ind., April 16 (AP).—The Rev. John J. Cavanaugh, C. S. C., vice president of the University of Notre Dame and chairman of the faculty board in control of athletics, disclosed today that Frank Leahy, head football coach and Notre Dame athletic director, has applied for a navy commission.

The Rev. Cavanaugh said no commission had been granted as yet, but indicated a leave of absence would be given Leahy should he enter the service.

Leahy could not be reached for comment tonight on persistent rumors that he may assume the job of coaching the Iowa Seahawks.

Leahy coached Notre Dame to a national collegiate championship last fall when the Irish won nine of 10 games, losing only to the Great Lakes Bluejackets in their final contest of the season. In three seasons at Notre Dame, Leahy's elevens have won 24 games, lost three, and tied three. Leahy is married and has four children. He will be 36 years old Aug. 21.

TRY WATERPROOF POWDER ON SOIL OF BALL PARK

Wilmington, Del., April 16 (AP).—The Hercules Powder company disclosed today that a section of the Wilmington ball park has been treated experimentally with stabinol, a resin powder for waterproofing soils.

The company said this was the first application of the powder—regarded as a possible means of forestalling game cancellations because of rain—to a baseball field.

An area about 40 square yards has been treated and the powder later will be spread on other sections, but none will be used on playing areas until results of the tests have been observed.

Veeck Talks Shop Deep in Pacific Wilds

BY ARTHUR VEYSEY.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

AT AN ADVANCED SOUTH PACIFIC BASE, April 16 [Delayed].—Here's the story of how a baseball minor league executive in search of a shortstop found what he wanted within sound of the jungle creatures here.

Pvt. Bill Veeck.

The talent hunter is Capt. Roscoe [Torchy] Torrence, athletic and morale officer for a marine outfit in advanced training on this island. Torrence was president of the Seattle Raniers of the Pacific coast league when he entered the marine corps.

Bill Veeck Arrives for Tough Instruction.

Recently to his outfit came Pvt. Bill Veeck of Chicago, fresh from preliminary training in the United States, and out here to go thru tough instruction before assignment for his first combat. Veeck's last civilian job was the presidency of the Milwaukee Brewers of the American association, which is managed by Charley Grimm, former first baseman and manager of the Chicago Cubs.

Torrence and Veeck, who have been friends for a long time, naturally talked shop despite the wide difference in rank. Capt. Torrence let it be known his Raniers were having a hard time finding a shortstop. Pvt. Veeck guessed his Brewers had one to spare and promised to write Grimm suggesting the sale of the much needed player.

Captain and Private Sign Professional Armistice.

The transaction came to the ears of Gordon D. Marston of Stoneham, Mass., a marine combat correspondent, who passed the news along. Capt. Torrence and Pvt. Veeck agree there are several excellent baseball prospects in the corps but have signed a professional armistice until the end of the war.

PIRATES BEAT TIGERS, 9 TO 5; TAKE SERIES

Pittsburgh Pounds Rookie Gentry.

Detroit, Mich., April 16 (AP).—The Pittsburgh Pirates clinched their spring exhibition series with the Detroit Tigers today by winning, 9 to 5, before 2,275 spectators who braved 40-degree temperatures in Briggs stadium. The Pirates thus took the series, two games to one, with another game tied.

Paul Trout, who will pitch Detroit's American league opener Tuesday, held Pittsburgh to one hit in three innings, but the Pirates pounded Rookie Rufus Gentry for seven runs in the next three. Hal Newhouser yielded the last two runs.

Rudy York Gets Homer.

Truett [Rip] Sewell gave up three runs in five innings for the Pirates, and John Gee yielded the final two, one on Rudy York's homer into the left field stands in the sixth.

The Tigers announced the outright release of Pitcher Joe Hare, 33 year old right hander from Beaumont, Tex., who was attempting a comeback after several years' absence from the game. Hare indicated he might make a connection with Memphis of the Southern Association.

The Tigers also said Outfielder Ned Harris had applied for voluntary retirement. Harris was accepted for general military service and is working in a Detroit war plant until called.

MACON TO JOIN BRAVES.

Boston, Mass., April 16 (AP).—Bob Quinn, president of the Boston Braves, announced tonight that Max Macon had notified him he had been released from his war plant job in Louisville and would join the club this week in New York.

Macon was drafted by the Braves from the Montreal International league club and carried on the roster as an outfielder.

Quinn said Ira Hutchinson, veteran right handed pitcher, also had notified him he would join the team in New York.

GIANTS, TORONTO RAINED OUT.

Wilmington, Del., April 16 (AP).—For the second day in succession rain forced cancellation of a New York Giants exhibition game. Both today's scheduled game with Toronto of the International league and Saturday's contest with the Phillies were washed off the books.

Ace Adams and Ewald Pyle, who were to have pitched for the Giants, may be given the assignment tomorrow in the annual pre-opening day game between Mel Ott's New Yorkers and the United States Military academy at West Point.

DODGERS, YANKS PLAY TODAY.

Brooklyn, N. Y., April 16 (AP).—Rain forced cancellation of today's scheduled exhibition game between the Brooklyn Dodgers and the New York Yankees but the clubs agreed to an extra game tomorrow, originally an open date. The exhibition in Ebbets field will wind up spring training activity for both teams.

The Dodgers today brought to the National league four players from their farm clubs. They were: Shortstop Gene Mauch and Pitchers Wes Flowers and Jack Franklin from Montreal and Dick Sawyer from Newport News. A fifth player, Southpaw Tom Sunkel, was returned to Montreal.

ATHLETICS PICK HARRIS.

New York, April 16 (AP).—Buck Newsom, who wanted to pitch the Athletics' opening game against Washington, probably won't see mound action until the A's return to Philadelphia for their series with Boston.

Connie Mack confirmed today that Lum Harris—who pitched last year's opener against the Senators—will start next Tuesday, with Russ Christopher and Don Black taking over on Wednesday and Thursday, respectively.

Newsom will pitch the first game against Boston, Mack intimated, if he is in shape. The Curtis Bay coast guard pounded Newsom last Friday altho the A's won the game.

Lift Up Thine Eyes.

"I will lift up mine eyes to the hills,
Whence cometh my help"—
Remember?
How many times have I done just that,
In April, in June, in December!
How many times in moments of stress,
My turbulent mind to still,
Have I wandered away and stood looking up
At friendly old Kelly's hill!

Seemed comfortingly to say,
"I shall be here when those troublesome things
Have perished and all passed away."
Its steadfastness and its permanence
Have oft banished my worries and ills,
Snow-clad or green, its message I glean,
"I will lift up mine eyes to the hills"!

The 20 goal Mexican team, called "Herradura," mounted on horses accustomed to the 7,500 foot altitude and hot sun, continuously swept ahead of the 23 goal United States aggregation, led by Nine Goal Cecil Smith of San Antonio, Tex., who got two of the United States goals.

Dykes Plans to Rid Sox of Indian Sign

BY EDWARD BURNS.

Manager James J. Dykes of the White Sox, having clinched the spring series with the Cubs when the weather man gave yesterday's scheduled game the chill, will, no doubt, do all he can to make this afternoon's bond game a success.

But his mind will be on the season opener and how to beat Al Smith and the Cleveland Indians.

All last season Skipper Jim masterminded and masterminded in an effort to devise skill and guile which would enable his White Sox to look better than Lou Boudreau's Indians. But more than two-thirds of the time the Dykian strategems didn't jell.

Lost 15 of 22 Games.

The teams played 22 games and in 15 of those contests, Dykes and the Sox were piteously frustrated. And that fellow Smith—he beat them five times in five tries.

Things were so bad in the Chicago-Cleveland relationship last season, it is said, that the Indians got to feeling sorry for Dykes and his perplexed proteges.

The mellowness of the Indians, growing out of their sympathy for the blustery Dykes in his hours of great futility, led the Clevelanders to peddle Hal Trosky to the White Sox. This deal may, in 1944, compensate for all the humiliating thrashings Dykes et al. took at the hands of the Indians last season.

Must Be a Catch.

Dykes still thinks there was some catch in the pushover role he assumed in directing his club against the Indians last year.

Against the second place Washington Senators the White Sox were able to win 14 while losing eight. Against those same Senators Boudreau & Co., could win only eight games. Thus the Indians were eight games better than the White Sox but the White Sox were able to beat the Senators six more games than the Indians could beat the Senators.

When you see Dykes trudging up to the plate to chaw with an umpire you wouldn't think he had such contradictory statistics racing thru his noggin. But he has. All managers have their precious brains so tangled and that's the reason some of them, at times, may have seemed to be flipping around on the lunatic fringe.

Grey Clarke Is Reason.

As we were saying, however, Dykes probably will feel all right about his Cleveland experiences if Hal Trosky continues to look as thoroly recovered from his headaches as he has thus far. And Boss Jim probably will soon forget the indignities he suffered this spring at the hands of the Cubs in French Lick, indignities that rankle, even tho the Sox won the city series, as usual.

The reason Dykes is likely to love the Cubs more and more is because of Grey Clarke, the Sox's new third baseman. Clarke, American association batting champ last year, never would have been sold to the Sox by the Milwaukee Brewers if the Cubs had wanted him.

But there you are—those who figure the Sox are stronger than they were last year, give Trosky and Clarke as the main reasons.

Another Screwy Schedule.

The Chicago-Cleveland opening series won't last very long, even if the weather man is in a friendly mood. By way of getting off to another screwy schedule, the Sox and Indians are booked to play on Tuesday and Wednesday, with next Thursday off.

The Sox will participate in the four game opening series of the Browns in St. Louis beginning Friday. There will be another scheduled off day a week from today and the third of a 10 day old season a week from Thursday.

PETERSEN'S 1,601 SETS PIN PACE IN INDIVIDUAL MEET

Oscar Petersen, 37 year old once-a-week bowler from the Bowlium, took the lead in Barney Hochstadter's fourth annual individual ten pin classic on the alleys of the Archer-35th Recreation yesterday afternoon, shooting a series of 1,601 on games of 189, 199, 192, 232, 165, 211, 194, and 219.

So heated was the competition of yesterday that four others also passed Carl Wilma, the leader Saturday night, in the standings. Two Waukegans, Lou Nagode with 1,532 and Leo Stanzak with 1,521, assumed second and third places respectively.

The others were Willard P. Reimer, whose 1,494 was good for fourth place, and Paul Rozek, Elmwood Park, fifth with 1,484. All bowled on yesterday's first shift.

Among the spectators were Mr. and Mrs. Elmer W. Irwin, San Francisco. Irwin Saturday became the new president of the American Bowling congress.

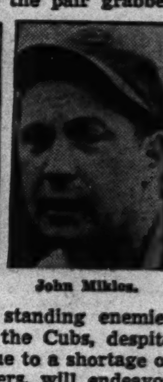
Starting time—1 p. m.

BY IRVING VAUGHAN.

The Cubs and White Sox, whose efforts to stage something in the nature of a spring series have been stymied for two days, hope to make their last bid for formal pre-season exercises today at 1 o'clock this afternoon in Wrigley field. It will be entertainment strictly for school youngsters who earned their seats thru the sale of war bonds but the free gate will not alter the competitive feature.

Even without money in the house, the Sox can be counted upon to do the best possible about adding one more decision to the pair grabbed from their long standing enemies last week. And the Cubs, despite embarrassment due to a shortage of conditioned pitchers, will endeavor to gouge out a little happiness for themselves before starting away tonight for tomorrow's National league opener at Cincinnati.

Buck Ross.



John Miklos.

Novikoff Runs, Too.

Altho yesterday's Comiskey park game was erased because of the balmy spring weather which registered 38 degrees or thereabouts, both teams managed to catch up a bit on their muscle stretching. The Sox ran around the fringes of their own arena, and the pitchers threw enough to heat up the oil in their elbows. The Cubs went thru the same performance in Wrigley field, the participants including, for the first time, the fellow known as Lou Novikoff, the Jolly Russian.

If the weather continues in the lap of winter today, the two squads will be sent thru the same form of motions. But if some freak of nature should suddenly shower the community with a touch of spring, the athletes will take up serious work with Johnny Humphries and Buck Ross dividing the Sox pitching against Bill Fleming and Johnny Miklos, the pitching patrolman.

Hal Trosky to Rest.

One fellow who isn't worried about what the weather might bring today is Hal Trosky, the ex-Indian now installed as the Sox regular first baseman. Whether or not there is a game, the Iowa farmer will rest. He has a bum ankle, a condition that afflicts him every spring for a limited period. He'll be back on the job for tomorrow's American league opener against his former Cleveland mates. Ed Carnett will look after the front door chores today.

James Dykes, boss of the Sox forces, is already set on his starting moundman for tomorrow. It will be Orval Grove, the young man who dazzled everybody by winning his first nine games last season. Jim Wilson of the Cubs, after debating the matter with himself as spring training progressed, or rather didn't progress, has about concluded his choice will be Hank Wyse, with Ed Hanyzewski a close second.

Pete Sharp, one of the Sox' spare infielders, went home yesterday in response to a draft summons, but expects to rejoin the team at St. Louis this week end.

INDIANS RAINED OUT; ARRIVE IN CHICAGO TODAY

Cincinnati, O., April 16 (AP).—Poor training weather beset the Cleveland Indians again today as rain washed out the last of the club's exhibition games, leaving it with two victories and six defeats in preseason competition.

Manager Lou Boudreau was disappointed by cancellation of today's game with the Cincinnati Reds. He had intended to use it for a last look at rookie Pitcher Ed Klieman, scheduled to hurl against the Detroit Tigers in the home opener Friday.

Al Smith will start the league opener with the White Sox in Chicago Tuesday, but Boudreau is keeping Vernon Kennedy on hand should Smith tire early. The club will arrive in Chicago tomorrow.

SPARTAS DEFEAT VIKINGS, 2-0, IN SOCCER BATTLE

Jimmy Wolf Gets Both Winners' Goals.

BY OFFSIDE.

Two goals, scored by Jimmy Wolf in the first 17 minutes of play, coupled with a splendid exhibition of goal keeping by Joe Silovsky, enabled the Spartas to defeat the Vikings, 2 to 0, in a Major league soccer contest, played yesterday in Sparta stadium. The defeat ended the Vikings' winning streak at 23 games.

The Vikings experienced one of their bad days. They missed two penalty shots and saw their chance of winning the league championship slip away. Starting against the wind, the Vikings missed an easy chance to score in the first minute when Nels Brostrom shot wildly past the post from three yards.

Score in Nine Minutes.

The Spartas scored after nine minutes, Jimmy Wolf shooting on a penalty and booting past Jocke Johansen. Eight minutes later, after one of Jimmy McDermott's shots had struck the post, Sparta added to their score when Wolf again registered, shooting into the net on a corner kick.

The Vikings put some force into their play and rained shot after shot at Silovsky to get their first real scoring opportunity, only to muff it as Andy Hritz booted a penalty yards wide of the post.

Punches Are Exchanged.

Starting the second period, the Vikings found the going tough as temper creeped into the game. Fouls were many and, to enliven the proceedings, two players exchanged punches, which unscheduled bout was ignored by the referee.

Brewers Work Hard; Break Camp Today

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Waukesha, Wis., April 16.—The Brewers, picked by American association sports writers to win the pennant, got in a strenuous workout today on Frame field despite temperatures in the 30s. While there was no attempt to play an intrasquad game, Manager Charley Grimm sent his charges thru a three hour session of fielding and batting.

Spring training for the Brewers will terminate tomorrow, after which they will break camp and go to Milwaukee, where on Wednesday they meet St. Paul in the season's opener. Altho the Brewers have been in Waukesha for nearly a month they have played only four or five games because of the weather. Manager Grimm insists, however, his pitchers are ready to go. Other players need further workouts to fit them for the campaign, in the opinion of the experts.

Grimm still is looking for player help from both the Chicago Cubs and White Sox, especially in the catching and first base departments. As it now stands, he has only one experienced catcher and a comparative rookie playing first base.

Richard Hearn, who came to the Brewers recently on option from Los Angeles, was notified to report tomorrow for his pre-induction physical examination in Chicago. Hearn is a right handed pitcher.

TRIBUNE CASTING MEET ENTRIES TO CLOSE TODAY

Casters, this is the final day for entering The Tribune bait and fly casting tournament, which opens next Saturday at the Chicago arena in conjunction with the International Sportsmen's show. All entries must be postmarked not later than April 17, therefore must be put into the mail today.

Secretaries of casting clubs who have not already sent in the entries of their members must do so today. These lists of club entries must be by event, since dated tickets will be mailed. Entrants must show their tickets and casting equipment to gain entry into the arena for the competition.

War Bonds Are Prizes.

William Butler, manager of the tournament, said yesterday that winners of the various casting events will be given war bond prizes and also will win the right to compete in special contests to be held during evening floor shows. More than $100 in war bonds will be distributed during the nine day tournament.

F. W. Kahler, manager of the sportsmen's show, has announced that the main floor of the arena will be converted into a north woods scene as a background for the casting competition, field dog trials, trapshooting, log rolling, and other events on the schedule.

Dogs in Demonstration.

One of the outstanding features of the show will be the demonstration of war dog training by Doberman-Pinschers handled by Ludwig Gessner, veteran Chicago trainer. The dogs will demonstrate general obedience commands taught by army trainers, and in addition will show how dogs can rescue injured men from the battlefield and extinguish the fuse of an enemy time bomb.

The entire floor show will be presented each afternoon and evening.

2D BATTALION'S MARKSMEN WIN IN MILITIA TEST

Averaging 1,370 out of 1,500 possible points, the 2d battalion triumphed over three other teams of the 1st regiment, Illinois reserve militia, in an officers' small bore rifle match yesterday in the Northwest armory, Kedzie and North avs.

Individual high scorer was Lt. Michael Barin, 29 W. 72d st., with 147 out of 150 points. The 10 high scorers from the 40 men who competed were selected to represent the 1st regiment in competition with other militia regiments in the state. Col. George May, commanding officer, awarded gold medals to the 10 best shooters and sharpshooter medals to 6 others who scored more than 135 out of 150.

Sperling, Kaffner to Meet on Madison Mat Tonight

Jack Sperling, Chicago heavyweight wrestler, and Alex Kaffner of Milwaukee will meet in the windup bout of this evening's mat show in the Madison Athletic club, 4711 Madison st. Main event principals in another wrestling show tonight in White City, 63d st. and South Park av., will be Walter Palmer, north side heavyweight, and Cyclone Anaya.

Four Teams Near Top in State Bowling Tourney

Four teams entered the picture in bowling in the booster division of the state tournament at Bowling Lanes, 5221 Broadway, last night. They took over fifth, sixth, seventh, and eighth places. They were Production, 2736; Wrenches, Aurora, 2733; Furman Funerals, 2719, and Machines, 2716.

Winds, Rough Water Halt Frostbite Dinghy Races

James, Rozina Fight Tonight in Marigold

Tommy James and Johnny Rozina, former Golden Gloves sectional champions, will meet for the third time in a year in a 10 round bout tonight in Marigold Gardens, Broadway and Grace st.

Each captured a decision in their previous meetings, Rozina scoring last year and Tommy squaring accounts two months ago.

Because James is a superior boxer and sharp hitter, he is expected to make it two out of three at the expense of his aggressive, rugged foe from Milwaukee. Tom may duplicate his earlier knockout of Rozina, but he'll have to box his best to achieve this ambition.

Gene Ward, west side welterweight, will be in quest of his first victory in nine months when he opposes Roy Lewis, 1941 Chicagoland Golden Gloves featherweight title holder, in a six round secondary feature on tomorrow's card.

Gene last won a bout when he beat Isadore Miner, ex-Catholic Youth organization boxer, in St. Philip's stadium. Altho he loses more battles than he wins, he can be depended on to make a strong fight against Lewis.

MRS. TOWNSEND SETS PIN PACE IN S. S. LEAGUE

With Eleanor Townsend's 595 showing the way for the entire league as well as for her team, the South Shore National Bank five defeated the leading Pla-Mor Lanes two out of three games in the South Side Ladies Bowling league in Hyde Park Recreation last night.

Mrs. Townsend included a 211 in her series. Peg Sibley and Gene Little of the same team also improved upon 500 with 511 and 514, respectively. Their team total was 2564.

In other matches the Bowlarium Recreation took two from Crest Bowling School, the Green Diamonds upset the Crest Recreation twice and Mrs. Grass' Noodle Soupers won two of their three from the Du Bouchets.

SGT. PASSARELLA TELLS 'EM HOW AT CAMP GRANT

Camp Grant, Ill., April 16 [Special].—After two weeks of training on fundamentals and a study of the rules, soldiers and WACs at the Camp Grant Umpire school, conducted by Sgt. Art Passarella, former American league umpire, after duty hours, are now ready to step out on the diamond for practical demonstrations.

Four two hour sessions have been held. Prof. Passarella feels that the student-soldiers are sufficiently advanced to go out on the field and start calling plays. The students have learned where to stand when various situations arise, what their duties are in the conduct of a game, and where the strike zone is.

During one session rule books for both softball and baseball were distributed and a discussion of the codes for each type of competition was held. The students were advised to review the rules during spare time and in order that all will be fully acquainted with the various rules, Sgt. Passarella called off tomorrow's two hour session.

"I expect every one of you to know the rules perfectly when we resume classes next Thursday," said the professor. "Read two or three at a time. Read a few more later on. Then they'll stick with you and when some player or manager tries to get you rattled, you'll know the right answers."

ILLINOIS NINE, CAMP ELLIS TO CLASH TODAY

Camp Ellis, Ill., April 16 [Special].—Lt. Ray Adams, coach of the Camp Ellis Cardinals baseball team, announced the starting lineup today for tomorrow's first home game, with the University of Illinois.

The game, to which the public is invited free of charge, will be played on Ellis field at 3:30 p. m.

Sgt. Roy Peeler, property of the Cincinnati Reds, who blanked the Minneapolis Millers of the American association, 1 to 0, in Quincy last Sunday, and Pvt. John Vrablik, catcher, property of the Chicago Cubs, will form the starting battery. The lineup:

A REQUEST
To gentlemen who smoke the distinguished
Tom Palmer
BREVAS

WARTIME conditions have imposed sharp restrictions upon the production of the Customrold TOM PALMER Brevas. Because this fine cigar is made entirely by hand—slowly, carefully—it has been impossible to secure enough expert Cuban craftsmen to maintain our normal volume.

The resulting shortages have no doubt made it difficult, at times, for you to obtain the TOM PALMER Brevas. Won't you share the pleasure with other men by cutting down to, say, three or four a day?

In this way, the limited supply can be distributed more evenly and nearly all TOM PALMER smokers will be able to enjoy their favorite cigar with a fair degree of regularity.

Thank you for your patience.

NEVER TOO OLD, WAR WORKERS, 77 AND 67, SAY

Grandma Toils 48 Hours, Then Seeks Exercise.

Two elderly but valiant workers are the subjects of today's story about the "oldsters" Tribune reporters found laboring in Chicagoland war plants. They are Charles G. Galitz, 77, and Mrs. Minta McClosky, 67.

Galitz, a white-thatched great-grandfather, has been for two years an inspector of radio parts for planes and tanks at the Stewart-Warner corporation, 1828 Diversey pkwy. Three years ago he had retired after a "working lifetime" of laying bricks.

His first job, said Galitz, was laying brick for the Monadnock bldg. "I got married on that job," he remembered.

Work Is Life to Him.

Snorting at the notion of living in idleness as he could do, Galitz declared: "I would rather work. Anytime I get ready to quit, I'll cash in my chips." To bear out his declaration, he said he worked 11 hours a day at the plant for 1½ years, then 10 hours a day, and now 8 hours daily, five days a week.

Galitz makes his home with a son, Charles E. Galitz, an artist, at 1439 N. Mayfield av. His wife and two of his four children are dead, but there are four grandchildren and a great-grandchild. He is a baseball fan and gets a "bigger kick out of watching girls' softball teams than the professionals."

The last 14 years have been busy ones for Mrs. McClosky, who has worked and maintained a home all that time, raising three stepchildren and caring for her 96 year old father. She was widowed in 1936, but has carried on, and is now a war worker in the Minneapolis-Honeywell corporation's roller bearing department at 1135 N. Cicero av.

48 Hours—and "Exercise."

Mrs. McClosky became an assembly worker on Feb. 7 and soon was made an inspector. Now a married sister does the housework and helps care for their father, but Mrs. McClosky reserves some home duties for herself—she needs "exercise" after her 48 hour week at the factory, she says—and still finds time to play with her two grandchildren.

"I have to work because there still is a mortgage on the cottage," she says. But friends suspect she wouldn't know what to do if told she could retire.

ILLINOIS LEGION MEETS AUG. 25-28 AT SPRINGFIELD

The 1944 state convention of the Illinois department of the American Legion will be held Aug. 25 to 28 in Springfield, the department's executive committee announced yesterday at its spring meeting in the Hotel Sherman. Attendance will be limited.

The Illinois American Legion now leads all other states with a present membership of 100,961, compared with 85,773 a year ago. Legionnaires expect to sell 2,025,000 poppies thruout the state on Poppy day next month, compared with 1,900,000 a year ago.

The committee reported that 6,300 Illinois veterans of World War II. have been placed on a compensation basis because of service disabilities. Of this group, 3,100 have been judged to be in need of and fitted for vocational training.

DOUBLE FUNERAL FOR SAILOR AND FATHER-IN-LAW

A double funeral for Frank J. Gard, 46, of 2821 S. Cuyler av., Berwyn, and his son-in-law, Floyd W. Woody, 24, an aviation machinist's mate, 2d class, will be held at 9:15 a. m. Wednesday in St. Leonard's church, Berwyn.

Woody was killed Wednesday in a plane crash at Anacortes, Wash. Gard, a supervisor in the Western Electric company's Hawthorne works, suffered a heart attack when told of the sailor's death, and died Saturday in his home.

Woody's widow, Lorraine, is accompanying the body to Chicago. He also is survived by his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Francis Woody, and four brothers. Gard leaves his widow, Mary, and two daughters.

PLAN A SURVEY OF 39 ITEMS USED IN HOUSEHOLDS

If a man calls at your house in the near future and inquires about the state of your vacuum cleaner, washing machine, refrigerator, or similar household appliances, don't get excited. He won't be selling anything.

The chances are that he will be one of the enumerators for the consumer requirements survey to be conducted by the office of civilian requirements for the war production board.

The household list in the survey consists of 39 items in common use, ranging from sewing machines to lunch boxes. Consumers will be asked whether they have recently tried to buy any of those items, if they succeeded, and if they didn't, how peeved were they?

THEATER OF AIR WILL TAKE CAST TO NEW ORLEANS

The Chicago Theater of the Air will be broadcast from the Municipal auditorium in New Orleans on Saturday, May 6, marking the first time this series of hour long presentations of operettas and operas has left Chicago to originate a program.

Col. Robert R. McCormick, editor and publisher of THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE, will speak on the program, which will be presented before a New Orleans audience of 3,000 persons and broadcast from 8 to 9 p. m. [CWT] over the coast to coast Mutual network. W-G-N will present the program under auspices of the Young Men's Business club of New Orleans.

Victor Herbert's operetta, "Naughty Marietta," has been chosen by Henry Weber, W-G-N music director, for presentation because its story action takes place in the New Orleans of about 1750.

Marion Claire, soprano prima donna of the Theater of the Air, will be starred as Marietta. Gilbert Russell, tenor, will sing the part of Capt. Dick Warrington.

WJJD GUARDED AFTER STRIKE OF 10 MUSICIANS

Two policemen remained on guard yesterday in the broadcasting studios of WJJD at 230 N. Michigan av., where 10 musicians hired under contract with the Chicago Federation of Labor have staged a strike since last Friday. Ralph Atlass, president of the broadcasting company, said Saturday he had been given assurance by union officials that the musicians would be ordered back to work pending arbitration. The men, he said, were taken off the job when the company refused to meet union demands that they hire 10 additional men. Since the strike, he said, office girls have performed the work of the musicians, which consists of playing recording discs

NEWS OF FINANCE AND COMMERCE

WAR MATERIAL OUTPUT TAPERS TO EVEN RATE

Most of Gains Made Before 1941.

Output of industrial materials, which increased rapidly from the beginning of the war in 1939 until 1941 and more slowly in 1942, has since remained near the 1942 level, a report issued yesterday by the National Bureau of Economic Research asserted.

Most of the increase in production of steel, lumber, coal, and paper was achieved before the United States entered the war, and on the basis of its findings the bureau said the period of rapid expansion of industrial materials has ended and prospects for a further substantial gain are slight.

Production History Repeats.

"The report shows striking similarity in the course of materials production in World Wars I. and II.," the bureau said. "The rise from 1939 to 1942 was about 35 per cent, from 1914 to 1917 it was 32 per cent. Moreover, in both wars the rate of increase diminished sharply after two or three years of expansion."

Altho special factors operated in each war to retard production increases, the fundamental causes seemed to be limitations of plant capacity and man power, the report said. It asserted that in the present war, plant expansion in most industries producing raw or semi-fabricated materials has not been sufficient to maintain a high rate of increase in production.

Draft Causes Heavy Drain.

The effects of the draft and the heavy requirements for labor in munitions production were reflected in a decline in employment from peak levels in many basic industries, such as metal mining, steel, lumber, cement, crude petroleum, bituminous coal, paper and pulp, and textiles, the report said.

The report was prepared by Geoffrey H. Moore of the bureau's research staff. It was based on a study of the production of 47 individual commodities and 14 commodity groups.

COERCION HELD CHIEF BLACK MARKET CAUSE

Black markets are caused by efforts to coerce citizens into complying with rationing programs without explaining properly the need for such action, Henry H. Heimann, National Association of Credit Men executive, said yesterday in a monthly business review.

"Black markets are an insult to our military forces," he said. "Let us educate the people as to the reasons why black markets patronage is treasonable, then let us be certain there is no rationing or restriction unless there is cause for it—either immediate or in the future."

Heimann said if the need for rationing is definitely established the rules covering it should be made as simple as possible. If the public once believes there is need for rationing any particular thing there will be no need for a large group of enforcing agents, he declared.

A. B. A. Executive Council Opens Its Spring Meeting

The executive council of the American Bankers association opened its spring meeting yesterday in the Stevens hotel. In sessions to continue thru Wednesday, committees will report on federal taxation, treasury borrowing, and other problems affecting post-war economy. The executive council is the governing body of the A. B. A.

Korda's United Artists Stock Bought by Firm

Van Nuys, Cal., April 16 (AP). — United Artists corporation announced today its purchase in London yesterday of Alexander Korda's stock in the film concern for a price which a spokesman said was understood to approximate 1 million dollars. The stock will be retired.

Sinclair Starts Larger Oil Drilling Program

New York, April 16 (AP).—H. F. Sinclair, president of the Sinclair Oil corporation, today announced an expanded drilling program in Mississippi, Michigan, Ohio, and Kentucky.

April 15 Past, but Taxpayer Hasn't Begun

BY THOMAS FURLONG.

Beardsley Ruml.

Now that the April 15 tax hurdle has been cleared, taxpayers can look forward to June, the month in which the government will permit them to file another return. Thereafter there will be opportunities for additional filings in September and December for those individuals who haven't guessed correctly. After that, of course, in March, 1945, the taxpayer will be expected to send in a final return for 1944, plus a payment on any deficiency remaining after withholding credits, and at the same time file an estimate of his 1945 income.

This, it is forecast, will create lots of paper work for the internal revenue department. Some of the post-war planners believe that the department will be able to absorb large numbers of workers released by war industries. Thus Beardsley Ruml may have unwittingly laid the basis for a genuine post-war employment program, it is pointed out.

Where the Paper Goes.

How substantial are the employment prospects in the internal revenue department is suggested by a few statistics. Two million individuals paid a federal income tax in 1932. Each filed one return, making a total of 2 million returns. In 1943, it is estimated, 50 million individuals paid a federal income tax. Instead of one return, millions of these taxpayers filed several returns, making a substantial contribution to the paper shortage. How many returns were actually filed is not yet known but the department is expected to come up with an estimate some years hence.

There is a lurking suspicion in the minds of some taxpayers that they are being softened up for something worse. Perhaps, it is suggested, after they get weary of spending their evenings and week-ends poring over their tax returns they will be presented with what might, under the circumstances, appear to be an attractive alternative—a straight gross wage tax with all exemptions, deductions, and complications eliminated. Just the pleasure of having an evening with the family might be worth the price.

Ruml Is Too Busy.

Meanwhile, there appears to be no prospect of help from Mr. Ruml, who led a one man crusade for a pay-as-you-go tax system. He is off in a new direction, generating ideas at a truly alarming rate, making as many speeches as Henry Kaiser. His intellect has come to grips with post-war housing and nobody doubts that the problem will get a thoro going-over.

Meanwhile the taxpayers will just have to stumble along as best they can and worry about post-war housing when they get the time.

PROBE ARMY'S CANCELING OF MOTOR ORDER

Detroit, Mich., April 16 [Special]. —Sen. Ferguson [Rep., Mich.] said today he is investigating in behalf of the senate's Truman committee the cancellation by army ordnance of an order for rebuilding 20,000 army truck motors. The cancellation resulted when the ordnance department refused to release from its stock spare parts necessary to re-equip the motors with parts removed before they were shipped here.

According to Ferguson's information, ordnance officials said they could not release parts to Nutt Motor Rebuilders because of an order six months' supply must always be on hand. Six months' supply was not defined, but Ferguson recalled each new army truck is equipped with enough spare parts to keep the average truck in repair two years.

"It seems obvious that releasing a few spare parts from a two years' supply would not run the inventory down to less than a six months' supply," Ferguson said in a statement.

Trainmen Half a Mile Apart, Joined by Radio

Salt Lake City, Utah, April 16 (AP). —A 70 car Diesel-powered freight pulled into town early today after a test run from Denver which gave crews a new railroading experience—locomotive to caboose raido communication. A transmitter-receiver in the caboose kept conductors and brakemen in almost constant contact with the engine crew half a mile forward in the Denver and Rio Grande Western engine.

PEOPLE AND EVENTS

Cyrus S. Ching, director of industrial and public relations for the United States Rubber company, has been elected a director of the Automatic Canteen Company of America.

F. C. Margolf was appointed manager of the Edison General Electric Appliance company's home laundry equipment sales division.

Dr. Willard H. Dow, president of the Dow Chemical company, has been awarded the American Institute of Chemists' 1944 gold medal for his developments in magnesium and styrene.

The National Metal Trades association, representing more than 1,000 member war plants, has postponed its annual convention, scheduled for May 16, because of the war.

Joseph A. Warren, of the WPB facilities bureau, Washington, D. C., will describe recent changes and simplifications in the agency's construction limitation policy at the war problems school of the Chicago Association of Commerce in the La Salle hotel Thursday.

The securities and exchange commission has approved Engineers Public Service company's plan to spend not more than 4 million dollars in the reacquisition of outstanding $5, $5.50, and $6 preferred stocks. The shares will be purchased on the open market at not more than $100 a share. The commission said retirement must be made within four months and without solicitation.

Blue Moon Foods, Inc., announced the election of Harold Oldroyd as secretary and a director.

The Society for the Advancement of Management will hold its national spring conference in the Drake hotel April 28 and 29. The problem of finding jobs for war workers and returning service men after the war will be discussed.

George F. Endicott, railway equipment designer and engineering consultant, has become associated with the Chicago office of Erwin, Wasey & Co., advertising agency, as technical adviser.

STRIKERS PENALIZED; EMPLOYER LACKED PAY HIKE AUTHORITY

Washington, D. C., April 16 (AP).—The national labor relations board ruled today that employes who strike to induce their employer to grant wage increases lacking federal approval lose their right to reinstatement.

The board majority—Gerard D. Reilly and John M. Houston—held that in such a situation the employes also forfeit all rights accruing to them under the national labor relations act.

The decision, to which Chairman Harry D. Millis dissented, involved nine employes of the American News company, Paterson, N. J., whom the board said struck in June, 1943, after the company declined to grant a wage increase which had not been approved by the war labor board.

After the strike, the board said, the company informed the workers they had been dismissed. The employes then abandoned the strike and asked to be put back to work on the old terms. The company did not answer to the request and the employes' unaffiliated union charged unfair labor practices.

Millis maintained that the workers' discharge was an unfair labor practice, but said he would deny them the normal back pay "because of the ill-advised nature of the strike."

Outline Steps to Stimulate New Housing

New York, April 16 (AP).—Drastic revisions in accepted concepts of home building will be necessary after the war if America is to keep pace with its estimated need of 1,300,000 dwellings in the $2,000 to $4,000 price range each year for the next decade.

The need, based on population and a survey of present housing facilities, can be met only thru reorganization of all phases of building, from land use thru financing and selling, according to a report published today by the Twentieth Century Fund.

Contribute to High Cost.

At the outbreak of war, housebuilding was hampered by its purely local character, its diversity of management, complicated forms of financing and marketing and restrictive agreements, all of which contributed to high costs, the report said.

Lowered cost of production is the focal point of the post-war program outlined by the report, which recommends encouragement of large scale production organizations, further use of factory-made parts, more highly industrialized techniques, and more direct and economical distribution.

Rezoning Recommended.

Rezoning of cities and extension of zoning beyond city limits was suggested as a means to reduce land costs and provide larger areas for residential use. The research organization also recommended revision of building codes to eliminate needless costs in materials and labor; possible revision of property tax laws, simplification of financing, and more efficient marketing procedures to keep pace with the development of large producing organizations, including facilities for handling "trade-ins."

The need for new, low cost rental properties was emphasized with the recommendation for the encouragement of larger scale owning and operating organizations.

BERGHOFF BREWING.

Please send me a review of the Berghoff Brewing corporation.—A. L.

Answer: The company was incorporated in 1933 as successor to a business established in 1887. The present management has been in office since 1934, and has built up a strong dealer organization as well as a strong financial position.

Sales reached a peak in 1943 above 6 million dollars. Net income was $385,520, equal to $1.29 a share, compared with $230,068, or 77 cents a share, for 1942. Per share earnings for other recent years were: 1941, $1.03; 1940, $1.07; 1939, $1.68; 1938, $1.24.

Sole capitalization is the $1 par value capital stock, of which 300,000 shares are outstanding. Except for 1935, dividends have been paid each year since 1933, and included $1 in 1943, 60 cents in 1942, and $1 a share in 1941, 1940, and 1939.

Current assets at the end of 1943 totaled $1,247,758, including $569,381 cash and $183,422 United States government securities, against $419,264 of current liabilities.

Great Lakes Ship Building Wins Praise

W. E. Spofford.

Shipbuilders on the Great Lakes have compiled an "Aladdin-like story," said W. E. Spofford, regional director of construction for the maritime commission, in a statement issued yesterday summarizing the area's production in the last two years.

Fourteen shipyards, including that of the Calumet Shipyard and Dry Dock company in Chicago, have built 117 ships of various types and 200 knocked-down barges, he said. The ships, nearly all of steel construction, include cargo vessels, tankers, Great Lakes ore carriers of 15,000 ton capacity, seagoing tugs, and "fighting frigates."

Started from Scratch.

Spofford commended builders in this area particularly for having started from bare ground, as some have.

Since the St. Lawrence river locks will not permit passage of ships more than 259 feet long, vessels of 600 feet were taken down the Illinois-Mississippi waterway to the Gulf of Mexico by attaching pontoons to float them in low water.

Some yards are working on a new program of cargo vessel construction. These ships are 338½ feet long and are the largest oceangoing vessels ever to be built on the Great Lakes.

Paid Over 150 Millions.

The 117 ships built have a combined tonnage of 501,345 deadweight tons, excluding tonnage of wooden barges. The maritime commission has paid shipbuilders in the area more than 150 million dollars since the start of the program in addition to millions going to 8,000 prime and subcontractors for engines, winches, radio equipment, and other items, Spofford said. Various commission shipyards have employed 22,587 men and women.

Other shipbuilding in the lakes region, not covered by the maritime commission, includes submarines, escort, patrol, and landing ships.

STATES DEMAND FEDERAL LAND SEIZURE CURBS

Boston, Mass., April 16 [Special]. —A resolution demanding enactment of legislation prohibiting the undertaking of any federal water resources project involving the taking of land without the consent of states involved was adopted at the final session of the eastern states conservation conference.

Attacking the "virtually unlimited power" of the federal government over natural resources, the conference also adopted resolutions providing for a review of past, present, and pending federal legislation by a standing committee of representatives from the 12 northeastern states sending delegates to the conference.

Price Fixing Charged in Waxed Paper Trade

Washington, D. C., April 16 (AP).—The federal trade commission issued a complaint today charging the American Waxed Paper association, Philadelphia, Pa., and 24 member manufacturers with "engaging in a combination and conspiracy to restrain trade and fix prices in the interstate sale and distribution of waxed paper and waxed paper products." The commission said the manufacturers had created a monopoly as a result of the practices.

Campbell Foundry 1943 Profit Rises to $972,626

Campbell, Wyant & Cannon Foundry company's net profit for 1943 was $972,626, equal to $2.80 a share, compared with $859,434, or $2.49 a share, in 1942, the company reported yesterday. Provision for federal income and excess profits taxes amounted to $6,876,600, against the 1942 figure of $7,480,000, including an allowance for renegotiation.

PRICES CALLED CRUCIAL FREE ECONOMY TEST

High Output Urged as Post-War Goal.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., April 16.—Unless consumers' goods can be produced and sold at prices that will permit the masses to have more than they have hitherto enjoyed, American free enterprise is going to face a crucial test after the war.

This conclusion was reached in a study on "price making in a democracy," made public today by the Brookings institution, a privately financed research organization. The study was made by Dr. Edwin G. Nourse, Brookings vice president.

Dr. Nourse declared that if corporation executives and union officials can't get together on a system that will permit the nation's productive capacity to maintain a peak output of consumer items at prices that will create markets, "a popular demand for extensive government economic controls is likely to arise."

Needed for Prosperity.

Until the business men and union leaders agree on such a system, he said America can have no permanent prosperity.

Dr. Nourse said maximum efficiency is attained only with capacity operation. Pricing for full operation, therefore, he said, must be an inseparable part of planning for full scale production.

He said this basic principle should not be overlooked in the early post-war period. With shortages of civilian goods, there will be a strong temptation to charge "what the traffic will bear," but such a policy would not promote enduring prosperity, he said. Sound policy calls for the establishment of prices at the lowest level of costs attained thru capacity operation.

Asks Labor Coöperation.

The study warned that even the most enlightened price policies of management cannot be successful if labor tries to improve the position of special groups of workers by decreasing rather than increasing the total industrial output.

If unions seek to raise money wages without regard to whether the higher pay is accompanied by enlarged output, the result will be simply price inflation rather than real gains, it said.

While a small group within the economy can profit by wage policies which enforce scarcity prices on others, the advancement of workers' interests generally as consumers can come only from expansion rather than restriction of production, according to Dr. Nourse.

"Labor as well as capital may price itself out of a market," he warned.

GILLETTE SUGGESTS ALCOHOL 'CROPS' TO OFFSET LACK OF OIL

Washington, D. C., April 16 (AP).—Sen. Gillette [D., Ia.], unworried by the specter of short petroleum supplies, suggested today that farm "crops" of motor fuel alcohol may be the solution. Even sawdust can be converted to motor fuel, he said.

"There is a wide range of opinion as to just how long our petroleum supplies will last," he remarked. "Whereas petroleum is irreplaceable, alcohol can be made from almost any vegetable product grown, each season."

Gillette is chairman of a senate agriculture subcommittee investigating new uses for farm and forest products to furnish an enlarged market for them and also to create new industries for post-war employment.

"We have been urging the building of plants to make ethyl alcohol from sulphite liquor waste of pulp paper mills," he said.

ESSENTIAL WORK
TRAINED AND UNTRAINED
Think of the men you serve while working on our war products. We prewarm aircraft engines and cabins with our Ground Heaters. Where would tanks, P. T. boats, the Douglas B-18, and Higgins boats be without our panels!
Think of the big job our lubrication and equipment does for planes, boats, and land vehicles! And then there is the dramatic story of our radar products, our range and direction finding equipment, and our communications equipment.
Working here at the bench on machines, in inspection, in the stock room, or office, you have a fine insurance policy and hospitalization plan. A convenient credit union, good wages and a 10% bonus on 2d and 3d shift.

ESSENTIAL WORK
TRAINED AND UNTRAINED

Think of the men you serve while working on our war products. We pre-warm aircraft engines and cabins with our ground heaters. Where would tanks, P. T. boats, the Douglas B-18, and Higgins boats be without our panels? Think of the big job our lubrication and equipment does for planes, boats, and land vehicles! And then there is the dramatic story of our radar products, our range and direction finding equipment, and our communications equipment. Working here at the bench on machines, in inspection, in the stock room or office, you have a fine insurance policy and hospitalization plan, a convenient credit union, good wages, and a 10% bonus on 2d and 3d shift.
